

Boultwood Speaks On Education

Miss M. E. A. Boultwood, senior woman lecturer in education at the University of Leeds, England, spoke in chapel yesterday on the topic "Comenius and the Moravian Tradition of Education."

In her speech, Miss Boultwood showed through the principles of Comenius, an early Moravian educator, the advancement of the Moravians in the field of education.

The early European Moravians believed that both boys and girls should be educated and that learning should be made enjoyable.

Miss Boultwood gave some of the lessons which can be derived from the thoughts of Comenius, such as the idea of being internationally-minded without being disloyal to our own country—in the light of the knowledge which God has given us to enjoy and share.

She also explained some of Comenius' ideas concerning education. These were: the use of universal books, the establishment of universal colleges, and the use of a universal language.

She concluded by saying that Comenius also realized that people must learn to get along together and must learn certain conventions in order to exist.

Miss Boultwood, who is on the campus as the Rondthaler Lecture ship speaker and in America on an A. A. U. W. study grant, was introduced by Dr. Ivy M. Hixon.

While on campus, Miss Boultwood has made talks to both faculty and students on topics mainly centered around the education of the Renaissance and the direction of modern education, as well as attending various social activities.

Trustees Hold Board Meeting

The Board of Trustees of Salem College and Academy held a luncheon meeting at 12:30 p.m. on Thursday in the club dining room.

The purpose of the meeting was reorganization of the Board following the election of new members after the recent meeting of the Moravian Synod.

Dr. R. Gordon Spaug is the chairman of the Board and Mr. William F. Shaffner, Jr. was re-elected secretary.

Rev. George Higgins was named clerk.

Fifteen new trustees were seated. Those new trustees elected by the Synod of the Moravian Church are: Rev. Vernon Daetwyler, Charles T. Vance, Jr., Robert E. Shore, C. L. Ray, Ralph Spaug, Graydon Pleasants, Alton E. Pfaff, Dr. Herbert Spaug and George G. Higgins.

The latter three are members of the Provincial Elder's Conference. Three are alumnae nominated by mail ballot of the Alumnae Association. They are Mrs. Charles P. Howard of Boston, Mass., former Secretary of the Republican National Committee and now deputy administrator of the Federal Defense Administration for a three year term; Mrs. Courtney Mauzey of Charlotte, president of the Alumnae Association for a two year term; and Miss Sarah Turlington of Washington, D. C., personnel office for the Atomic Energy Commission for a year term.

Three non-Moravian trustees elected by the board are: Mrs. John C. Whitaker, Mr. Ralph M. Stockton, both of Winston-Salem, and Marvin R. Robbins of Rocky Mount.

The meeting was completed by the selection of the executive finance and building and grounds committees.

Diane Knott, Carolyn Watlington, Ann Mixon, Jane Brown, (seated) Jean Currin and Louise Fike begin plans for dorm decorations.

The Christmas Spirit Comes To Salem With Dorm Judging, Coming Of Santa, Open House

By Laura Mitchell

The Christmas spirit is in the air and the Salemites are wasting no time in creating Christmas cheer throughout the dorms.

Each dorm is in the process of being decorated for the dorm decoration contest to be held next Monday night.

Everyone is in a dither over the best place for holly and where to put mistletoe.

Phrases like, "How can we get cheap Christmas tree balls?" and "Please, don't knock the mannequins over," echo through the halls.

Mixed Chorus To Sing Sunday

The Salem College Choral Ensemble, the Home Moravian Church Adult Choir and featured soloists will present their annual service of Christmas music at 8:00 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 13 in the Home Moravian Church.

Mr. Paul Peterson will be director of the combined choirs. Miss Rose Kapp will be organist.

The following program will be presented:

- Prelude
- Hymn—O Come All Ye Faithful
- Come Holy Spirit Bach
- As It Fell Upon A Night Davis
- Balulalow (Ceremony of Carols) Britten
- Choral Ensemble
- Jesu Bambino Pietro Yon
- Charles Medlin, cellist
- He Shall Feed His Flock (Messiah) Handel
- Pat Mevane, mezzo-soprano

The I. R. S. is sponsoring the contest. Sally Hutson is the chairman of the project and Mary Anna Routh is co-chairman.

Jean Shope, I. R. S. president, suggests that the cost should be kept low on the decorations, since this will also be considered in the judging and that, in accordance with the Winston-Salem fire ordinance rules, no artificial snow, crepe paper, lighted Christmas trees or other inflammables may be used.

The dorms will be judged by Dr. Gregg Singer, Margaret Vardell, Dr. Dale H. Gramley, Mrs. Marion Lewis Avera and Ann Hughes.

Prizes will be awarded on the basis of originality and creativeness.

At 8:00 p.m. Santa Claus will

Day Students Present Skit

Warren Spencer, Dean Clement Sandresky and Dr. Dale Gramley were contestants this week on "The Big Show Off" sponsored by B-Jax and The Hotgate, Palimonion John Company.

The program was presented at Salem College under the auspices of the Day Students' Association.

In addition to a trip to the North Pole to see Santa Claus for his favorite girl, Lucy, Mr. Spencer won a party dress and a play suit with a sand pail made by Rears and Soebuck. A fetching little pet and a doll for him and Lucy to play with were also gifts.

Mr. Sandresky won for one of his lady friends a trip to Chapel Hill where they will stay at the Hotel Shock overlooking Hogan's Lake. In addition to the trip Mr. Sandresky won Evening at Hillcrest Perfume and a skunk coat.

The honor contestant was Dr. Gramley who won for his favorite girl, Carolyn, a trip to the Amazon. There they will spend a week in the tallest tree house in the jungle and go water skiing on the Amazon River.

visit the campus and herald everyone to him by ringing the class bell. After everyone assembles in the court-yard between South and the Day Students' Center, Santa will announce the winning decorations and present the cash prizes. Immediately following this, the I. R. S. will give an informal open house in the Day Students' Center.

Senior Class To Serenade

The Senior Class will hold its annual Christmas caroling party on Wednesday night, December 16.

The seniors, carrying candles from Senior Vespers, will start out at 7:30 p.m. to serenade the entire campus area with Christmas carols.

Other places they plan to visit are the homes of Dr. Howard Rondthaler, Dr. Fred Leinbach, Dr. Samuel Pfohl, C. S. Starbuck, Bishop J. Kenneth Pfohl, Rev. Edwin A. Sawyer, Rev. R. Gordon Spaug, Mrs. Ruby J. Pfohl and Dr. Dale H. Gramley.

The class will also sing in front of the Corner Apartments, the Belo Home, Main Hall, the Academy, the infirmary and all campus dorms.

Covington Selected

Miss Evabelle Covington, head of the Department of Economics at Salem, was one of the six teachers of economics in North Carolina selected to attend the Central Banking Seminar.

This seminar is being held Dec. 9-12 at the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, Va. Miss Covington will be among 23 teachers of money and banking and related subjects attending the meeting.

The program, first ever held at the Richmond Reserve Bank, will give teachers a close-up, inside view of what the Federal Reserve Bank and the Federal Reserve System do and how and why they do it. Those attending the seminar will hear discussions of the theory and practice of monetary policy from several of the top men in the field.

Seniors Plan Candlelight Vespers

The traditional Senior Christmas Vespers will be held at 7:00 p.m. this Sunday in Memorial Hall.

This program resembles the Moravian Christmas Eve Candle Service. This custom is derived from the early church's Feast of Lights. The candles are dressed in red paper frills. Mrs. Dale H. Gramley and the faculty wives dressed the candles.

It is believed that Christmas Vespers at Salem originated in the days when students were unable to go home for the holidays.

This year invitations have been extended to the trustees, the seniors' parents, the academy students and faculty and the college students and faculty who will share in the Moravian Christmas spirit before leaving for home.

The Rev. Thomas C. Bryan, pastor of the Lee Memorial Presbyterian Church, will give the Christmas meditation. The invocation and scripture will be given by the Rev. Edwin Sawyer, chaplain of the college and professor of religion.

Lu Long Ogburn, president of the Senior Class, will lead the procession of seniors and their sophomore pages into the auditorium. The seniors will be seated on the stage. The congregation will join in singing the processional and in singing carols during the service. The seniors will sing "Silent Night" as the senior carol.

Seniors in caps and gowns and their pages dressed in white, will distribute the candles to every member of the congregation while Margaret Vardell plays an organ interlude.

Junior marshals in white evening dresses and regalia will assist.

After the candles have been distributed, "Morning Star" a traditional Moravian Christmas hymn, will be sung antiphonally by the seniors and their pages.

Banquet Plans Are Completed

Plans for the Christmas Banquet, which is being held at 6:00 p.m., Tuesday, Dec. 15 in Corrin Refectory, have been completed. This announcement was made by Pat Marsh, junior class president.

Approximately 500 guests have been invited to this formal dinner which is given annually by the juniors in honor of the seniors. The guests will include students, faculty and families, and chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Dr. Howard Rondthaler will offer the invocation. Pat Marsh will greet the guests and Lu Long Ogburn, senior class president, will give the response.

Dr. Gramley will speak after dinner, and Margaret Vardell and Ann Myers will offer special music.

Santa Claus with his bag full of gifts for the faculty children is expected to arrive about 8:00 p.m. The banquet will conclude with a program of Christmas carols sung by the dining hall staff.

Committee chairmen for the banquet are: Jane Little, chief marshal; Bobbi Kuss, programs; Carolyn Kneeburg, invitations; Sue Jones, seating arrangements; Sara Outland, gifts; Betsy Liles, Sally Reiland and Mary Anne Raines, poetry; and Nancy Florence, music.
