"Please Don't Fence Us In"

By Kay Cunningham

The question of the week has been "What Do You Think of the New Construction on Salem Square?" For three days people ran away when I appeared. For three days I circled the dining hall and asked many girls this question. A poll is no easy task and getting people to tell me how they feel about the square was a time-consuming job. But here are some of the replies:

Ann Miles: It reminds me of greener pastures. (We wonder where.)

Pat Green: Ah, tradition; I love it, but do wish we could sit on the fence.

Ann Campbell: At least we can now date everything B. F. or A. F.—before fence and after fence.

Rachel Ray: I just love the walks—so-o-o romantic, but I do wish there weren't so many lights out there.

Mary Ann Raines: I like it all right, but I do wish they had left the cement; it was the only place I could walk.

Mary H. Fike: I can't wait till they finish the fire house so I can chase fires in an 18th century fire wagon.

Ella Ann Lee: All they need to do is take down the big trees, plant little trees and it will look like the 1700's.

Ann Mixon: I can't wait till the rain starts and swish—swish go those bricks.

Betty Baird: I hear they are going to put cows in there and let the Home Ec. girls milk them.
