

Newman To Be Guest Pianist November 10

Dr. William S. Newman, associate professor of music and chairman of instruction in piano at the University of North Carolina, will present a piano recital at 8:30 p.m., Wednesday, November 10, in Memorial Hall.

In addition to his positions at UNC, Dr. Newman is chairman of the Senior Piano Committee of Music Teachers National Association. He is also a member of the Executive Board of American Musicological Society.

Native to Cleveland, Ohio, Dr. Newman received most of his formal education there and his BS in Music Education, MA in Music History, and Ph D in musicology at Western Reserve University. He received private training in theory and composition, music education, piano, and musicology.

Among other awards he won scholarships in music from the Cleveland Board of Education and the Concord School of Music and fellowships from Western Reserve University. At UNC in 1947, he received a Carnegie Research Grant to implement his "History of the Sonata Idea."

Dr. Newman has presented concerts and lecture-recitals in museums, art galleries, universities, and other educational institutions. In various cities he has given first performances of sonatas by Rust, d'Indy, Sessions, Bloch, Hewitt, Wagner, and others.

Before assuming his position at UNC, Dr. Newman was employed as choral director and instructor of appreciation, orchestra, band, theory, and music history in various high schools, universities, and music schools. He was also a private teacher in piano and theory.

For two years Dr. Newman was with the Army Air Force Intelligence.

Dr. Newman is author of "Thirteen Keyboard Sonatas of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries", "The Pianist's Problems", and "Keyboard Sonatas by the Sons of Bach". He has in preparation "A History of the Sonata Idea" and "Toward An Understanding of Music". He has had published critical editions, reviews of books and music, and articles for numerous periodicals. He possesses one of the world's most comprehensive sonata libraries.

An extensive traveler, Dr. Newman has studied in twelve countries of Western Europe. He has a speaking knowledge of French and a reading knowledge of French, German, Italian, Dutch, Latin, Spanish, and Portuguese.

News Briefs

At a recent meeting of the Bulletin Board Committee, the group announced revisions in the make-up of the bulletin board and asked the cooperation of the students in making the announcement corner as attractive as possible.

Letters have been cut out dividing the board into two sections, one headed Meetings, the other headed Features. A box with cards, pencils, and thumb-tacks has been placed on the table beneath the board; under the table is a waste basket for disposal of out-of-date announcements.

The second meeting of the President's Forum was held Monday.

November 1, at 7:00 p.m. Jane Little, on-campus vice-president, presided as chairman. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Bobbi Kuss presented the report from the faculty-student committee concerning Christmas activities.

The forum decided that any group who wished to organize a new club on campus was to submit a copy of its constitution to the forum for consideration. The forum will then make recommendations concerning the proposed organization to the faculty board.

Here's The Score

By Sissie Allen and Jo Smitherman

This week: a summary of the hockey season, a preview of the volleyball season, and lots of athletic Salemites connected with each.

The sophomores retained the hockey title they won last year by beating the freshmen, 2-0. Ann Miles, center forward, scored both sophomore goals.

Carolyn Kneeburg, beaming over the successful season, announced the following selections to the varsity: Sissie Allen, Nellie Ann Barrow, Jean Currin, Barbie Huth, Carolyn Kneeburg, Mary Cook Kolmer, Ann Miles, Ann Mixon, Betty Morrison, Katherine Oglesby, and Betsy Smith. Honorable mention went to Louise Fike, Dottie Allen, Brenda Goerdel, Ann Crenshaw, and Linda Chappell.

These girls will be invited to attend a hockey playday on November 13 at Woman's College.

With the cold weather came volleyball practice. Katherine Oglesby, volleyball manager, has announced that the freshmen are leading in practice attendance. Here are the class managers who have the job of keeping class attendance up to par: senior, Jackie Nielson; junior, Jane Langston; sophomore, Ann Crenshaw; freshman, Mary Cook Kolmer.

Practice, as usual, is at 4:45 each afternoon Monday through Thursday in the gym. The tournament will be held between Thanksgiving and Christmas.
