

Do you feel sad, aching, tired, and blue?
I do hope, my dear, that it's not the flu.

In all probability, it's that old disease;
You're just rundown, and need to take your ease.

Greek Girl To Become Salemite

Miss Sonia Emm Mastrogambraki, an 18-year-old Greek girl, arrived on Salem campus Monday for conferences and planning of her curriculum.

Sonia auditioned for Mr. Sandresky on Monday afternoon. She sight-read Chopin waltzes and played from memory for the music school dean, who will be her piano instructor.

Arriving too late to gain credit for first semester courses, Sonia will audit until second semester History 7 (Classical Civilization), Latin 1, and English 10. Her major will be music.

Sonia was able to come to this country through the auspices of the government's student exchange program and because her uncle, M. G. Samaras of 120 North Cherry St., agreed to sponsor her here for four years.

Living with her uncle, Sonia will be concentrating on conversational English from now until second semester. Mr. Samaras has two boys, ages 7 and 9, with whom Sonia can put into practice the 4,000 English words she knew before she came to America.

The newcomer to Winston-Salem and to campus comes from a prominent Greek family. Her father holds a position on the Island of Crete, which would be comparable to that of the lieutenant governor of the State of North Carolina.

Sonia is the first member of his family Mr. Samaras has seen since he came to America 30 years ago. His two brothers, their wives and children, all lost their lives during the German invasion of Crete in World War II.

Sonia says she's a bit frightened by the immensity of America, but thinks it all is "wonderful." And, as soon as she licks the language problem, she believes she will like her new life.

Because of a slight illness, Sonia was not on campus after Monday of last week. She is expected to return for classes sometime next week.

News Briefs

Practice for "The Would-Be Gentleman" was resumed last week after its discontinuance during six-weeks' tests. The first run-through was held last night. The play is scheduled to be presented during the first week of December.

Katherine Oglesby, volleyball manager, urges all interested students to come to the gym for practice sessions on Mondays through Thursdays at 4:45 p.m. Three practices are necessary for a student to represent her class in the tournament. Five practices makes her eligible for points toward a letter or blazer.

Beverly Brown, a sophomore major from Florence, S. C., was elected president of the Lutheran Students Association at the group's meeting on Tuesday night.

The Lablings will meet at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 11, in the Science Building. Dr. Proctor of Graylyn will be the speaker.

Methodist Salemites attended a dinner on Tuesday night at Centenary Methodist Church.

Preliminary registration will be held from Nov. 29 to Dec. 3 according to Dr. Hixson. Each student is asked to meet with the head of the department in which she is majoring, and register for second semester courses.

Pictured planning the 'late' Salem-Davidson Day are Kay Williams, Anne Edwards, Mary Mac Rogers, and Mary Curtis.

Profs Speak On PhD Degrees

In chapel yesterday, a program was observed in commemoration of American Education Week. Dr. Hixson began the program by quoting statistics concerning American education.

Then she quoted President Eisenhower, who said in his American Education Week speech that "the strength or weakness of our educational system can strengthen or weaken America."

Mr. Warren Spencer, Mr. Samuel French, and Rev. Edwin Sawyer spoke on their work toward receiving doctorate degrees.

Mr. Spencer, associate professor of history, did most of his graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania. After the preliminaries, qualifying Mr. Spencer as a candidate for the degree, he began his dissertation on "the diplomatic history of the second empire of France during the nineteenth century."

Mr. French, head of the chemistry department, explained his research on anti-vitamins in preparation for his Ph D. Mr. French stated that a study of anti-vitamins may be the chemical answer to the cancer problem.

Rev. Sawyer, religion professor, did his graduate work at Columbia University where he spent fifteen months studying the philosophy and history of religion.

Freshmen Elect Six To Campus Groups

Six members of the Freshman class were recently elected representatives to campus organizations.

To serve on the IRS Council were chosen Barbara Pace, a French major from Wilmington, and Mary Jane Galloway of Rock Hill, S. C., a sociology-economics major.

The freshman representatives to the Student Council are Peggy Ingram, a home economics major from High Point, and Miriam Quarles of Raleigh, a Spanish major.

Elise Harris from Mount Airy and Nancy Criddlebaugh, High Point, were chosen to represent the class on the YWCA Council.

Reminder From Dean of Women

"Boarding" students are not permitted to have cars on campus, or within the metropolitan area of Winston-Salem until after the recess of their junior year. No other students may have a car at college. Cars belonging to other students may not be driven by those ineligible to have cars."

The above-written is taken directly from the Salem College Handbook, page 37, section 4. This is just a reminder to students. Do not arrive or bring to the campus your parents' car, even if they are staying in Winston-Salem. This provokes misinterpretation. All rules should be clear and fair to all students.

If an emergency arises and a student needs to have a car at school, she should see Mrs. Heibredner before bringing the car to campus.

Monday, November 15, will be the day to begin sign-outs for the Thanksgiving holiday. These sign-outs should be completed by noon, Thursday, Nov. 18. In signing out, each student must indicate her plans for the Thanksgiving holiday. Whether her plans be a trip home, a visit with friends, or residence on the campus, she must make sure the office knows. Any student going any place from college other than home should arrange for written permission to be on file in the Dean of Students' office before she signs out.

Sign-outs for the week-end preceding Thanksgiving will be approved only during the usual scheduled office hours: Thursday, 1:30-3:00 p.m. and Friday, 1:30-2:00 p.m.

Mrs. Heibredner has announced that sign-outs in the infirmary book will be discontinued. This practice is no longer necessary because the nurse gives a report to the office each morning.

The following suggestion has been made by the Dean of Students: If an emergency permission is needed and the student has failed to sign-out during office hours, she should find out from the student hostess on duty which staff member is in charge. From this person, her permission to sign-out late may be secured.

Informal Dance To Be Held

The Home Economics Club will sponsor Gingham Tavern, their fall informal dance, at 8:00 p.m., Saturday, November 20, in the Day Student Center.

The definite theme hasn't been announced by the decorating committee. This committee is headed by Kate Campbell and Louise Pharr. Members of the committee are Carolyn Spough, Ann Lang, Nancy Blum, Rose Tiller and Barbara Berry.

Music will be provided by a combo and there will be a variety of entertainment. Nellie Ann Barrow is chairman of the entertainment committee. Members are Temple Daniel, Joyce Taylor, and Jean Currin.

Betty Byrum, Jane Brown, Jane Shiftlet, and Ginger Dysard are in charge of the refreshments that will be sold throughout the dance. Admission will be $1.25 couple or $.75 stag.

Choral Group Plans Week Of Activities

The Choral Ensemble, under the direction of Paul Peterson, will give its first out of town concert in Elkin on Tuesday, Nov. 16. This program is sponsored by the Salem Alumnae group in Elkin, headed by Mrs. Richard Chatham. Dinner will be served, followed by the concert at 8:00 p.m.

The program consists of four groups of songs by the Ensemble; two sacred songs, a group of Brahms' Waltzes and a final popular group.

A musical interlude will intersperse these groups in which the soloists are Bonnie Jane Hall, pianist; Celia Smith, violinist; Lynne Hamrick, vocalist; and Ella Ann Lee, accompanist.

Diane Huntley and Nancy Proctor, will sing "Ma, He's Making Eyes At Me", after which Tony Gill will exhibit her baton twirling skill. The popular song group includes solos by Ernestine Kapp, Nancy Cameron, and Juanita Efirid.

The featured work of the evening will be "For Unto Us A Child Is Born", taken from a Christmas cantata by Bach. Barbara White, Denyse McLawhorn, and Peggy Daniels are the soloists for this selection.

Portions of this program will be presented again on Thursday, Nov. 18, at the Robert E. Lee Hotel for the Piedmont Industrial Convention. This is the second year the Ensemble has been invited to sing for this organization.

The Choral Ensemble tours to Raleigh on Friday, Nov. 19 to present a concert similar to the Elkin program. This will be held at the Student Union building of N. C. State College, as a part of the college's Arts Series.

The featured soloists for this concert will be: Ella Ann Lee, pianist; Suzanne Gordon, violinist; and Suzanne Delaney, harpist.

The "added attraction" for the program will be a T.V. Revue, consisting of singing and dancing numbers taken from the Junior Follies. Emily Baker is producing this part of the program. The special feature will include the captain of the State football team.

"The Choral Ensemble is honored to be a portion of the State College Art Series", said Mr. Peterson. "Such notables as the Don Cassock Singers are on their agenda for this season."
