

Here's The Score

By Sissie Allen and Jo Smitherman

This year's volleyball tournament has been perfect in all respects except one—attendance. The games have been close, for the most part—at least, until the last half.

In the opening game, the seniors beat the freshmen by a score of 45-30. In the second game the sophomores, trailing one point at half-time, made a spectacular comeback and beat the juniors, 44-30.

The sophomores continued to win on Wednesday when they beat the freshmen 44-30. Next Monday at 5:00 between the seniors and sophomores; the concluding game will take place on Tuesday afternoon between the defending champion juniors and the freshmen.

Let's pull up the attendance for these games. They decide which class will emerge champion.

The NCAFCW (North Carolina Athletic Federation of College Women) will meet at Meredith College on Saturday, Dec. 11. At least thirty schools will be represented. Jo Smitherman and Donald Caldwell, representing Salem, will lead a discussion on the strong and weak points of the various systems of awards.

The Salem delegation is not limited, by any means, to members of the A. A. Council. So any of you who would like to attend, please see Miss Collett. (We leave at 8:30 on Saturday morning and will be back in ample time to attend the Christmas Dance.)

Mr. Gardner Gidley, who spoke in chapel on last Tuesday, has offered special rates to groups of Salem students interested in horse-back riding anytime before the official riding season opens next spring. The A. A. is contemplating the sponsorship of such expeditions if a sufficient number of Salemites show interest in the project.

If you like to ride and would be interested in going to Tanglewood Park for a couple of hours of riding with a group, talk it up, get your friends interested, and tell some A. A. Council member about it.

The first issue of a State NCAFCW newsletter, entitled "Shirts 'n Shorts," has been prepared for distribution to all schools with women's athletic associations in the state. The A. A. here at Salem designated your columnists to edit this paper, for which Salem was elected at the conference last spring to prepare.

"Shirts 'n Shorts" contains news from eight schools, including Salem. They are: Meredith, Carolina, Woman's College, East Carolina, Wake Forest, and Western Carolina.

"The Place Where Salemites Meet"

What a Wonderful Nite

By Bobbi Kuss

'Tis three weeks before Christmas
And o'er all the campus
Many creatures are stirring
From seniors to freshmen.
The greens will be decked in the dorms with much care
And pre-Christmas spirit floats through the air.
IRS in a quandry—us all in trance,
We're busy with plans for a big Christmas dance.
And all of a sudden we've flown in a "tizzy"
To get you to come—we must have publicity!
Away to our rooms we flew like a flash
Got out paper and pencil—these lines to dash.
We want to suggest . . . throw 'way study gloom
And come to the dance in the dining ball room.
Where what to your wondering eyes shall appear
Decorations of stars—but no tiny reindeer!
'Tis scheduled dear gals the 11th December,
'Twill be an occasion you'll always remember.
"More rapid than eagles" the time will all pass
For from 9 'til midnight the dancing will last.
Now Emily and Bill and Bonnie and Hal
On Gertie and Guy and each Salem gal
From Clewell to Bitting—from Strong to South Hall
Now press your formal—make that phone call.
The bids will be sold at one dollar fifty.
And bring lots of stags—the whole fraternity

I'll speak no more words—now you know what we mean,
We'll give you a dance that is fit for a queen.
I'll spring from the stage—to you all give a whistle,
Do come to the dance—and float like a thistle!
Then we'll hear you exclaim when you leave at midnight,
"What a wonderful dance—what a wonderful nite . . ."
