

Oil Paintings Are Displayed In Music Hall

Towers, shadows, chalk buildings, archways are subjects of the eleven oil paintings now being exhibited in the Music Hall by a former Salem student, Nancy Whicker.

The pictures are of intimate Italian subjects and angles demonstrating line and intensity of color. They are emotional studies of landscapes of a definite moody quality.

Nancy was a music student at Salem in 1953-54. She then went to Grenoble, France, for six months to study music. From there she went to Naples and Rome, Italy, where she spent two years studying, painting, and traveling.

The paintings are for sale and anyone interested may inquire by calling PA 2-9660. The display will be open until March 29. The public is invited to attend.

Elections . . .

New Method

Inspired by the banquet speeches, the new method of voting was successfully used for the first time at lunch Wednesday. Ballots were issued as each student entered the dining room. After marking the candidates, the students placed the votes in the ballot boxes located in the vestibule of the refectory.

Any students not attending lunch were given an opportunity to vote from 12:00 to 1:00 and from 2:00 to 3:00. This method will replace the previous practice of voting in chapel.

Voting Schedule

Results of the election for Stee Gee vice-president and treasurer will be announced at dinner tonight. Monday at 1:30, the Salemite editor will be elected. Wednesday at lunch, votes will be cast for president of I. R. S. and Y. W. C. A. The Friday election will be for editor of Sights and Insights by the staff.

Beginning next Monday, the Public Relations office, headed by Mrs. Brantley will be open during the morning office hours of 9:00 until 1:00 p.m.

Plan To 'Hop'

The I. R. S. hopes to bring some relief from the pre-holiday pressure by providing Salemites with a Soc Hop Saturday night, March 23, from 9 to 12:00 in the gym. The I. R. S. promises the dance to be one of the best ever given at Salem.

Music will be provided by "The Southerners" of Wake Forest College and refreshments will be served. The Soc Hop will be strictly informal—skirts, sweaters and no shoes constituting the appropriate attire.

If you haven't made plans to come to the Soc Hop, you'd better get busy and give that special guy a chance to show off the argyles you knitted for him.

Spring Dance Set April 6

Jerome Moore, chairman of the Spring Gingham Tavern for the Home Economics Club, announced today that the Gingham Tavern dance will be held April 6 in the day student center.

Due to conflicting events in the fall, the dance was not held. Therefore, the Home Ec Club plans to go "all out" for the spring dance, an informal one with a local band furnishing the music.

Tickets will go on sale sometime around the first of April. Salem students are urged to start making plans and getting dates to attend this traditional Gingham Tavern dance.

Stee Gee Should Send Representative

Al Lowenstein, field secretary for the Collegiate Council for the United Nations, spoke to the Student Council Tuesday afternoon on the importance of active student participation in world affairs.

Mr. Lowenstein, past national president of the National Student Association, and recommended for his present position by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dr. Frank Graham, stressed the importance of Southern schools establishing good race relations. He stated that with "three-fourths of the world Negro, it is difficult to win foreign student groups to our cause when we show undemocratic attitudes."

Questions were directed toward Mr. Lowenstein about how Salem students could become more informed about and interested in foreign affairs. He suggested that a representative should be sent to either the N. S. A. Congress in Ann Arbor, Michigan in August or to a student U. N. Assembly to be held in New York June 16-22.

"This, he said, will provide a definite link for Salem with an international student movement."

It was suggested, furthermore, that some of the chapel hours should be devoted to speakers who discuss the world situation directly from a student viewpoint. He added that such speakers could be scheduled through the N. S. A.

The third step suggested would be enlargement of the foreign student program to include elected student representatives from the various countries. He felt that this direct representation would be more beneficial than "the son of a wealthy oil man who is no more a representative of Saudi Arabia than Karl Marx is of Germany."

May Terry questioned Mr. Lowenstein about what a small campus could do for the Hungarian relief program when unable to provide scholarships for Hungarian students. Mr. Lowenstein suggested that a donation could be made directly to the Hungarian universities now located in Austria.

Also stressed was the need for volunteer workers in arranging facilities in Hungarian student placement.

Material for students interested in the U. N. has been made available through N. S. A. co-ordinator, Audrey Kennedy. She also has information for anyone interested in attending the mock U. N. Assembly in New York in June.
