

Sandresky Plays Chopin And Mozart On Monday

On Monday, November 11, at 8:30 p.m. in Memorial Hall, Clemens Sandresky will present the second of the music faculty concert series.

Mr. Sandresky, who is Dean of the Music School, received his B.A. from Dartmouth College and his M.A. from Harvard University. He did professional study at Longy School of Music, Juilliard School of Music and at Columbia University. Mr. Sandresky also studied privately with Oswald Jonas and Lily Dumont. His concert work includes several appearances as guest artist with the Winston-Salem Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Sandresky

On the 11th, Mr. Sandresky will open the first half of his program with Mozart's Phantasie in D. This will be followed up with the Sonata in A, Op. 101 by Beethoven. This Sonata is one of the first of a series of great works by Beethoven in the last years of his life.

Mrs. Whalen Is Here As New Teacher

A new staff member has been added in the Science Department since the beginning of the semester. Mrs. J. J. Whalen, the new instructor, is a native of St. Petersburg, Florida. She attended St. Petersburg Junior College and received her B. S. from Duke University. After graduation Mrs. Whalen worked in the library at Duke for three years and then began working on her Masters in physics.

After receiving her Masters Degree from Duke, Mrs. Whalen went to Stanford, Connecticut, where she worked in the research laboratory at the American Cyanamid Company. It was there that she met her husband, and a few years later they moved to Winston-Salem where Mr. Whalen took a job with the Reynolds Tobacco Company.

Mrs. Whalen has three girls. Since they are all in school this year, she was able to work part time in the science department.

She is in charge of a nurses' lab on Tuesday and Thursday morning, and has the general chemistry lab on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Whalen is very happy to be teaching because she "loves campus life and it is much less competitive than the business world."

During the second half of the concert, Mr. Sandresky will play:
Nocturn in C minor, Op. 48 No. 1 Chopin
Waltz brillante in F major, Op. 34 No. 3 Chopin
Berceuse, Op. 57 Chopin
Variations and Fugue on a theme by Handel Brahms

Senior Class Plants Tree On Tuesday

The Senior Class will have its annual Tree Planting ceremony November 12 at 1:45. This program will be presented during the usual Chapel Program. All classes will report to the Chapel, and following the meditation, everyone will file out of the auditorium: Seniors first, Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen.

Nancy Criddlebaugh, Senior Class president, announced the Seniors have voted to plant a flowering crab apple tree in front of the Babcock Dormitory. Nancy will present this tree to the school, and Dr. Gramley will make the speech of acceptance. Each senior will follow the "good luck" tradition of throwing a penny into the hole in which the tree is placed. Following this, the Senior Class officers will each turn a spade of dirt into the hole.

The Senior Class will then move to the new addition of Main Hall where they will plant a sprig of ivy.

Oettinger To Head A New Freshmen "Y"

Mary Oettinger of Kinston is the president of the group. The other officers include: Leafy Pollock, vice-president; and Laura Coleman, secretary-treasurer. The adviser for the Senior "Y" is Suzie Cabaniss, and the adult adviser is Dr. Inzer Byers.

Eight others were elected as members of the working council, Barbara Edwards, Sally Wood, Cathy Gilchrist, Patty Lynn, Ann Snyder, Marji Jammer, Felicity Craig, and Nancy Cassidy.

The new cabinet has already outlined tentative projects. They are planning a Salem-Davidson Day on November 16. This was a mutual request of Salemites and Davidsons after the successful Salem-Davidson Day held at Davidson in October. This time the boys will be guests of the Salem "Y".

A delegation will also go to the home for elderly ladies every Sunday afternoon where they will entertain them with songs, and will visit informally.

A new idea that the Cabinet will develop is having devotionals one night a week on each floor of Clewell and Babcock.

Of course their work will include the annual Christmas party at the Industrial Home.

As a final project, the will make a special effort to see that the thought for the week that is posted on the bulletin board outside the Day Student Center will be changed each Monday.

Dean's Announcement Names Four Juniors, Two Seniors, New Members of Scorpion Order

Margaret MacQueen

Ellie Mitchell

Lynne Hamrick

Marcille Van Liere

Frankie Cunningham

Martha Duval

The Order of the Scorpion has inducted six new members. Elections take place in the fall and spring of each year, with a total not exceeding fourteen members. The purpose of the organization is to render unrecognized service to Salem in many ways — large and small. New members were chosen with their service to and love of Salem in view. Four Juniors and two Seniors were elected.

Lynne Hamrick is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Hamrick of Winston-Salem. Lynne is a voice major and has been active in the Choral Ensemble, of which she is assistant director this year. Last year she was vice-president of the Junior class, a marshal, and treasurer of the Day Student Organization. This past summer Lynne was recipient of the Oslo scholarship.

Ellie Mitchell, also a Senior, is from Oxford, N. C. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. Z. Mitchell. Ellie, a mathematics major, transferred from Greensboro College. A representative from the Junior class to the Student Council, she is this year president of the F. T. A. and business manager of the Salemite.

Frankie Cunningham is a Junior music major from Winston-Salem. She has been secretary of the Choral Ensemble and vice-president of the Sophomore class. This year Frankie is a marshal and is a member of the Lecture Series Committee.

Another Junior, Martha Duval, is from Cheraw, South Carolina. She is a Sociology-Economics major. Martha has been busy with May Day, Pierrettes, Lecture Committee, the Salemite, and I. R. S. Secretary of her Freshman class, and President of the Sophomore class, Martha now serves as Secretary of the Student Body.

Margaret MacQueen is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. M. C. MacQueen of Clinton, N. C. She is a language major who finds time for almost every activity on campus. Last year she was Secretary of the Sophomore class and Feature Girl in the Sights and Insights. This year she is busy on the IRS council, acts as treasurer of the A. A., and is President of the Junior class.

Marcille Van Liere, a Home Economics major from High Point, N. C., is the last of the new members. Last year House President of Lehman, Marcille is now Junior representative to Stee Gee and Assistant editor of the Sights and Insights. An outstanding actress, she also has worked diligently on the technical staffs of the Pierettes.

Dr. Ivy M. Hixson, Academic Dean, announced the new members in Chapel on Tuesday. Dr. Hixson is the faculty adviser for the Order of the Scorpion.

Only members of the Junior and Senior classes are eligible for membership. Membership is not honorary but is based on service rendered to the school and the prospect for willing service in the future.

Other members are Shirley Redlack, Martha Jarvis, Mary Curtis Wrike, Judy Golden, and Nollner Morrisett.
