

Hysteria . . .

the U. S. But this is all right. The planets will wait and we'll all be placing billboards on the moon in due time.

The best course of action the U. S. could take would be to continue work on our missile program, but at the same time, to put increased stress on the non-scientific areas, the humanities. These latter areas contain our real strength against Russia, for Russia in her unbalanced power has no defense against their appeal to a people whose interests are stifled by the urge for scientific progress. Russia cannot meet this challenge — but she can certainly meet and return our bombs.

House Board Has Judicial Authority

At a meeting of all House Presidents on last Wednesday night Martha Duvall was elected Chairman of the newly formed House Presidents Board. The general purpose as well as the area of jurisdiction to be designated to the board were established.

For several years, the weekly meetings of Student Council have been concerned mainly with matters of minor violations, leaving a rather small amount of time in which to consider campus wide problems or areas in which general improvement may be made. The responsibility of deciding penalties to be given for all violations listed on the automatic list as well as overuse of evening engagements, and overnights has been shifted to the House Presidents Board. The group will also consider other cases of more serious nature. The President of Student Council and Chairman of the Board will meet each Monday to determine which cases will be considered by the House Presidents Board and which ones by Student Council. Any decision rendered by the former can be appealed to Student Council for further consideration by a student having legitimate reasons.

Although only in its beginning stages, the House Presidents Board can grow into a responsible and important part of Student Government. It can serve as a coordinating body of all the dormitories and will give the House Presidents an opportunity to discuss various problems arising among girls within the dorms.

It is the hope of Student Council that the body will not concern itself only with punitive matters, but can initiate projects for improvement of dormitory living.

At present, the group is discussing the Christmas Fund, as well as dorm functions for the Christmas Dance weekend.

News Briefs . . .

The Moravian Candle Tea will be open to the public this year for three successive days: Thursday, December 5, through Saturday, December 7, from 2:00 until 9:00. The tea will feature the making of candles and a Putz, nativity scene, surrounded by other Biblical Christmas scenes.

The tea will be held in Brothers' House across the square. The admission for students is 25c, and 50c for adults.

A member of the Lost and Found will be at each door of Memorial Hall five minutes before each chapel program to collect articles found. They will also have a list of found articles.

Each Wednesday, from 1:15-1:45, the Lost and Found will be open in the Student Center.

A list of found articles will also be posted on the bulletin board in the Student Center.
