

Salemites Elect Last Major 1960-61 Officers

Salem concluded her daily elections of officers this week to lead our campus for 1960-61.

Barbara Edwards, a rising senior and the president of the junior class, was elected this week as head of IRS. She is an art major with an elementary education minor. Barbara has recently decided to go to graduate school at U. N. C. to get her masters in art history. Barbara has a full summer planned. She is going to Queens to summer school and then hopes to go to California for a vacation. In commenting on her new office, Barbara says, "Although I have never been on the IRS Council, I hope to quickly get in the swing of things by attending meetings. If possible, I would like to bring the student body closer to the standards of IRS with a more positive attitude than a negative one presented by the call-down system. This is not to say that call downs will be abolished, but I would like to create more interest in the importance of IRS."

Dean Major, a rising sophomore, was elected to be next year's NSA Co-ordinator. Dean is a French and math major and a dean's list student. After graduation she plans to go into some type of foreign service, probably with the church as a missionary, but perhaps with the United Nations. As for her summer plans, Dean has applied in National parks and resorts both out West and in New England. With regard to her new office, Dean says, "I feel that I have much to learn, for as yet I know very little about part of their college life. Therefore, I hope in some way I can stir up more interest in it."

The newly elected May Queen Chairman is Harriet Tomlinson, a rising senior. She is a music and voice major and upon graduating, she may go to New York for a year to get new experience in her field of music. She says that after that, who can tell what will happen! This summer Harriet plans to go to California to work, either singing or doing secretarial work. Harriet is very enthusiastic about her job and says "I have been thinking of ideas already, hoping that with an early start and the co-operation of everyone, next year's May Day will be most spectacular."

major and hopes to go to graduate school to get a Masters of Science in library science. This summer she plans either to work in a library office in Chattanooga or to go to summer school. Katie says that "on learning that I had been elected president of WRA, I was filled with mixed emotions—those of excitement and those of realizing what a big responsibility has been placed in my hands. I accept the position gratefully, and will work to the best of my ability to make the WRA everything that it should be and everything that you want it to be."

Judges Select Creative Work For Rondthaler

The tenth competition for the Katharine B. Rondthaler Awards given by the Alumnae Association for creative work in writing, musical composition and in art—is open to all Salem students.

Entries in music and art must be received by Mr. Shewmake (art) and Dean Sandresky (music) by May 1. Entries in creative writing are asked for by April 12th, so that the judges' choice of winner may be included in the literary magazine, which will make its debut early in May. These entries should be filed with Miss Marsh in the Alumnae House.

Since 1951, the year the awards were first given, 19 students have received these Rondthaler Awards. Nine have been in creative writing, seven in art media, and three in music composition.

The awards were established by the Alumnae Association in honor of Mrs. Katharine B. Rondthaler, wife of Salem's former president, Bishop Howard E. Rondthaler.

Their purpose is to offer an incentive to all students in these areas of creative expression.

Abbie Suddath, a rising senior, has been elected as the new Sights and Insights editor for 1960-61 and she says that she plans to put out the best annual Salem's ever had! Abbie is an English and history major, and when she finishes school, she plans to go to New York just for experience. So far, she has made no plans for her summer vacation other than just vacationing.

The newly elected Junior Marshall and a two year member of Salem's May Court is Dot Grayson, a rising junior. Dot is an English major and hopes to get her secondary teachers certificate and to teach high school after she graduates. She has applied for summer jobs in resorts up North, but so far for after graduation are indefinite. This summer, Sally plans to work at Peterlain Conference Center in Romney, West Virginia. Sally says in connection with her newly elected office that "I think it is necessary for the new "Y" Cabinet to evaluate the projects that are traditionally sponsored by the "Y", and eliminate or enrich some of them so that they will meet the needs of the student body more adequately. I want the YWCA to plan projects which interest the student body and which provide opportunities for much more participation by the students."

Vicki Sims, rising senior and religion major from Selma, Ala., is Pierrette Players president-elect. Vicki has worked with Pierrette Players' productions in the past and is now serving as co-director for the coming production of Christopher Fry's "The Firstborn."

hasn't made any definite plans. Dot says in relation to her new office that "I am grateful for this opportunity and am looking forward to my new job."

Katie Kochtietzky, the new head of WRA has many plans for next year's WRA. She wants WRA to become more active on our campus, creating enthusiasm. She feels that the present Sister Team competition may be a drawback, and she would like to have the present plan and maybe one of class and dorm competition explained to the student body. The student body can vote on the plan they prefer. She stressed that every girl is a member of WRA. Katie also hopes that plans can be made for a permanent diving board for the pool and for an organization made up of those who have been counselors and who are interested in this work. Katie is a history and literature of music

Wesley Foundation Offers Variety In New Programs

Are you sick, sick, sick of Sunday night suppers? Have you always wanted to hear Dr. Lewis' philosophy? Would you like to express and exchange your ideas in a non-conservative group? Or would you just like to get away for an hour or two? If so, then as Dr. Byers says, "Don't just sit there! Do something about it for a change!" We offer almost everything: music by stereo, comfortable couches, a delicious supper, Wake Forest boys, and a speaker who will make you sit up and think . . . Interested? Then come to Wesley Foundation every Sunday night. The transportation is free. We leave from Clewell at 6:00 p.m. If you need to study you'll be back by 8:30, if not you're welcome longer.

Raphael Puyana Plays Sonatas

Raphael Puyana will perform on the harpischord in the Chamber Music Series Concert Monday, March 28 at 8:30 p.m. For the concert which will be given in the Magnolia Room of Reynolda Hall at Wake Forest, Mr. Puyana will perform 16th, 17th, and 18th century works for the harpischord.

- The program includes:
- Canyon francese detta Petit jacquet Gabrieli
 - Partite Frescobaldi
 - Les Buffons John Bull
 - 3 Sonatas Domenico Scarlatti
 - Sonata Freixant
 - Sonata Mateo Albening

Music Students To Perform For Two Assemblies

Public school music majors will present their pupils in Assembly Monday, March 28. Joan Brooks will conduct her high school chorus and Gene Wagoner will bring an elementary band. Rosemary Laney will lead her fourth grade pupils in an "Orchestral Song in German."

The Music Club will present its second chapel program this year Wednesday, March 30. Selections for performance include the Little Trio, consisting of violinist June Beck, cellist Segrid Ostborg, and accompanist Harriet Herring playing a Handel sonata.

An interesting feature of the program will be the presentation of original compositions by Mrs. Sandresky's composition class.
