H. Cloyd Philpott Will Speak At Commencement, June 3

Faculty Advisory Board Approves Two Petitions

The Faculty Advisory Board, on the recommendation of the Legislative Board, has approved two petitions—one to grant incoming freshmen general permission (if parents permit) for all out-of-town trips and in-town overnights, except in those instances stated in the handbook, and the second abolishing day-time sign-outs.

The new general permission applies to freshmen entering Salem in the fall of 1961. Forms will be sent to parents before their daughters come. If signed, the students will not be required to have home permission for each overnight taken except as stated in the handbook. This includes out-of-town day trips if the student returns before 7:30 p.m.

The elimination of day-time sign-outs becomes effective today, May 5. Students will not be required to sign-out during the day unless they plan to return to Salem after 7:30 p.m. In this case, they sign-out as usual on the night sheet in their dorms. If for some unexpected reason a student does not return before 7:30 p.m., she must sign in on the night sheet so there will be a record of her evening engagements. Night sign-outs will continue as in the past.

Salem Presents Organ Major Irene McKain

Irene McKain, student of Margaret Sandresky, will give her graduating organ recital in Old Chapel at 8:30 p.m. on Friday, May 12. Her program will include "Chaconne" and "Elevation: Recit de Tierce en Taille" by Couperin, "Une Vierge Pucelle" by Le Begue, "Prelude and Fugue in A Minor" by Bach, "A Chorale Prelude: A Little Lamb Bears All Our Guilt" by Pepping, and "Variations On A Noel" by Dupre.

Irene, who is majoring in organ music, is from Whitmire, South Carolina. She attended Montreat College where she studied for two years under Clair Hardenstine. Entering Salem in 1959, she studied under John Mueller, who, as a Fulbright Scholar, is on a year's leave of absence.

After graduating in June, Irene plans to be married on June 18. She plans to use her music in some form of church-connected work. There will be a reception in the Day Students Center immediately following the recital.

Dr. Gramley stated that the approval of eliminating day-time sign-outs "... rests on the belief that students will protect their own interests by voluntarily signing out if they desire to be reached in case of emergency or in the case of unexpected visits by friends and parents." Optional sheets will be placed in each dorm for this purpose. It is the hope of the Legislative Board, the Faculty Advisory Board, and Dr. Gramley that students will leave word of their whereabouts so they may be reached in case of emergency.

Bates Speaks In Chapel On African Crisis

Dr. Margaret Bates, teacher at Goddard College, Plainfield, Vt., will be the last Rondthaler Lecturer for 1960-61. In assembly on May 9th, Dr. Bates will speak on "Exploding Nationalism in Africa". On May 8th, at 6:30 p.m., she will speak at the International Relations Club meeting which is open to all students.

Dr. Bates is a native of Rockford, Ill.; she graduated from Rockford College. She obtained her master's degree in political science at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy in Boston. She subsequently worked for the World Peace Foundation in Boston. The World Peace Foundation does editing and publishing work in the area of international relations. Dr. Bates was editor of International Organization, a magazine published by the World Peace Foundation.

Dr. Bates was given a summer internship grant at the United Nations in 1949, and there became interested in the problem of political development in Africa. In 1950-51 she received a Fulbright Scholarship to study at Bristol University in Bristol, England. The University has a strong interest in British colonial development and administration, and Dr. Bates became actively interested in British colonial administration in East Africa. She received a second Fulbright award to permit her to study for a year in British East Africa. She did research in Nairobi, Kenya, and also in Dar-Es Salaam, Tanganyika. She returned to England for further study with emphasis on British East Africa in the 20th century, first at Bristol University and then at Oxford University where she received her doctorate from Oxford University.

Dr. Bates returned to the United States to teach at Goddard College, where she has been for three years. In January of this year she received a grant which permitted her to spend three months in Tanganyika to complete research for a study of the governmental situation in that country, which is to become self-governing in December. The study is to be part of a book on African governments. Dr. Bates is currently completing a revision of her dissertation on East Africa which is to be published by the Oxford University Press.

H. Cloyd Philpott, Lieutenant-Governor of North Carolina, will speak at Salem Sunday, June 3, as commencement speaker. Mr. Philpott was a member of the North Carolina House of Representatives from 1953 until 1959 and a member of the North Carolina Advisory Committee on Education, better known as the "Pearsall Committee". In 1958 he was Chairman of the Commission of Reorganization of State Government and was Finance Director of the Democratic Party of North Carolina for that year's campaign. Last year he was elected to the office he now holds, Lieutenant-Governor of North Carolina.

Born in Bassett, Va., Mr. Philpott moved to Lexington, N. C., where he now lives, at the age of 12. He attended the Lexington city schools, Eastman Business College, and graduated from VMI in 1929. He and Mrs. Philpott have three children; Sally Philpott, a senior at Salem, is his niece.

A Baptist, Mr. Philpott has held many offices in his home church and in the Board of Trustees of the North Carolina Baptist Children's Homes. He is at present a member of the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College. He has been associated with the Rotary Club, the Lexington School Board, and the Lexington Utilities Commission, and he has served as Mayor of Lexington from 1945 to 1949.

Mr. Philpott is associated with the United Furniture Corporation, the Commercial Bank of Lexington, and the Mutual Savings and Loan Association. He is past President of the Southern Furniture Manufacturers' Association. Mr. Philpott has been voted such honorary titles as Lexington "Man of the Year" in 1955 and "Furniture Man of the Year", also in 1955.

Beck And Gay Give Recital

On Monday, May 8, at 7:30 p.m., Mattie Gay Lee and June Beck will give their sophomore recitals.

Mattie Gay, piano student of Clemens Sandresky, will play "Prelude and Fugue No. 5 in D Major", Bach; "Novellette, Op. 21, No. 7" and "Why and Whims" from "Fantasy Pieces, Op. 12", Schumann; and "Concerto in G Minor", Mendelssohn.

Mattie Gay is from Dillon, S. C. She is undecided about her plans for after graduation.

June Beck, violin student of Eugene M. Jacobowsky, will play "Concerto No. 5 in A Major", Mozart; "Allegro Aperto", "Adagio", and "Minuetto-Rondo" and "Sonata No. 2 in G Minor", Handel. Her accompanist is Mrs. Nell F. Glen.

June's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Beck of Winston-Salem. June plans graduate work in her major.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Day Students are sponsoring a Coke Party for incoming freshmen Day Students on May 8, 4-5 o'clock.

Cokes and potato chips and dip will be served, and advice and hints for college will be given by present freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors. The party will be very informal with the hope that the new students will feel free to ask questions about college.

The party has been planned by Kay Ezzell.

Speas And Farrow Give Organ Recitals May 15

On Monday, May 15, at 7:30 p.m. in Old Chapel, Frances Speas and Peggy Farrow will give their freshman and sophomore organ recitals.

Frances is a native of Winston-Salem. Before coming to Salem, she studied organ for three years under John Mueller. Besides playing the organ, Frances is a proficient flutist, having played with the Winston-Salem Symphony for three years. She has also studied piano for nine years.

For her recital, Frances will play Widor's "Sixth Symphony", and "Saint Anne Fugue" and two Chorale Preludes by Bach.

Peggy, who is from Wilmington, N. C., began studying organ at the age of twelve, after having taken piano for six years. While in high school, she studied under Charles Shatts and Fred S. Mauk. At Salem she has been the organ student of John Mueller and Calvin Hampton and the voice student of Mrs. Jacobowsky.

Peggy will play "Prelude, Fugue and Chaconne" by Buxtehude, "The Angels" from the "Nativity of Christ" by Messian, and "Trio Sonata V" by Bach.

Salem Names Three New Members To Scorpion

The Order of the Scorpion, an honorary organization whose aim is service to Salem students, received three new members this semester — Linda Leaird, Nancy Peter, and Trisha Weathers.

These rising seniors were chosen on the basis of their service to Salem, not particularly on the basis of scholarship or strong leadership records. The Scorpions fulfill the small, intangible needs of Salem. Membership is limited to fourteen juniors and seniors. Dr. Hixon, advisor of the Order, announced the new members in assembly on May 2.

Linda Leaird is president of Westminster Fellowship, class representative of the YWCA, and secretary of the YWCA. She is a first year member of Lay Scholars. Linda is also a member of the NSA Committee and is NSA secretary.

Nancy Peter, a member of the Honor Society, is the newly elected Chairman of the Judicial Board. She was treasurer of Student Government this semester.

Trisha Weathers is the YWCA President for next year. Trisha has been on the YWCA Council for three years, serving as treasurer her sophomore year. She is an active member of Dansalems, and is president of South Dorm.

Present members of the Order of the Scorpion are Nina Ann Stokes, Sallie Paxton, Churchill Jenkins, Lynn Ligon, Mary Lu Nuckols, Mary Oettinger, Jane Pendleton, Sally Wood, Janet Yarbrough, Abbie Suddath, and Suzanne Taylor.
