

QP'S WILL AFFECT CLASS CUTS, OFFICE HOLDING

By Patty Nash

The Committee on Academic Standards has announced several changes in the academic regulations. These changes will go into effect in the fall of 1963.

Three areas of academic life are affected by the new regulations. The summer school regulations will remain the same. There is no change in classification quality point requirements.

Beginning next September, all new transfer students must have a quality point ration of 2.0 on all work taken at Salem. Transfer students already at Salem are not affected.

The conditions of probation are now based on a semester only, as shown in the following table. The quality point ratio is determined for each semester independently. At the end of the first semester, if the quality point ratio is less than 1.2, the student is placed on academic probation second semester; end of second semester—1.6—probation third semester; end of third semester—1.7—probation fourth semester; end of fourth semester—1.8—probation fifth semester; end of fifth semester—1.9—probation sixth semester; end of sixth semester—2.0—probation seventh semester; end of seventh semester—2.0—probation eighth; end of eighth semester—2.0—probation ninth semester.

The student who is on academic probation must follow the class attendance regulations of the first semester freshman. In addition, she may not hold a major office while on probation. If a student is on academic probation for two consecutive semesters and fails to earn a quality point average high enough to remove her from probation by the end of the academic year in which the second probation occurs, she is automatically excluded unless special exception is made by the faculty. A student may apply for re-admission to Salem after one or more semesters of academic work at an accredited institution.

Exclusion, at present, depends upon a student's average during one academic year. It is now based on cumulative quality points and hours. Freshmen must pass, in the college year, at least 18 semester hours, with 1.2 quality point ratio. Sophomores and second-year college students must have credit for 42 semester hours at the end of the year with a quality point ratio of 1.5. Juniors and third year college students must have credit for 90 semester hours at the end of the year with a quality point ratio of 1.8. If these qualifications are not met, the student automatically excludes herself from college unless special exception is made by the faculty. A student may apply for re-admission to Salem after one or more semesters of academic work at an accredited institution.

Varied Activities Fill Salem Week

The Universal Day of Prayer for Students will be observed Sunday, February 17, by students throughout the world. Salem's service, which is being sponsored by the YWCA, will be held at 5 p.m. in Little Chapel with Miss Susan Lutz speaking. Miss Lutz is from the Ardmore Methodist Church.

IRS Sponsors Lingerie Show For Salemites

IRS is sponsoring a private lingerie showing from Thalhimer's at 6:30 p.m., February 26, in the Biting living room. The showing will feature modeling of pajamas, robes, and bridal lingerie as well as displays of travel lingerie and undergarments. Representatives from the lingerie department at Thalhimer's will be present to answer any questions about the merchandise.

Commentator for the showing is Marsha Ray. The models include Martha Tallman, Joan Thrower, Suzanne Harrell, Anne Dudley, Sally Day, and Zelle Holderness.

Civil Defense Stocks Fallout Shelters Here

As part of an international effort in civil defense, three fallout shelters on the Salem campus have been stocked with food and water supplies, sanitary and medical kits, and radiation detection instruments.

The food and water, which is sufficient to provide for 364 people for a period of two weeks, will not have to be replaced at intervals, for each package is sealed and is airtight. According to Jack White, assistant to Salem's president, the food is "biscuits." "I haven't opened a package," commented Mr. White, "but I shouldn't think the 'biscuits' would be like grandmothers' were." He added, "It may not be good eating, but it will be eating."

In addition to the present stock of the fallout shelters, college officials plan to utilize dining hall stock since it can be transferred from the refectory to the shelters in a matter of minutes if necessary.

Salem's Club dining room has been completely refurnished by money given to the college in the will of an alumna, Mrs. Sam W. Sparger, class of 1912. Household furnishings such as rugs, linens, furniture, silver, china and draperies have also been left to the college.

Salem has filed preliminary application with the State Department of Public Instruction for evaluation of teacher education programs. A steering committee has been appointed to begin a self-study of Salem's teacher education program and to prepare for a visiting committee which will arrive next fall. The committee includes: Dr. Gramley, Dean Hixson, Dr. Welch, Mr. Michie, Dr. Lewis, Mr. Booker, and Mr. Smith.

Sophomores who are interested in becoming student teachers should file their applications in the recorder's office by March 1.

Seniors Prepare For Nat. Exams

National Teacher Examinations will be given to the seniors who are working for a teacher's certificate on Saturday, February 16. During the morning hours, the common exams will be given. These include tests on professional information, English expression, social studies, literature, fine arts, science and math, and non-verbal reasoning. Optional exams will be given in the afternoon. The student chooses tests in her major field for this group. The National Teacher Examinations are given in February of each year by the Educational Testing Service and are required by the State of North Carolina.

Heideman Has Piano Recital

Mr. Hans Heideman, music professor at Salem, will present a piano recital in Memorial Hall Monday, February 17, at 8:30 p.m.

Included in the program will be the following selections: "Sonata Pathetique" by Beethoven; Schumann's "Fantasy;" "Reflects dans l'eau" and "Feux d'artifice" by Debussy; and "Waltz E Flat," "Nocturne F Sharpe," and "Scherzo B Flat Minor" by Chopin.

Salemites are requested to put their dates' names and fraternities on sign out cards. This is to facilitate locating girls in case of emergency.

Roberto Xavalier, a Brazilian newspaperman who writes for the Winston-Salem Journal-Sentinel, will speak during assembly Tuesday, February 19.

Board Announces New FITS Program For All

Salemites have been evaluating programs, traditions and rules on campus this year. One of the programs which has been undergoing such evaluation has been FITS. Legislative Board sponsored a poll in order to see just how Salem students felt about the present FITS program. Students indicated that there were diverse opinions on the value of the FITS program, in general, the value of beanies and nametags and, the length of the program. Consequently, there has been a revision of the FITS program.

Next year, new plans that have resulted from the evaluation will be initiated. FITS will last for

Y Sponsors Hanner Speech On Emptiness

Mrs. Richard Hanner, former member of the Salem College Religion Department, will speak on two successive nights, February 20 and 21, on the general theme "To Fill the Emptiness." The Y-sponsored programs will be held in the Day Student Center, and each discussion session will be an hour in length.

Mrs. Hanner, now Director of Christian Education at Centenary Methodist Church in Winston-Salem, received her AB degree from Northwestern University and her Masters degree in religious education from Union Theological Seminary in New York. She taught at Salem in 1961-1962.

King Arthur's Court Invades Parents' Day

The annual freshmen Parents' Day is scheduled for Saturday, February 23. Dr. Gramley has already sent out invitations to all parents of freshmen to attend the full day of activities.

An overall theme, in which Salem is represented as a utopian "Camelot," will be carried throughout the day's activities. The parents are invited to attend classes with their daughters on Saturday morning. Official registration is from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. From 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. there is a schedule of classes lasting approximately fifteen minutes each, during which time teachers will present to the parents a general outline of the courses. The parents will have a chance to talk with the faculty and student government officers at a tea in the Day Student Center from 3 to 3:45 p.m. From 3:45 until 5, the parents are invited to take guided tours of the Salem campus, to visit the freshman dorms, or perhaps to see Winston-Salem with their daughters. At 6 p.m. there will be a Freshman-Parent banquet in the refectory, and at 8 p.m. entertainment in the form of a musical based on the Camelot theme will be presented in Old Chapel.

The committee chairmen for Parents' Day are: Registration—Sylvia Wall and Dottie Girling; Schedules—Fontaine Norcum and Brenda Bethel; Parent-Faculty Tea—Jean King; Tours—Marcia Weersing and Ann King; Banquet—Scott McIver and Ann Cleino; Entertainment—Betsy Fowler, Gretchen Wampler, and Jan Dulin.

Grass Pleads For Life From Merciless Monsters

Editor's Note:

This farce points out the choice between green grass and mud puddles.

by Anne Romig and Frances Bailey

One Act Farce

Cast: First Blade of grass

Second Blade of grass

Glob of mud

First Blade: Look how big and strong I've grown.

Second Blade: Yeah, I'm even green again.

First Blade: Remember last month

when cousin Weed was killed by a weegie monster—must have had a size 11 with at least 189 pounds of pressure.

Second Blade: Just thinking about the monster gives me cold roots.

First Blade: I'm glad they haven't been around for awhile.

Second Blade: Yeah, so we can tickle the Glob of mud in peace.

First Blade: Poor Mr. Mud. As long as we're here he can't have his fun.

Glob of mud: Curses on these green blades of grass. Just wait 'til spring when the monsters come out to play.

CLOMP, CLOMP, CLOMP, CRUSH, SQUISH, SQUASH.

Second Blade: The monsters have returned!

First Blade: Oh, Woe, Woe is me.

Second Blade: UUUHH, I'm pulverized.

Glob of Mud: The monsters triumphant again! Now I'm free of those despicable green stalks.
