Eight Students, Faculty Perform With Symphony

Several Salem students and members of the faculty are participating in the Winston-Salem Symphony which will present a concert November 26, at 8:15 p.m., in Reynolds Auditorium.

Among the Salem students are Jo Dunbar, playing the violin; Anne Cleino, the cello; Frances Speas, the flute; and Beth Troy, the piano. The faculty who will participate are Eugene Jacobowsky and Mrs. Patricia Early who will play the violin; Mrs. Betty Crossley, the viola; and Charles Medlin, the cello.

The program will consist of the Overture to "The Corsair" (H. Berlioz), Quiet City (A. Copland), and Symphony Number 7 (Tchaikovsky). Also the premier of a composition by E. Hoffman entitled Prairie Boy will be included in the selections.

Salem To Host Veterans' Party After Holidays

Tuesday night, December 10, at 6:15 p.m., about 60 Salemites will leave for the Salisbury Veterans' Hospital, where they will present the veterans with the annual Christmas party sponsored by the "Y."

Marilyn Ward, chairman of the project, stated that the girls would be taken to Salisbury in cars driven by Winston-Salem Jaycees.

The party, which will last approximately one hour, will consist of informal socializing and games, for which prizes are being provided by the Red Cross. A Christmas tree will be decorated, and carols will be sung.

A skit, written by Mary Dameon, Jean King, and Ann Wilson, will be presented. Among those participating in the skit will be Judy Cubberly, Jo Dunbar, Janice Glenn, Gail Horton, and Lynne McClement.

After the skit, the girls will serve refreshments, also furnished by the Red Cross.

They plan to return to Salem by 9:30 p.m. Tuesday evening.

Home Ec Gives Tea December 7

Home economics majors and the Home Economics Club of Salem will present their annual Christmas tea Saturday, December 7, from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Strong Friendship Rooms.

In charge of refreshments are Dee Barbee, Sara Jolitz, Kathie Lassiter, and Sally Springer. Marty Paisley and Bunny Salsbury are responsible for the decorations.

Tran Trapnell and Jenny Fields, committee chairmen, discuss Senior Follies with chairman Frances Holton.

Senior Class To Present Follies; Comments On Salem's Catalogue

Members of the senior class will give Salem "The Inside Story on the Salem Catalogue," Thursday, December 5, at 8 p.m. in Old Chapel when they present the annual Senior Follies.

Dansalems Hold Chapel Program

Dansalems will present a Christmas program December 12 in assembly. Both religious and secular Christmas music will be interpreted through dance and presented by the entire dance group.

The program will open with the group's interpretation of the "Doxology," followed by "Angels We Have Heard on High," "Go Tell It On the Mountain," "Deck the Halls," "Silent Night," "What Child Is This?" and concluding with "Twas the Night Before Christmas." Kathy Okie and Donna Van Pelt will be soloists.

The program, in which all the seniors participate or help produce, is a musical revue and will include songs, dancing, and musical comedy. Jo Dunbar heads the typing committee; Liz Irwin, scenery; Jenny

Office Of Dean Gives Vacation Sign-Out Rules

The Office of the Dean of Students has announced that sign-outs for Thanksgiving vacation should be made Monday and Tuesday. Call downs will be given for failure to sign out after 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The College will reconvene at 8:30 a.m. December 2. The dormitories will open at noon December 1. Students should sign in immediately upon their return to the campus.

Tuesday night before the Thanksgiving holiday begins there will be no lights out, but quiet hours will be observed as usual.

Sunday night after Thanksgiving there will be no lights out, and quiet hour will begin at 10:30 p.m.

Sunday supper will be the first meal served in the refectory.

Faculty Adds New Members

Several members will be added to the list of active faculty second semester. They include Robert Pace, Dr. Barbara Hills, and Mrs. Lena Albright.

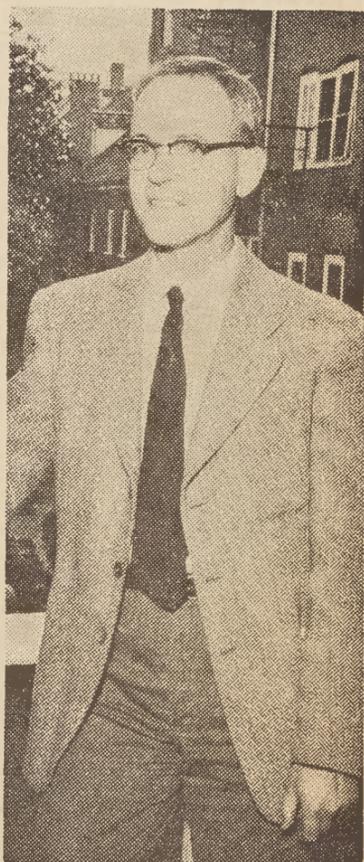

Mr. Pace, an anthropologist and sociologist who taught previously at Wake Forest College, will replace James Burgess, who will resume full time duties in probationary court.

Dr. Hills, a permanent faculty member who is not active every semester, will begin a course in child psychology second semester.

Mrs. Albright will instruct a ceramics course, Art 230, second semester. Marshall Booker, instructor in economics, will take on the added duty of instructing a geography class, Geography 200.

Fields, props; and Tran Trapnell, publicity. Frances Bailey, Mary Lawrence Pond, Anne Romig, and Irene Rose are production assistants. Frances Holton is the chairman.

Tickets to the Follies are 50 cents; proceeds will be used for the senior class gift to be presented to the college.

Humanities will meet Tuesday, December 10, at 6:30 p.m., in the Day Student Center. Edwin Shewmake, head of the art department, will present a program on "pops" art. Everyone is invited to attend.

NOTICE

Bids for the proposed Fine Arts Building were accepted yesterday by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees. A meeting of the full Board will be held next week to determine lowest bidders.

Davis Appears In Civic Music

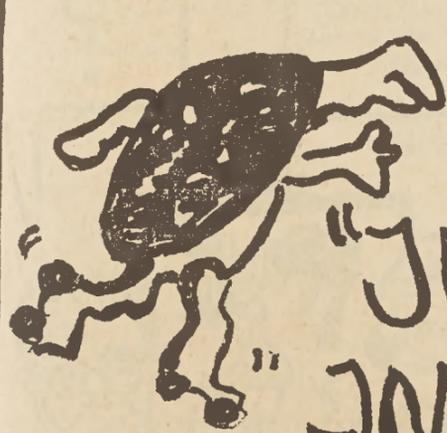

David Davis, violinist, will appear in a concert sponsored by the Winston-Salem Civic Music Association, Wednesday, December 4, in Reynolds Auditorium. Mr. Davis has recently appeared in the major capitals of Europe as symphony soloist and in recitals. The concert will be open to holders of season memberships to the Civic Music Association.

Moravians Serve Coffee Dec. 4-7

Newly-restored Brothers' House will again this year be the site of the annual Moravian Candle Tea. December 4-7, from 2 to 9 p.m., hostesses in Old Salem costumes will lead tours through Brothers' House, where candlemakers are making Moravian beeswax candles just as they made them two centuries ago.

In addition, two "Putz" scenes will be on exhibit. One is the enlarged Nativity scene; the other is a scale model of the Old Salem community based on early nineteenth century records.

Coffee and sugarcake will be served in the basement after the tours. Admission is fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for children.
