

The Salemite

Volume XLIV

Salem College, Winston-Salem, N. C., Friday, December 13, 1963

Number 10

IRS Sponsors Noel Dance

IRS is sponsoring a semi-formal Christmas dance tomorrow night from 9 to 12 in the Corrin Refectory. "An Old Fashioned Christmas" will be the theme of this event for which the Riviervas will play.

The various committees and Chairmen are: decorations, Charlotte Carter; refreshments, Anne Griffiths; publicity, Janice Glenn and Janice Day; chaperons, Pam Truette; and tickets, Mary Elizabeth Barker.

Tickets can be purchased from any member of IRS at $3.00 per couple.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Sign-outs for the Christmas vacation should be made Monday and Tuesday. The deadline is Tuesday at 4:30 p.m., after which call downs will be given. Anyone traveling anywhere but home directly from school must have permission from her parents.

College officially closes December 19, with the last class ending at 12:05 p.m. Students leaving before 12:05, but not taking any cuts in so doing, are to print NO CUTS on the top of the sign-out card. Also, students desiring lunch in Corrin Refectory are requested to print LUNCH on their sign-out card.

The dormitories will all remain open until 5:00 p.m. on December 19. Clewell will remain open until the last student has left the campus.

Dorms will open Thursday noon, January 2, and the first meal served will be Thursday dinner. Students desiring dinner that night are requested to write DINNER on the top of their sign-out card.

Old Salem Adds New Art Gallery

The Winston-Salem Gallery of Fine Arts is new to Old Salem. Located in the same building as the Old Salem Community Center it offers paintings, graphics, and sculpture of artists from a five-state region. The primary purpose of the Gallery is to get the recent works of these artists before the public, in other words, to sell them. The pieces on exhibit are selected twice a year by nationally recognized juries who are critics, artists themselves, or respected collectors.

The current show at the Gallery features a variety of woodcuts and oils.

The Gallery also holds monthly programs of entertainment or talks by guest speakers. The December program will be held Friday, December 13, at 8:30 p.m. Entitled "An Evening of Christmas and Folk Songs," Majory Randolph will entertain.

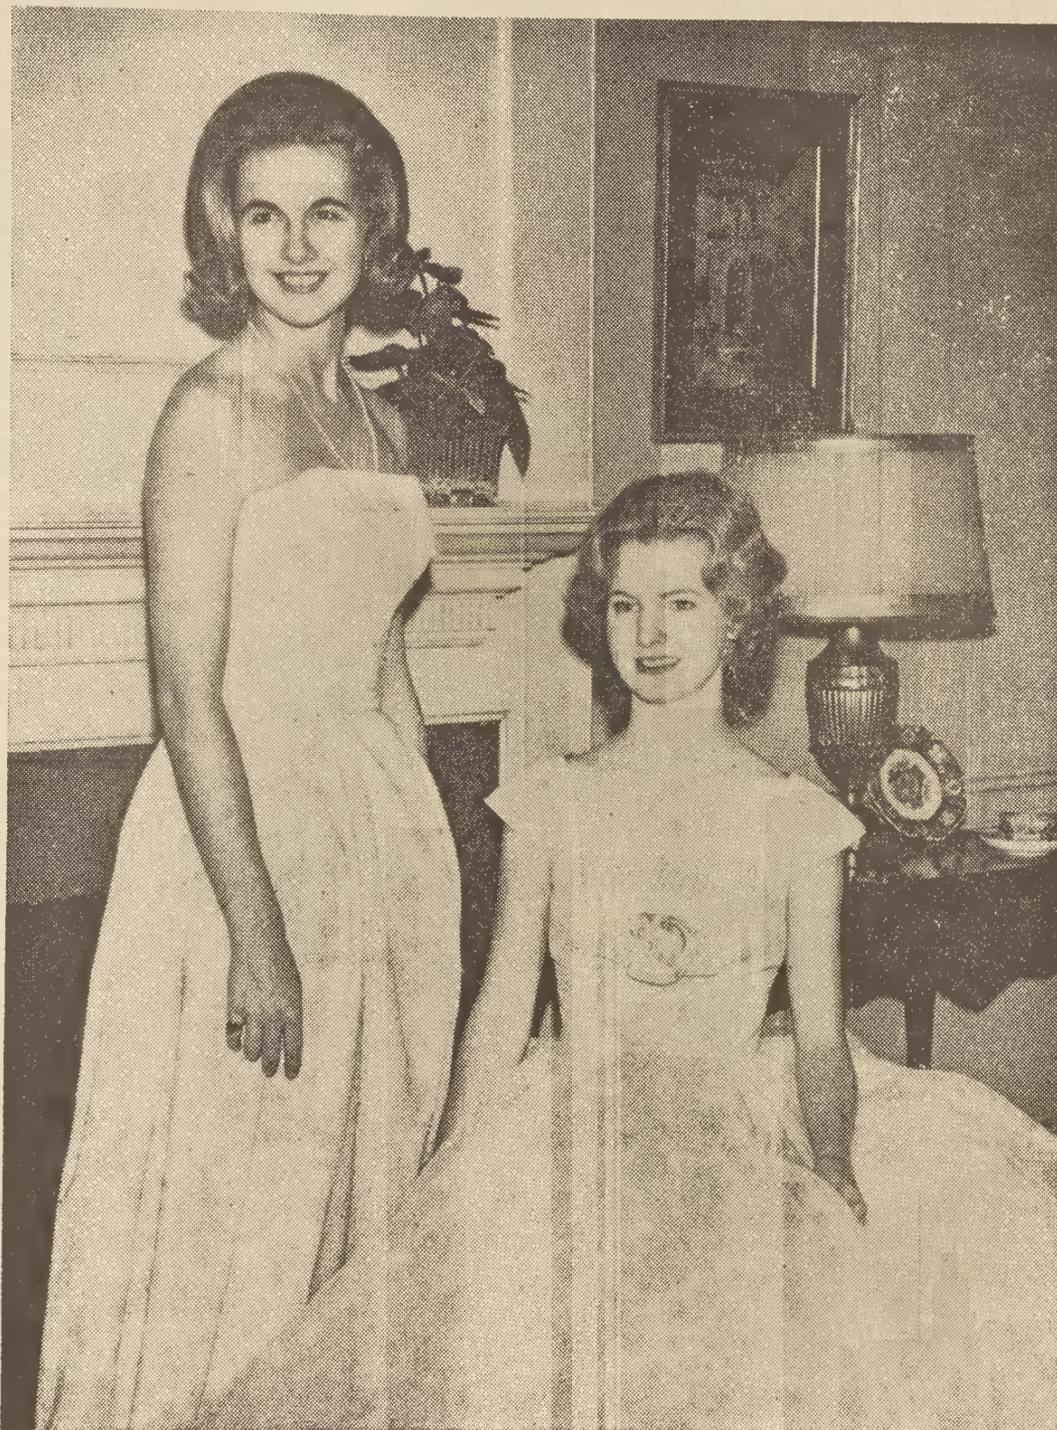

The Gallery wishes to invite Salem students to this program and other ones which will be held through the year. And as the hostess said, "come across the Square and just browse around."

Academy Glee Club Will Perform In Christmas Assembly Tuesday

The Glee Club of Salem Academy will present "Song of Christmas" by Roy Ringwald in assembly on Tuesday, December 17. The Rev. Mr. Hege will give the invocation and benediction. The three solo parts will be sung by Ann Johnston, Lila Jenkins, and Lucy Cooper. Sherri Gibson will accompany the chorus. The seventy-five member glee club is under the direction of Mrs. Jean Burroughs. A string, woodwind, and harpsichord group, directed by Mrs. Betty Crossley, will play a prelude and a postlude in addition to their part in the program. The audience will be asked to sing "O Come All Ye Faithful" and "Joy to the World" along with the Glee Club.

Salem elects two Anne's as its May Queen and Maid of Honor. Smiling are Anne Dudley and Anne Griffis.

Anne Dudley, Anne Griffis Reign As May Queen, Maid Of Honor

Anne Dudley was chosen May Queen for 1964 in assembly Tuesday. Anne Griffis was selected as her Maid of Honor.

Anne Dudley, an art major, is from Lookout Mountain, Tennessee. She plans a career in teaching after graduating in June. She has been on May Court twice before and serves this year as chairman of May Day. She is also a member of Legislative Board.

Among her favorite activities are outdoor sports, such as tennis, swimming, and sailing. She also likes to read.

Cooking is another hobby, but as for sewing, she "likes safety pins best of all." Connected with her major in art is her love for painting and drawing. According to Anne, though, her favorite sport is "going to Chapel Hill."

Anne Griffis, from Denton, has also been on the court for two years and is a member of IRS.

Anne and her fiance Francis Wilson plan a June wedding. Francis is studying to be a minister, and Anne, a sociology-economics major, is planning a career either in social work or in teaching. She expresses her love of music by playing the piano and by singing in her church choir in Denton.

Anne also likes to knit and cook, her specialty being pink mints that turn to sugar in the process of being cooked.

George W. Kone Receives Contract For Arts Center, Work Starts Immediately

The contract for Salem's Fine Arts Building has been awarded to George W. Kone, contractor, and it is expected that work will begin on the center this week-end. Total cost will be around $1,700,000 ($150,000 less than the original estimate), $1,650,000 of which has been collected in the 20th Decade Fund. Construction should be completed by the spring of 1965.

There will be 68,000 square feet in the building and the architectural style will be similar to the rest of the campus. Its purpose is to serve both the college and community in

Salemities Have Festive Banquet

Christmas is a time to get together with friends and family—particularly at meals with good food. These characteristics of Christmas will be provided at the Christmas Banquet Wednesday, December 18, at 6 p.m. in Corrin Refectory.

Because Christmas is a special time for giving, the sophomore class gives the banquet in honor of their big sisters, the seniors, and also in honor of the faculty and their children. All students, faculty, and administration have been invited and urged to attend; however, no one is to bring a guest and no reservations can be made after today.

Following the dinner a program will be presented by members of the sophomore class, and since Christmas includes Santa Claus, he will be one of the main features. Santa will deliver Christmas goodies to the faculty children who are under eight years of age.

Tish Johnston, president of Student Government, will present, in behalf of the entire student body and faculty, a sum of money contributed voluntarily, to Russell. He will accept it on behalf of all the staff of Salem College workers who render services throughout the year. The gifts will be provided according to length of employment at Salem.

The chairmen of the various committees are: Mary Dameron, program; Scott McIver, decorations; Elinor Trexler, ushers; Sylvia Wall, invitations; Brenda Bethel, senior gift; Peggy Kilgore, printed programs; Cecie Boren, food; Jean King, adviser; Ann Wilson, over all.

Seniors Present Annual Vespers

Sunday, December 15, at 7:30 p.m., the senior class will present Senior Vespers. The speaker will be Rev. Mr. Dick Amis; Nancy Hutchins will sing a solo. The senior class will sing "I Heard the Bell" while everyone will join in on such old favorites as "Joy to the World," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and "O Come All Ye Faithful."

The seniors will wear caps and gowns and enter carrying candles. They will be escorted by their pages chosen from the sophomore class. Jo Dunbar will lead the responsive singing between the seniors and their pages of "Morning Star."

After the service the seniors will go caroling in Old Salem and will go to Dr. Gramley's home for refreshments afterwards.

the fields of music, art, and drama, as well as to provide adequate room for an expanded lecture series.

There will be an auditorium seating 800, a parking lot for 240 cars, a theater-workshop (designed for "theatre-in-the-round" or conventional stage productions), a recital hall seating 200, a lecture-rehearsal hall, and a lobby designed for art exhibit space.

Plans for the center call for 28 practice rooms and 13 teaching studios to be located on the first floor. A Flentrop and a Holtkamp organ will be installed in separate practice rooms.