

The Salemite

Volume XLV

Salem College, Winston-Salem, N. C., Friday, April 10, 1964

Number 8

Salem Gives Symposium Schedule For Spring, 1964

THURSDAY, April 16:

- 2:00- 3:00 Dr. Robert M. Sitton, Department of Philosophy, University of North Carolina: Lecture on Communication and Aesthetics. Memorial Hall
- 3:00- 4:00 Reception and Art Exhibit. Day Student Center
- 4:00- 5:00 Discussion groups on Dr. Sitton's lecture.
- 7:00- 8:30 Ad Reinhardt, Lecture on Communication and Art. Memorial Hall
- 8:30- 9:00 Coffee Break Day Student Center
- 9:00-10:30 Hindemith Recital. Memorial Hall
Richard Bloesch
Mrs. Betty Crossley
Eugene Jacobowsky
Clemens Sandresky
Nancy Wurtele

FRIDAY, April 17:

- 9:00-10:30 Discussion groups on Art
- 10:30-11:00 Coffee Break Day Student Center
- 11:00-12:30 Iain Hamilton, Lecture on Communication and Music. Visiting Professor of Music, Duke. Memorial Hall
- 2:00- 3:30 Discussion groups on Music
- 3:30- 4:00 Coffee Break. Day Student Center
- 4:00- 5:30 Richard Gilman, Drama Critic, Commonweal Magazine. Lecture on Communication and Drama. Memorial Hall
- 7:00-10:30 Production of two one-act plays.
Edward Albee, The Zoo Story, Tower Players, High Point College
Eugene Ionesco, The Chairs, Pierrette Players Old Chapel
- 7:00- 8:30 Production for Discussion Groups 1-7.
- 8:30- 9:00 Coffee Break, Student Center
- 9:00-10:30 Production for Discussion Groups 8-15

SATURDAY, April 18:

- 9:00-10:30 Discussion groups on Drama
- 10:30-11:00 Coffee Break, Day Student Center
- 11:00-12:30 Panel Discussion, Moderator Dr. Mary Hill.
Ad Reinhardt, Iain Hamilton, and Richard Gilman as panelists. Memorial Hall

Rondthaler, Alumnae Award Presented In May Assembly

Entries in the annual competition for the Katherine B. Rondthaler Awards may be submitted by any Salem student in any class. Entries are not necessarily limited to students who are currently taking courses in Creative Writing, Art, or Music Composition. These are the three areas, however, for the competition.

Entries must be submitted by May first to Miss Marsh, Alumnae Secretary, in the Alumnae House.

The Katherine B. Rondthaler Awards of engraved silver trays will be presented to the winners at the Annual Awards Assembly in May for outstanding creative work in music, art, and writing. The prizes are given yearly by the Alumnae Association. Information regarding the forms in which the material should be submitted is posted in the departments of English, Art, and Music as outlined by Miss Byrd, Mr. Shewmake, and Dean Sandresky.

The Alumnae Association also sponsors annually other prizes, which are cash awards. These include the 20 President's Prizes of $50 each for scholastic achievement in 15 college departments; and the Mollie Cameron Tuttle Award in Home Economics. The faculty in the various departments are the judges.

The Alumnae Association provides $500 yearly for the Howard Rondthaler Lectureship. This year the money is used for the Symposium program.

Annually the Alumnae Association also sponsors other prizes, to assist from nine to twelve students with their college expenses.

Committee Makes Plans For 1965 Salem Handbook

Thursday, April 9, the new Handbook Committee met to take the primary steps in planning the 1964-65 handbook. The members of the committee are Tish Johnston, Wookie Workman, Margie Harris, Ellen Heflin, Robbin Causey, Susanne Boone, Wendy McGlenn, Jean King, Mary Dameron, Ann Wilson,

Salem's proposed new dormitory will be built on the present site of Pfohl House.

Trustees Authorize Dorm Plans; Construction Begins This Summer

The construction of a new dormitory, where Pfohl House presently is, will begin this summer. At the trustees meeting April 2, Dr. Dale H. Gramley was authorized to go ahead with the plan, hoping to award the contract in June.

The dorm, housing 99 students, should be ready for use in 1965. It will not be filled immediately with new students, however. South Hall will be closed for restoration and the girls who would live in South, or their equivalent, will live in the new dorm.

The dorm will be L-shape and will contain many convenient features. The basement will have two recreation rooms, five study rooms, a snack bar, and a storage room. Another attractive feature will be a sun deck.

With this addition, other changes must be made. At the completion of the Fine Arts Building, hopefully in time for the commencement of the Class of '65, Memorial Hall will be torn down, Old Chapel will be made into additional classrooms and faculty offices and Corrin Refectory will also have to be enlarged.

The restoration of South will result in the removal of the fourth floor which connects South with Main Hall and Sisters. This means the archway will be removed and there will be a vista down into back campus. South will be made fireproof as the other dorms are.

WRA Offers Varied Program

The Women's Recreation Association is an organization of which all Salem girls are automatically members. Its goal is to stimulate interest in all physical activities, dancing as well as sports, so that every girl can find some wholesome activity in which she feels that she can participate. This year the goal has not seemed quite so impossible, for participation has been greatly increased, especially in volleyball and basketball. Perhaps much of this progress can be attributed to the interest and participation of the president, Susan Purdie, and the excellent publicity, posters, and articles in The Salemite by Carolyn Crouch, the new president. Interest was also stirred up by individuals, Council members and non-Council members, so that team spirit increased tremendously.

This past year a committee within the council met and drew up a new up-to-date constitution. Besides new rules and regulations, the new constitution provides for better recognition of accomplishments in the form of team trophies, indi-

(Continued on page 4)

Girls Attend Spring Meeting On Home Ec

"Horizons in Home Economics" will be the theme for the spring workshop of the College Chapter Section of the North Carolina Home Economics Association to be held at Appalachian State Teachers College, April 10 and 11.

Students from all of the colleges in North Carolina offering a curriculum in home economics compose the college chapter section. The spring workshop is an annual meeting where students discuss problems concerning home economics and learn more about the aspects of home economics.

The Saturday luncheon speaker will be Miss Helen Canaday of the School of Home Economics at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. Her topic will be "New Horizons through Graduate Study."

Miss Mary Brown Allgood, professor and chairman of the ASTC department of home economics, said that the state officers of the college chapter section are Mary Jane Harrell, Salem College, chairman; Sammie Gat'n, UNCG, vice-chairman; Sara Robinson, UNCG, secretary; Nancy Brocker, UNCG, treasurer; Dorothy Lou Warren, UNCG, reporter; and Mrs. Fay Honeycutt, Salem College, adviser.

Salem's Athlete "Tardy" Loses

By Mary Dameron

"Tardy, the Traditional Tortoise," apparently lived up to his name, according to the results of the Turtle International. News from American University proclaiming the winners did not include Salem's entry. However, he was among such honorable losers as Oxford's "Gladstone" and American University's "She."

A turtle named "Tuffy" sponsored by Tufts University, trudged down a 35-foot ramp in the record time of 58.8 seconds to win the first annual Turtle International, held February 28. The charity sprint, boasting turtles from 51 colleges and universities across the land, was very successful, and a large sum will go to the Muscular Dystrophy Fund as the result of school contributions.

What happened to Tardy? Perhaps the glare of T. V. cameras, the flash of photographer's blubs, and the screaming cheerleaders were just more than he could take. At present, Tardy lives on a Washington farm — a relaxed, retired Salem athlete, reveling in the glory of his racing days.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Room drawing will be from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. and from 1:45 until 4:30 p.m. April 13, 14, and 15 in the Dean of Students' office. A full explanation of room drawing procedure has been given each student, and this should be read and understood.

Students are reminded that the receipt for registration fees must be presented before a student is allowed to draw. The official list of room assignments will be posted as soon as possible after drawing.

Center Locates At Reynolda

In an effort to show its new headquarters in Reynolda Village to the faculty and administration of the colleges in the Piedmont University Center of North Carolina, its directors and staff planned five Sunday afternoon open-house teas. Reynolda House, the former R. J. Reynolds estate, was purchased to serve as "Headquarters" and "Faculty House" to meet the ever-increasing needs of the Center's sixteen member institutions.

It is intended that Reynolda House should serve the faculties of these schools as a central meeting place for fellowship, interchange of ideas, round-table discussions, seminars, exhibitions, auditions, recitals, and for all such other events as will advance, expand, and enrich the offerings, the services, and the total program of each Center member institution.

The first open house was held March 15 for the presidents and deans of the member colleges. To the next four teas, faculty members were invited according to their departments.

Guides from Salem, Wake Forest, and Winston-Salem State assisted in showing the house and giving prepared tours. In addition, members of the music faculties of the colleges presented musical interludes. March 15, John Mueller, Salem's organ instructor, played.