

The Salemite

Volume XLV

Salem College, Winston-Salem, N. C., Friday, April 17, 1964

Number 9

Board Selects Student Teachers On Basis Of Academics, Activities

The committee for the selection of student teachers met recently to consider the forty-five new candidates.

This committee, consisting of Dr. Elizabeth Welch, James Bray, Mrs. Lucia Karnes, Mrs. Marilyn Stowers, Dean Amy Heidbreder, Dean Clemens Sandresky, and Dean Ivy Hixson, chose the girls on the basis of their academic record, extra-curricular activities, health, speech, and general abilities. They also considered the information provided early in March by these girls when they filled out a form giving their strongest qualifications and the type of teaching they prefer, as well as the information given by the two faculty members whom the girls thought were best qualified to recommend them.

Of the forty-five candidates, eight will be reconsidered when they bring their academic average up, and six were rejected for various reasons but may apply again next year.

At the first of next week each of these girls will receive a letter informing them of their standing. For those who were accepted, those wishing to enter secondary education will meet with James Bray at 1:30 on April 28, and those desiring an elementary certificate will meet with Mrs. Karnes and Mrs. Stowers on April 29 at 1:30. Later, these girls will have individual appointments with Dr. Welch.

ANNOUNCEMENT

President Dale H. Gramley will represent Salem at the inauguration of Perry Fridy Kendig as President of Roanoke College in Salem, Virginia, Saturday, April 25.

Rising Seniors Choose Ellen Heflin For President; Holderness, Kelley Represent Sophomore, Freshmen

The rising sophomore, junior, and senior classes have elected their officers for next year. The presidents are Dabney Kelley, sophomore class; Zelle Holderness, junior class; and Ellen Heflin, senior class.

Helping Dabney with the administration of the sophomore class will be Betsy Carr, vice-president; Marietta Hardison, secretary; and Susan Kelly, treasurer. Dabney is from Charlotte, North Carolina, where she attended Myers Park High School. She is planning to major in biology at Salem. Very active in sports, Dabney was captain of this year's hockey team, while she also participated in intramural volleyball and basketball. She is currently working on her role as Pierrot in "Aria da Capo," a play to be presented by the drama class in May. Dabney's hobbies include bridge and water skiing.

Zelle Holderness, president of the rising junior class, is from Tarboro. She is majoring in sociology and minoring in psychology. Last year Zelle was freshman class treasurer; this year she is president of second floor Clewell. Next year she will be a marshal. An ardent camera fan, Zelle is also interested in tennis and golf. The other junior class officers are Linda Tunstall, vice-president; Carol Gerard, secretary; and Cecie Boren, treasurer.

The president of the rising senior class, Ellen Heflin, is from Richmond, Virginia. She is majoring in history and minoring in elementary education. She plans to teach the fourth grade after she graduates. Ellen was treasurer of her freshman class, president of Clewell dormitory, and secretary of Judicial Board. Currently she is working as chairman of the Entertainment Committee for the symposium. Other senior class officers are Betty Gardner, vice-president; Anne Kendrick, secretary; and Kay Ascoug, treasurer.

Newly elected class presidents for 1964-65 are Ellen Heflin, senior class; Zelle Holderness, junior class; and Dabney Kelley, sophomore class.

ATTENTION

With election year in full swing, Salemites may be interested in forming Young Democrats and Young Republicans Clubs. Those interested please contact Cara Lynne Johnson in 115 Babcock Dormitory. If enough interest is shown, perhaps the organizations may be set up this year.

Watch for this column in your coming Salemite editions for important notices, announcements, and other pertinent information from the Y.

NOTICE

The Salemite has established a new policy: the circulation staff will be composed of representatives from each dorm who will be responsible for distributing the papers in their respective dorms.

Volunteers are asked, but a representative may be appointed or elected.

This year's Oslo Scholars, announced in assembly Tuesday, are Dottie Girling, rising junior, and Wendy McGlinn, rising senior.

McGlinn, Girling Selected As Oslo Scholars For '64

By Linda Lyon

Looking forward to their summer of study and travel are the newly-selected 1964 Oslo Scholars, Wendy McGlinn and Dottie Girling. Also chosen for alternate scholarship positions were Betty Bullard and Margaret Persons.

A rising senior and newly elected president of the student body, Wendy hails from Haverford, Pennsylvania. Her interests are varied and include such subjects as politics, theater, language, and future graduate plans in either of her major fields, French or history.

Outstanding in scholarship and schoolwide participation, Wendy is vice-president of Phi Alpha Theta, a member of the Honor Society, Order of the Scorpion, past president of Humanities Club, and a delegate to the 16th National Student Congress. Last summer she attended McGill University in Montreal and worked for the Republican Finance Committee of Pennsylvania.

Accompanying Wendy will be rising junior Oslo Scholar, Dottie Girling. Dottie, a native of Taunton, Massachusetts, enjoys swimming, reading, piano, and sailing. She is the newly elected Associate Editor of the Archway, and at present serves as sophomore representative to Legislative Board. Among her campus activities, she is a member of Choral Ensemble, a rewriter for the Salemite, and a member of the Symposium Committee.

After summer school at the University of Oslo, Dottie plans to center her travel in Denmark and Holland. Both girls plan to take the general course of Norwegian Life and Civilization as well as six additional hours of study. The scholarship itself is given by L. Corrin Strong and it includes a grant of $800 for the six weeks summer session. All four girls were carefully selected from the entries and are to be congratulated.

Y Has Auction! Faculty Provides 'Surprising' Buys

Can you imagine paying $57 for a picnic for four porterhouse steaks with Mr. Campbell or getting four juniors as (spastic) blind dates for only $3? These are examples of some of the humorous, enjoyable, and surprising "buys" which were bought last year at the Y auction.

The Y Auction is held three years out of every four and is a money-raising project. The money raised, which was $432.52 last year, is used to help the individual classes meet their goals for the World University Scholarship Fund. The Y Auction takes a great burden off the individual classes, for they do

(Continued on page 4)

WRA Enters Salem Girls In Tennis Tourney

Salem is entering four girls in the tennis tournament at Spartanburg, South Carolina, this weekend. Susan Ellison is entered in the No. 1 Singles position. Jackie Lamond is entered in the No. 2 Singles position. Susie Materne and Jeannie Yager are entered as the doubles team.

There will be another tournament the following weekend at Chapel Hill, N. C. Anyone interested, please contact Miss Woodward.