Students Notice Changes At Yearbook Presentation

With the dedication and official presentation of the annual to students, the 1963-64 staff of Sights and Insights can resume being indiscreet. All secrets they have been keeping concerning the yearbook were disclosed when each student received her yearbook in assembly Thursday.

The 1964 Sights and Insights is dedicated to Dr. Michael Lewis.

ATTENTION

The office wishes to remind all students that all work for this semester must be handed in by 6 p.m., Monday, May 18. The following regulations for Reading Day may be found on page 61 of the Handbook:

1. Students are pledged not to leave the campus limits or to have dates on this day.
2. Unexpected out-of-town guests may be entertained in the living room of Clewell for one-half hour with permission of the Office of the Dean of Students.
3. Lights are out for freshmen and sophomores at 11:30 p.m.

Any student having exam complications should immediately notify Dean Hixson, and the difficulty will be handled by the Student's Examination Committee.

The last scheduled exam period ends at noon, Wednesday, May 27. Reports will be in the mail Wednesday, June 3.

The office wishes to remind students that all summer school blanks must be approved by the office if credit is expected. Any student withdrawing from the college must fill out a withdrawal slip in the Registrar's Office if honorable dismissal is desired.

Facts concerning the closing of school have been issued from the Dean of Students' Office and full mimeographed instructions about those articles that may be left at school and how they must be packed has been given each student. Note that storage space is offered as a convenience. It is your responsibility to prepare your belongings for storage.

Please follow the instructions concerning the key check and sign-outs. A special sheet of instructions for this is also given each student. Note carefully the regulation concerning leaving college for places other than home. Also, all students must leave college within twenty-four hours after their last exam.

The staff chose to dedicate it to Dr. Lewis since it is they who publish the annual. This selection was made in accordance with a recommendation by the senior class.

As the editor, Donna Raper previously announced a big change which was immediately recognizable — a lengthwise bound annual. The red and white colors, too, are a change from the previous blues and greens.

Throughout the annual a theme relating life at Salem to "glass" is carried out. Four divisions show this relationship. The first division is a direct reflection of Salem. It includes class pictures, May Day, Orientation, and more features. The second part is a hazy reflection and suggests a look at the inner self. In the third part one can see through a piece of glass, but not clearly. This gives a hint to the future and its uncertainty. In the fourth part one can clearly see through the glass to the real individual. This section includes honors received by Salem.

The last pages include pictures of the administration and a special new addition — pictures of all the faculty members.

Salem Students To Hold Radio Show Next Year With News, Interviews

Salem news, announcements, fads, interviews, opinion polls, and students may all be on radio next year on Salem's own five minute program. Sample tapes are being made

Mrs. Edith Tesch Vaughn will replace Miss Lelia Marsh as Alumnae Secretary this summer.

Salem Graduate Succeeds Miss Marsh As Secretary

Miss Lelia Graham Marsh, present Alumnae Secretary will be succeeded by her assistant secretary, Mrs. Edith Tesch Vaughn, as she retires from her position this summer.

A Salem graduate of the class of 1919, Miss Marsh received the last four-year scholarship personally awarded by Mrs. Stonewall Jackson. While at Salem she was President of YWCA, vice-president of Hesperian Literary Society, and a member of Sigma Delta Sigma Sorority which was abandoned soon after her graduation.

Her numerous jobs include being the first woman radio announcer in North Carolina when she was secretary-treasurer of Southern Radio Corporation. At this time she was also daily market and weather reporter for WBT in Charlotte.

She spent ten years as an assistant in the Dean's Office at Sweet Briar College, and in 1941 returned to her alma mater to become Salem's Alumnae Secretary. Two special accomplishments of the Association which she is proud of having had a part in developing are the annual Alumnae Fund and the yearly election of an alumna to a three-year term on the College Board of Trustees. During her service as Secretary, Miss Marsh has also been the editor of the Alumnae Bulletin which has been a Salem tradition since 1878.

Mrs. Vaughn, an outstanding Salem graduate of the class of 1954, plans to assume her new position July 1, 1964. The mother of two children and a native of Winston-Salem, Mrs. Vaughn was an active Salemite. She was member of Order of Scorpion, Choral Ensemble, Y Cabinet, Honor Society, and IRS. After graduation she went to the barren tundra region of Bethel, Alaska, with her husband as a Moravian Church missionary.

This was quite a change from the civilized life that she had experienced at Salem, for in this village transportation was provided by dog sled and groceries had to be ordered a year in advance while she lived and worked among the Eskimos.

Mrs. Vaughn's close association to the Salem community results from the fact that her father is presently serving on the board of Trustees, her mother, Mrs. Tesch, is secretary to Dr. Gramley, and she has three sisters who also attended Salem. She is quite interested in the cultural events around the campus and enjoys archery.

In relation to her acquired position as Secretary of Alumnae Association she looks forward "to working in co-ordination with the college, students, and faculty in providing an Association that will stimulate interest for the girls who eventually be alumnae."

The second group is a song cycle of eight by Schumann.
