Phi Alpha Theta Inducts Two Senior Latin Majors

Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary history society, will hold inductions Thursday, March 11, for two seniors, Catherine (Cacky) Hubbard and Barbara Gardner. Both girls have completed twelve hours of history with a B+ average in their history courses, and a B average over all, fulfilling requirements for the society.

Cacky is a Latin major from Clinton. Minor in French, Cacky is a member of the Honor Society and of SNEA. She won the President's Prize in Latin her sophomore year. She completed her practice teaching in the fall at North Forsyth High School where she had a class in Latin II and one in Latin III. Cacky has also been tutoring at the North Carolina Advancement School this year.

Cacky's favorite spring sport is getting a tan by the pool and her summer sport is tennis, which she taught at camp for four years.

In August, she will marry John G. Newitt, Jr. of Charlotte, a third year student at Wake Forest Law School. She plans to teach in Charlotte next fall.

Barbara Gardner, another Latin major, is a day student. Minor in history, she is a member of the Honor Society and SNEA. Barbara has served on Judicial Board for two years and is currently co-chairman of publicity for the Humanities Club, and a member of the Assembly committee.

Barbara, who holds a general scholarship, practice taught at Gray High School in the fall. A candidate for Miss Student Teacher, she had classes in Latin and German.

Planning a summer marriage to Joe Brown, who is presently working in the laboratory at Reynolds, Barbara could well be the envy of many seniors, for she has already signed a contract for teaching next year. She has a job in Thomasville teaching three Latin classes in junior high and two second-year Latin classes in senior high. Barbara, the twin that drives, will commute to Thomasville from Winston-Salem, where she and Joe will live. Although she will have to commute between schools as well as between towns, she says, "At least I don't have to teach German."

The other members of Phi Alpha Theta include the history professors Dr. Inzer Byers, Dr. Lucy Austin, Miss Jane Bush, Erroll Clauss, and Dean Ivy Hixson. Seniors Betty Bullard, Daphne Duke, Kate, and Wendy McGlenn, and juniors Barbara Mallard and Jan Norman are also members.

After dinner and the inductions, the old and new members will discuss problems arising from American involvement in Viet Nam.

has been a Salemite writer, a member of the State Student Legislature committee for two years, this year serving as secretary of the Senate, a member of Canterbury Club, and an avid supporter of her class in basketball intramurals. She is also a member of the Order of the Scorpions.

Vice-President

Jean King, a native of Lincoln, has served for the past year as secretary of the Judicial Board. She is an active member of Pierrettes and their productions, and a member of the Salem Chorus. A news writer for The Salemite, Jean was president of her sophomore class and she has been on the State Student Legislature committee for two years, this year as a delegate to the Senate.

Jean is majoring in public school music and plans to teach in a different section of the country after graduation.

Secretary

Jane Grimsley, newly elected secretary of Student Government, has already served Salem students in other capacities. In her freshman year, Jane was a representative to Legislative Board, and a Feature Girl. During her sophomore year, Jane has been NSA Co-ordinator, and a representative to Legislative Board.

Jane, of High Point, is choosing sociology for her major with a minor in elementary education. Jane's interest in future social work is indicated by her work as an assistant Playground Director for underprivileged children for the past two summers.

Treasurer

The new treasurer of Student Government is Roberta Frost from Charlotte. At Salem she was the representative to Legislative Board as a freshman; this year she has served as treasurer of IRS and on the Assembly Committee.

Considering a double major in English and psychology, Roberta will have a minor in biology. For a non-academic activity she enjoys making some of her own clothes; and, having worked in a clothing store during the summers, she is also interested in merchandising.

After completing requirements for a master's degree, she would like to teach or go into social work.

Judicial Board

The 1965-66 Judicial Board will be headed by Ann Wilson, a rising senior, hailing from Jacksonville, Florida. Upon graduation Ann plans to receive her degree in mathematics with a minor in elementary education and plans to teach the first grade.

A Feature Girl her freshman year, she also served on Legislative Board as president of her freshman class. By virtue of her office of house president of Clewell her sophomore year, Ann was a member of Judicial Board. This year Ann has served in the capacity of Treasurer of Stee-Gee.

Chairman of the Christmas banquet her sophomore year and a member of the Canterbury Club, the new Judicial Board chairman has been a proofreader for The Salemite for three years. Ann also has the distinction of belonging to the Order of the Scorpion.

In commenting on her newly designated position, Ann states that she hopes the students will feel so much a part of Salem and her Honor Tradition that they will not want to commit any breach of honor. She expresses the desire that Judicial Board be not above the students, but a working part of the student body as a whole.

Working with Ann is newly elected secretary of Judicial Board, Nan James. A rising junior from Greenville, South Carolina, Nan was treasurer of her freshman class and a feature girl last year.

A French major and an English minor, she hopes to study a year in France upon completion of her degree here at Salem. She would like to use her education teaching French in a private school.

SNEA Sponsors Movie; Peace Corps Gets Profits

SNEA will sponsor "The Philadelphia Story," starring Cary Grant, Katharine Hepburn, and James Stewart, Tuesday night, March 16, at 7 p.m. in Old Chapel.

In the movie which won the Academy Award and the New York Critics Award, Miss Hepburn repeats her success in the topflight stage play (written for her by Philip Barry) about the transformation of a Philadelphia socialite from a self-centered Puritan snob to a tolerant and tolerable human being. Preparations for the haughty young lady's second marriage are gloriously confounded when a magazine writer and photographer, who know of an amorous scandal in the family, descend on the household to cover the festival.

The movie will last less than two hours, and the proceeds will be used to send supplies to the Peace Corps worker in Thailand, whom Salem, through the Student NCEA Book Project, has adopted. Tickets are fifty cents and can be bought in the dorms from SNEA members or at the door.
