Biology Student To Spend Jummer At Research Job

Marsha Dietz By Laura Eutsler

Summer for some is the time for Jaxation from school work while hers use the time to catch up on me serious studying. For Mara Dietz, an outstanding sophoore biology major, the summer ill be a time to investigate the eld of scientific research in her

Marsha will be involved in an ative state of Maryland.

undergraduate research participation program supported by the National Science Foundation at the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory (part of the University of Maryland) at Solomons, Maryland. The small marine research station on the Patuxenet River near the fishing village of Solomons provides a place for research into the areas of marine life, for individual student investigations, for seminars and meetings, and, in general, for students as well as staff to be involved in a Basically, Marsha's job will be to assist resident staff with research problems relating to the Chesapeake Bay habitat. Marsha has received a grant from the National Science Foundation for her work at Solo-

Although the Laboratory prefers to take college juniors or seniors, Marsha's serious study and intense interest in her science field of biology aided her in obtaining the job. Before she begins her job Marsha plans to study invertebrate zoology at the Laboratory.

What-Not-Shop Sells, Buys Used Clothing, Bedspreads

By Jane Horton

With shopping centers springing everywhere, Salem has jumped n the "band wagon," too. Used ooks can be bought and sold; now sed clothing and other items may placed on our own campus maret for sale.

IRS announces the What-Nothop, an exciting establishment in e basement of Lehman. This will THE center for the sale of room ecorations, curtains, bedspreads, igs, and other accessories, as well clothing and crafts. Items can bought for sale and are available r purchase between the hours of welve and two, and five and six. ontributors may price their own ods, clothes being priced and narked according to size.

The What-Not-Shop will also ffer the service of storing sale ems through the summer months. ferchandise may be registered now, elivered immediately or at the end f the semester, and kept on camus over the summer. For graduting and transferring students, ayment for goods sold is guaran eed by mail. Those students who lan to return to Salem in the fall

ATTENTION

Dean Hixson will be off campus pril 23-27 to join a Southern Asociation study group at Miles Colege in Birmingham, Alabama.

> Knit next winter's sweaters now!

The VILLAGE YARN SHOP

upstairs in the community store

We're Always Glad To Help You may profit by turning their storage liabilities into assets. And as an added convenience, money from individual sales will be delivered to student suppliers in their dorms. Stock is gathering; the doors are open; the What-Not-Shop is what's happening. For further details see Margie Dotts, Jill Stewart, or Ann

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mrs. Lucia R. Karnes, Assistant Professor of Education, was elected President of the Higher Education Division (College Division) at the NCEA meeting held in Asheville the weekend of April 7-8. In her new capacity Mrs. Karnes will direct the college unit of North Carolina educators and represent the state at any National Educational Association meetings.

"Showboat Jamboree," the Third United States Army, Fort McPherson Soldier Show Production, will be presented in assembly on Friday, April 28.

Salemites Open Tennis Season With Match Against Wake Coeds

By Debbie Lotz

The tennis season has officially begun, with a match and a tournament within the past week.

In the first match of the season with Wake Forest, Salem lost 6-3. B. B. James and Lee Wood won their singles matches for two out of the three wins, while Bevie Carter and Lee Wood won their match for Salem's third win. The results of the match are not all together conclusive, however, because this was Salem's first match of the year, and the overall competition this year is much better than last year's. However, Wake Forest did look good, especially Kay Stoudenmire, their number one player, who downed Bevie Carter 6-0. Salem will have a return match with Wake sometime in the near future, and hopefully will be more successful.

The results were as follows:

Singles

- 1. Kay Stoudenmire (W) defeated Bevie Carter (S) 6-0.
- 2. Ann Bingham (W) defeated Debbie Lotz (S) 6-2.
- 3. Su-Su Evans (W) defeated Ann Babcock (S) 6-1.
- 4. Susan Powers (W) defeated Olive Jenkins (S) 6-2.
- 5. B. B. James (S) defeated Becky Wiley (W) 6-1.
- 6. Lee Wood (S) defeated Rose-

Places Open In Teachers Corps

Applications for service in the Teacher Corps are now available, it was announced today by Richard A. Graham, the program's national

The Teacher Corps is a graduate work-study program that trains college graduates (interns) in the special methods needed to teach disadvantaged youngsters.

Currently working in 275 of the nation's neediest schools, the Corps combines two years of tuition-free study with on-the-job training in the classroom. After two years of Corps service, Corpsmen may receive a Master's Degree and will be eligible for permanent teacher certification in their training state.

For Teacher Corps applications and additional information, see Carol Carson in Vocational Office or bottom shelf, left side in Vocational Office.

Doubles

1. Kay Stoudenmire and Ann Bingham (W) defeated Olive Jenkins and Susan Harvard (S)

2. Bevie Carter and Lee Wood (S) defeated Rosaland Duck and Becky Wiley (W) 6-2.

3. SuSu Evans and Susan Powers (W) defeated Ann Babcock and B. B. James (S) 6-0.

In tourney play, Salem went to Converse College to play in the annual Carolina Tennis Day round robin tournament. The number one singles, Bevie Carter, fared pretty well, coming in fifth out of ten. The number two singles, Debbie Lotz, didn't do as well, however, coming in seventh out of eight, and the doubles, Olive Jenkins and Suran Harvard, same in sixth out

This weekend the team will travel to Chapel Hill for another tourney. Salem was scheduled to play Catawba on Thursday, April 21 here on the Salem courts.

The student tournament began this past week and will continue until May 17. Approximately thirty students will compete in this annual event. The student-faculty tournament has also been lined up and will be played on the morning of May Day.

In the world of golf, Salem will go to UNC-G this weekend to play in a tourney on that course. Those representing Salem are Candy Stell, Ann McMaster, and Debbie Yager.

Mini-skirt Attract Attention, May Give Wearer Problem

(Editor's Note:) Salemites, although always trying to keep up with the latest fashions, may not realize the hazards that accompany the latest trend, the mini-skirt, in a coed situ-The following is an article from the Daily Texan at the University of Texas:

(ACP)-A small but increasing number of University of Texas coeds have decided to get in step with the "What's Happening" centers of the world and to leave men they pass twisted like pretzels, straining for a good, long, lasting look, Peter Heyne writes in the Daily Texan.

These are the coeds who have the courage—but often not the proportions-to wear mini skirts and Essentially, a "mini" is a garment whose hemline ranges from three (mini-mini) to seven inches (maximini) above the knee. It gained popularity two years ago on London's Carnaby Street where the Mod look still reigns.

In Eastern cities and in California, the mini look is not only "in" but is also fairly well established. However, in the South, including

Austin, Texas, and consequently the university women are suffering from a hemline gap that is being closed not much faster than grandma can thread rope through a

Mrs. Binnie Briggs, owner of Pizzazz, Inc., which stocks lots of mini clothing, says, "Whenever anyone is leaving town they come in here to buy a short dress-they say they have to have one for where they are going, which is usually out of state. Why do coeds wear minis? Other than strictly for fashion-"Simply to attract attention," says a former coed. "A lot of girls are husbandhunting and want to be noticed by the opposite sex," adds an assistant professor of home economics. Noticed they are. "There's not a moment's doubt that you are looked at; people practically hang out windows and wreck cars to get a good look," says Mrs. Briggs, recalling the time she wore her zebra-striped fur mini down the Drag.

Most mini-wearers say they wear them primarily to parties, picnics,

(Continued on page 4)

