

Brooks To Speak About "Design Of Thinkers"

By Sara Ingram

Who knows?

Who knows how many students will attend assembly next Friday, November 15? This question is being asked by Dr. Frederick P. Brooks, the speaker for that assembly, as well as by Dr. Dale Gramley. Dr. Brooks is Chairman of the Department of Information Science at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He is a leading expert on computers, and has agreed to speak to Salemites on the topic "The Design of Thinkers" on one condition—that students not be compelled to attend the assembly.

In a letter to Dr. Gramley, Dr. Brooks explained this unusual request: "I have found it difficult and depressing to establish rapport with enforced audiences; it would be better to talk to 25 who are there from choice than 700 under compulsion.

Dr. Gramley heard Dr. Brooks discuss computers last spring and was impressed by his humanistic, almost religious approach to the relation of men to computers. As Dr. Gramley said, Dr. Brooks "really makes the point that there is something more interesting and amazing than the computer—and that is the human mind." Such an approach, Dr. Gramley feels, will be interesting and helpful for Salemites who are being exposed to the use of computers this year.

Dr. Brooks is well qualified in his field. He received his A. B. degree in physics from Duke University and did graduate work in computers at Harvard University. From 1956 to 1965, he was employed by the IBM corporation and participated in the development of the Stretch and Harvest Computers. He was also manager and principle developer of the system 360 Computer, one of the latest computers to be perfected.

Some may remember Dr. Brooks

Dean Hixson Announces Names Of Seven New Scorpion Members

Dean Ivy Hixson announced the seven new members of the Order of the Scorpion in assembly, Wednesday, November 6. Four of these girls are seniors, and three are juniors. The new members include seniors, Montine Bryan, Nancy Holderness, Nancy Richardson, and Mary Sheppard; juniors, Sandra Culpepper, Lindsay McLaughlin, and Wendy Yeatts.

Wendy Yeatts is a "transplanted Southerner" from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, majoring in Spanish and psychology. This year she serves as vice president of YWCA. Her freshman year she was a member of the "Y" cabinet and The Archway staff; last year she was secretary of the sophomore class, and prose editor of The Archway. Swimming, archery, writing Haiku poetry, and "a certain pre-med student at Wake Forest" rank high on her list of outside interests.

Lindsay McLaughlin hails from Charlotte with a major in math and a minor in elementary education, which stems from two summers' work with Headstart. As a freshman, Lindsay was on Legislative Board. As a sophomore, she was house president of Babcock and served on Judicial Board, of which she is secretary this year. Outside interests? . . . "State," declares Lindsay emphatically.

Sandra Culpepper is from Elizabeth City and is majoring in psychology, with a minor in elementary education. Her sophomore year she was a hall president in Gramley. This year she is treasurer of Student Government.

riding and swimming. Graduating with a certificate in secondary education, Montine plans to teach history until she can attend graduate school in psychology.

Mary Sheppard of Shelby, better known as the WAIR Athlete of the Week, has a double major in biology and psychology. She has been a committee member of WRA and this year its president; she has also served as house president of Lehman, on Judicial Board, and is a member of Lablings, IRC, and the Foreign Language Club. She loves to travel; after her freshman year, she journeyed to South America and plans a trip to Europe this summer. What does she plan to do after graduation? She wants to work and take graduate courses.

Montine Bryan, a day student from Winston-Salem, will graduate with a major in history and minor in both psychology and English. She is a representative to the Legislative Board and was a member of the Orientation Committee during her junior year. She has been a member of SNEA and the International Relations Club for two years. As a senior Montine is the Business Manager of Sights and Insights and a member of IRS. In her spare time she enjoys horseback riding and swimming. Graduating with a certificate in secondary education, Montine plans to teach history until she can attend graduate school in psychology.

Nancy Holderness from Tarboro, is an art major with a minor in sociology. She was President of her Freshman Class, and on the Assembly Committee her sophomore year. Last year Nancy worked on the Symposium Committee and served as a representative to Legislative Board. As a senior this year she is President of YWCA. One program she has initiated is the Experiment in Self Reliance.

In her spare time Nancy paints—pictures, shoes, pocketbooks, boxes, and even a chest of drawers.

The Order of Scorpion, a type of service club special to Salem, serves the campus in anonymous ways. The means of choosing new members, is a secret known only to the members, and it is an honor to be chosen for membership. These girls work for the improvement of Salem as a whole, and yet they never receive any personal recognition for work done.

Pauck To Talk About Tillich

Salem will have as campus guest and assembly speaker Dr. Wilhelm Pauck, Professor of Church History at Vanderbilt Divinity School on Wednesday, November 13.

Dr. Pauck was born and educated in Germany. He also attended the University of Chicago. He has taught history, church history, and the history of theology at the University of Chicago. From 1953 to 1967, he was professor of Church History at Union Theological Seminary in New York.

Dr. Pauck will speak on the life and work of the Twentieth Century theologian Paul Tillich. His visit to Salem is sponsored by the Visiting Scholars Program of the Piedmont University Center.

Soulettes And Salemites Mingle; Everyone Invited To Join In Fun

By Martha Rasberry

Salem College has had an important group of visitors on campus for the last month. They are better known now as the Soulettes! Every Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. a group of thirteen year old girls meet in our gym for this newly organized club, sponsored and originated by the YWCA.

Many students have heard about the Experiment in Self Reliance. It is an organization working mainly with the people living in the low economic areas around the city. The purpose of the organization is to teach and advise the girls and foster a sense of friendship with people living in these areas. At the end of last year a representative from ESR spoke to the Y Cabinet in hopes of arousing interest on the campus. The Y became interested in possible projects in conjunction with ESR and planned a club for approximately twenty Negro girls living in the district near Salem.

The planning over the summer and at the first of the school year resulted in a very successful program. Now, every Tuesday, giggles and laughter take command of the Soulettes meeting. Salemites and Soulettes have all enjoyed the fun shared together.

The first meeting included a "Sing Along" with Linda Amond and Dee Dee Geraty. Sitting around with punch and cookies, the girls sang all the old favorites from "Down by the Old Mill Stream" to "Georgy Girl." Last week a weenie roast was held in the May Dell. The question is who had the most fun, Salemites or Soulettes!

Soulettes gather in the gym concluding an afternoon's activities led by Nancy Holderness and Salem's new branch of ESR organized by the YWCA.

This program, however, has a deeper and more significant meaning than eating and singing. Already the girls have viewed slides on Viet Nam. Soon they will be seeing slides of Europe that Mrs. Esther Mock has offered. Tutoring will be given to those who ask for help.

Arts and crafts is another feature of the program. It is hoped that each girl will make at least one gift for a relative as a Christmas present. (All of Salem's artists are invited to lend a hand)

Many people perhaps are wondering what will be gained from this program. What is important is the fact that a basis of communication has developed between two groups of people who have never known or understood each other before. These young girls will perhaps finally grasp the fact that this is their world as well as ours. Perhaps some of them have just needed that extra ounce of encouragement or that sense of confidence that the girls of Salem can give.

Dr. Inzer Byers, Dean Virginia Johnson, Mrs. Esther Mock, and other faculty members have expressed interest and enthusiasm in this program. The hope is that even more people will take an active interest. All Salemites are invited to come on Tuesday afternoons for the club's meetings.

Hope to see you there!

IRS To Give Annual Dance

By Sterling Winstead

Hey Salemites, remember the Christmas Dance IRS put on last year in the gym with that really "rocking" band? Well, this year the dance is going to be even better. So get on the ball—invite your favorite beau and buy that pretty formal you've been eyeing in Montaldo's window.

Music will be supplied by the Jokers Six and the Marlboros. The freshmen and many of the upperclassmen will remember how good they were at the Freshman Mixer.

The festivities will take place at the Link Road Armory, Saturday, December 14, from 8:30 p. m. to 12:30 a.m.

Girls may either wear a long formal or cocktail dress and boys must wear tux or a dark suit.

Hope to see all of you there!

the Jewish faith and culture. Since the items were presented to Salem by the Jewish Chautauqua Society of America, they are being displayed in the library showcase.

Recalling an assembly program given last year by Rabbi Tolochko, Salem students may be pleased to know that upon his recommendation the society made the presentation. From a list sent by the society Dr. Mary Hill, Head of the Religion Department, and Mrs. Anna Cooper, the librarian, considered the areas relevant to our liberal arts program and chose material not already possessed by the school.

Martin Buber, a well known contemporary theologian and philosopher, authors four of the sixteen volumes as well as the filmstrip and recording entitled "The Life in Dialogue." One of Buber's most widely read works, I and Thou, will be available with the other books.

Salem is fortunate in receiving the gift from the society which hopes to promote a better understanding of the Jewish religion and heritage. This material has been made available to broaden study in religion, philosophy, archaeology, political science, and sociology.
