Salem Pierrettes Receives Alpha Psi Omega Charter

The Upsilon Omega Cast of Alpha Psi Omega Honorary Dramatic Fraternity has been established on the Salem College campus. The national charter, which has recently been received, replaces Salem's honorary dramatic society Harlequins. Pierrette Players applied for this charter through petition to the Grand Cast and Grand Director at New York University. Alpha Psi Omega was founded in 1925 to recognize and reward all phases of student participation in college play production. It is the largest national college organization in any departmental field, having over four hundred college chapters.

McKay To Illustrate Talk

An illustrated talk on "The Etruscans: New Discoveries and Ancient Controversies," is the assembly program to be presented by Professor Alexander G. McKay on Wednesday, February 18. Professor McKay comes to us from McMaster University in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, where he has been Professor of Classics and Dean of Humanities since 1957.

In addition to having held positions in various universities including Princeton University, the University of Pennsylvania, and the Hellenic Institute in Athens, he has been honored as Fellow of the Royal Society in Canada (1965), and guest lecturer in the United Kingdom, Italy, Greece, and Australia. He has served as director of the Classical Summer School in Italy since 1954.

Professor McKay will be on campus for the noon lunch period and for an informal coffee with students at 3 p.m. in Strong Friendship Rooms. On Tuesday, February 17, at 10 a.m., Professor McKay will present a lecture on "Twentieth Century Views of Orestes" at Wake Forest University.

Membership in the society is over 50,000.

The qualifications for individual membership are essentially the same as they were for Harlequins, including various types of on-stage and backstage experience, amounting to sixty hours of work for a two-semester period.

One of the main objectives of Alpha Psi Omega is to give students national recognition for theater work where the dramatics program is largely extra-curricular, as it is at Salem. In addition membership provides information and intercollegiate contacts through publications such as the national magazine, The Playbill.

The Charter members of Upsilon Omega Cast of Alpha Psi Omega are as follows: Sandra Culpepper, Dee Dee Geraty, Cyndee Grant, Carol Hewitt, Dail Mahood, Celia Watson, and honorary member Dr. Mary Homrighous, Pierrette Players advisor and director.

Salem Chooses Celia Watson For Best-Dressed Contest

By Scotty Newell and Pierce McIntyre

The winner of Salem's Glamour contest is Miss Celia Watson, a 5 ft 1 in. blonde from Spartanburg, South Carolina.

During an interview, our Glamour contestant described her fashionable manner of dress, implying that she likes her wardrobe to represent the current trends in style. Before Celia begins planning her wardrobe for the season, she familiarizes herself with the clothes in vogue. She then chooses a workable wardrobe to which she makes additions to update any outfit in her closet.

As any eye for fashion can observe, Celia goes for the novel in fashion. She has joined in with the popularization of the maxi, the mini, the dirndl, and the baby-doll dress, each when in the height of style.

Color is important in Celia's tastefully coordinated wardrobe. Although favorites in the past were blues, greens, and orange and yellow, she currently prefers a combination of pink and burgundy. In acquiring her distinctive style, Celia acknowledges her mother's stimulation as a basis for her taste in clothes and her good grooming habit.

Celia enjoys modeling and has worked in this capacity for stores in her home town as well as Montaldo's here in Winston-Salem. Her basic interests, however, are in drama and the theater. Her future plans include acting with a professional theater and, possibly, television.

Each Glamour contestant must submit an essay in addition to pictures of herself. This essay will describe her special interests. Because of her varied interests, Celia is writing her essay on self-expression in drama, art, dance, and costume.

If a winner in the contest, Celia will sign a year's contract with Glamour to be available for photographs and advertisements. She will also fly to New York to help prepare the August fashion issue of Glamour, which will feature the winners of the contest.

Here's wishing the best of luck to Celia from Salem C.

FOCUS Sponsors Six Weeks Of Racial Justice Seminars

Beginning February 10, 1970, FOCUS will sponsor a series of six Racial Justice Seminars which are open to all Salem students. Each program will be conducted in Room 190 of the Fine Arts Center at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday nights. Each session is led by a different resource person, yet the series is designed to develop a continuing process of understanding. However, students are encouraged to attend even if they cannot be present for every seminar.

The opening meeting will be a panel discussion of white racism as related to the Black Manifesto. The panel will include Mrs. Louise Wilson of the Experiment in Self Reliance, Mr. Mark Freeman, Brenda Joyner of Winston-Salem State, and Judy White, sophomore at Salem.

"Black Economy and Labor" will be the topic of discussion for February 17. This session will feature a film, "Cycle of Nowhere," produced by the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights. Discussion leaders will be Mr. Clark Thompson and Mr. Dan Scheuer of the Salem faculty. The next seminar on "Black Extremists and the Government" will feature Mr. Willie Smith, black candidate for mayor in Winston-Salem, and members of the Black Panther Party.

Bill Constangy, former head of Forsyth County Legal Aid Society, will speak on "Legal Problems of Blacks" on March 3. "Blacks and Education" will be the topic on March 10. The last seminar, "Blacks and the Church," will include a discussion with Mr. Tom Smith of the Model Cities Program who formerly worked at St. Timothy's Mission in Winston-Salem.

In preparation for the seminar it is suggested that students read the "Black Manifesto". This document will be a springboard for the study of white racism and racial justice. The planners of the seminars also recommend that students read Crisis in Black and White by Charles E. Silberman, which will serve as a parallel study for the seminar. There will also be a collection of related readings in the library.

Ride The Bus To Wake Forest

The college has arranged to have a free bus service for students wishing to use the Wake Forest University Library. The bus will run Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and leave from the front of Main Hall at 6:45 p.m. It will return from the Wake Forest Library at 10:30 p.m.

Students wishing to use this service must apply at the Librarian's Office before 5:30 p.m. on the date they wish to go.

The service will begin on Tuesday, February 17th, and continue as long as there is need for it.
