The panelists will make a few remarks on career opportunities for women with college degrees. There will then be an opportunity for individual questions and discussion.

Classics Dept.

The Classics Department will sponsor Mrs. Elizabeth Berger for the Departmental Assembly on Friday, March 13. She will speak on etymology, the origin of words.

Mrs. Berger is a graduate of Smith College and holds a master's degree in English. She has taught at Hockaday School in Dallas, Texas, and at Ashley Hall. Presently, she is teaching sophomore English at Central Piedmont Community College in Charlotte. She has a knowledge of Latin, Greek, French, and Italian, and will trace the origin of words through these languages. The faculty and student body are invited to hear Mrs. Berger in Room 190 of the Fine Arts Center at 11 a.m., Friday, March 13.

History Dept.

The History Departmental Assembly has been moved to Monday, March 16 in order to give students and opportunity to see "Medium Cool," the movie which will be discussed at the Assembly. "Medium Cool" is a film concerning the role of mass media in our society today. Special emphasis is placed on the role of mass media at the Democratic National Convention held in Chicago in 1968 and part of the movie includes actual films from the convention.

The film will be showing at Reynolda Cinema from Thursday, March 12 until Wednesday, March 18 with shows at 2, 4, 6, 8, and 10 p.m. each day. Interested students are urged to see the film prior to the discussion on Monday, March 16 if possible.

The Assembly will be held in Room 220 of the History Building.

Religion Dept.

The Religion-Philosophy Department will examine "The Process of Radicalization" at the March 13 Departmental Assembly. Guest speaker

UNICEF Makes Appeal To All For Biafra Contributions

United Nations, N. Y.—The U. S. Committee for UNICEF has issued a nationwide appeal for public contributions to help support a massive rehabilitation program in postwar Nigeria. Noting that the Nigerian Government has expressed its appreciation of UNICEF's "good and altruistic humanitarian work" over the past two years of the tragic civil war, Mrs. Guido Pantaleoni, Jr., President of the U.S. Committee, said, "We are heartened by the continuing concern expressed by the American people over the plight of Nigerian mothers and children who have survived a period of great suffering and hardship. Now we must do our part in helping to raise the millions of dollars needed to maintain and expand UNICEF's aid program in Eastern Nigeria during the critical months

After a personal inspection trip to Nigeria, Mr. H. R. Labouisse, UNI-CEF's Executive Director, confirmed earlier reports that severe malnutrition and the danger of major epidemics constitute a continuing threat to the existence of millions of children in the former civil war zone. Despite the amnesty and the best efforts of the Nigerian Government and Red Cross to bring in food and medical supplies, many thousands of refugees have fled beyond reach of relief sources.

Through last December, the United Nations Children's Fund had shipped well over 100 million pounds of food, drugs, medicines, and other supplies to Nigerian war victims. During the latter stages of the war, it sharply increased the flow of medical supplies and foodstuffs to hospitals, sick bays, and refugee centers. As a result, UNICEF's Nigerian emergency relief funds have been virtually exhausted.

Since the collapse of the rebellion, the governments of the United States, Canada, France, Norway and Ireland have announced special contributions totalling $2,404,000 to the Children's Fund. "Much more will be needed to close the aid gap resulting from the departure of many relief-dispensing agencies from the former area of Biafra," said Mrs. Pantaleoni. "We are asking our millions of UNICEF volunteers and supporters in this country to respond again with the same generosity they showed to our first call for emergency aid in

The U. S. Committee's appeal for contributions is being conveyed through public service newspaper and broadcast messages, and through its national organization of UNICEF State Representatives and Metropolitan Committees. Lorne Greene, star of the popular "Bonetwork program, is the UNICEF spokesman in TV and radio spot appeals which the Committee is distributing to all networks and several thousand local will be Mr. Zan White of Staunton, Virginia. Mr. White, a native of Mebane, is Chaplain and Instructor in Religion at Mary Baldwin College and Assistant Pastor of First Presbyterian Church in Staunton.

Last year Mr. White was a graduate student at UNC-Chapel Hill. As a member of the Graduate Student Association he was active in the cafeteria workers' strike there last spring. As a basis for discussion, Mr. White will present case studies of four students whose political leanings changed from moderate to radical during the period of the strike.

The discussion will be held in Bitting Lounge.

I don't think that one can live through this time of the year and not realize that there are many basketball tournaments going on in preparation for the coveted title of NCAA champions and NIT cham-

In the East, Davidson has already won the Southern Conference, while the ACC tournament is this weekend in Charlotte. South Carolina is favored over second place North Carolina and North Carolina State. Duke finished fourth, with Wake Forest, Clemson, Virginia, and Maryland finishing off the last half of the list. In the first game on Thursday, South Carolina met Clemson and Duke met Wake Forest. Duke looms as a big threat to the other teams, as the team upset North Carolina this past Saturday at Duke.

Tickets to these games are quite hard to come by, as only a certain number is allowed to each school. After all eight schools have gotten theirs, there are only a few that go on sale to the general public. The lucky ones who get tickets often sell them at outrageous prices, because most people will pay anything to get one of the precious tickets.

Most of the tickets that the schools get go to alumni and sup-

Part V of the FOCUS sponsored Racial Justice Seminars concerns "Blacks and Education." It will consist of a panel discussion by members of the local school board and teachers from the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County Schools. This will take place Tuesday, March 10 at 6:30 p.m. in Room 190 of the Fine Arts Center.

porters of the school, and often only a few students are able to attend the games. At one school a couple of years ago a drawing was held to decide which 25 students would be able to attend the games. Next year the tournament will move to Greensboro, which has a larger seating capacity. That will help some, but college basketball has grown so in popularity that tickets will still be hard to come by.

The NCAA regionals will be played the weekends of March 7 and March 12-14, with the finals in College Park, Maryland, on March 19-21. All totaled, there will be 15 teams participating in the NCAA semi-finals and finals. The NIT will have 16 teams for its tourney which begins on March 13 and continues until March 21. Most likely the finals of the NCAA tourney will feature Kentucky and UCLA, number one and two teams nationally.

Tournaments will begin soon in pro basketball, and they should be quite exciting. Also, anyone who follows her former high school teams should know that the high school tournaments began this weekend. High schools have gionals and then state finals there is a lot more basketball co ing up. This is the best time year to watch basketball on 1) because the tournament gam are usually the best ones to wa and 2) because the teams are pla ing their best possible games.
