

The Salemite

Volume LIII

Salem College, Winston-Salem, N. C., Friday, November 5, 1971

Number 13

Guess Who's Who's Who!

By Chris Moran

Who's who at Salem College? Ten outstanding Salem seniors have recently been added to the famed list of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Each one has been totally involved in the organizations and activities present on campus, and each is an example of a well-rounded Salem student.

Beth Bencini of High Point, N. C., is an art and history major and president of IRS. She was president of April Arts her junior year, and other activities include three years on YWCA cabinet, where she was treasurer and began a tutorial program on campus in conjunction with Hanes Junior High School, hall president, recipient last year of an honorable mention for her graphic work in the Katherine B. Rondthaler awards competition, sophomore class representative to the now-defunct ("thank goodness") class attendance committee, and an active member of the Bicentennial Art Committee. Two of her works last year were also chosen for the traveling graphic show of the Piedmont University Center. Describing herself as "a fanatic for art," Beth plans to attend graduate school "somewhere in New York" next year to earn a master's degree in hopes that someday she will be director of an art museum or gallery.

Laura Crumpler of Clinton, N. C., is a history major and current president of the Y.W.C.A. Her impressive list of activities includes vice-president of the Y cabinet, SNEA member, secretary of IRC, and member of the Assembly-Lecture Committee—all in her junior year. She was a 1971 Oslo Scholar and is presently a member of the history society, Phi Alpha Theta. Now pursuing her teacher's certificate, Laura plans to "work for the CIA or go to nursing school" sometime in the future.

Pierrettes' president Mary Davis describes herself as the "vivacious young star of Belmont and Salem College." A double art and math major, she has been involved with Pierrettes for four years, serving as president both her junior and senior years. She is a four-year member of Incunabula and began working with April Arts last year. Mary has been honored with membership in Alpha Psi Omega, the honorary dramatic fraternity, as well as the Order of the Scorpion, and was elected Feature Girl her junior year.

Eleanor Harrell, a psychology major from Wadesboro, N. C. is the present chairman of the Honor Council and a member of the selective Order of the Scorpion. She was her junior class vice-president, junior class Founder's Day chairman, judicial board member, and co-chairman of entertainment for the Sophomore Christmas Banquet. A member of the choral ensemble her freshman and sophomore years, she also participated in the Y tutorial program. Eleanor plans to attend graduate school in clinical psychology, hopes to teach on the college level, and would like to work in a child guidance clinic as well.

History major Susan Hendrick of Rutherfordton, N. C., has worked her way up from freshman class president to her current position as vice-president of the Student Government Association. She has been the sophomore legislative board representative, secretary of SGA, chairman of SSC and Interclub Council, and the chief light and sound operator in the FAC for three years. Currently working toward her secondary teaching certificate in hopes of teaching high school U. S. History, Susan plans to be married May 27, and is looking forward to eventually getting her masters degree in counseling.

Mary Pat Lennon of Lumberton, N. C., is a psychology major and member of the Order of the Scorpion. Her involvement with campus organizations and activities has included freshman, sophomore, and junior IRS representative, WRA, hall president, and house president of Gramley her junior year. She was a judicial board member last year and chairman of orientation her senior year. Mary Pat is interested in graduate school in clinical psychology and some day hopes to work with emotionally disturbed children.

Atlanta's Susan Lundeen, a history major and member of the Order of the Scorpion, is senior class president and holder of an impressive record of past activities. She was chairman of the sophomore Christmas Banquet, chairman of SSC, served on Leg. Board and Inter-Club Council, received academic class honors for 1970-71, and was elected Feature Girl her junior year. Susan is currently working on a proposed Parents' Weekend for the bicentennial, and is setting up a committee to review election procedures.

Chief bathroom cleaner and flower waterer in the 6th grade, Sandy McGlinn of Haverford, Pa., is the second yankee president of the Student Government Association—her sister Wendy was the first. An art major with minors in History and English, Sandy was Leg. Board class representative her junior year, art editor for Incunabula and class representative to WRA. She plans to attend either graduate school in art history or enroll in a physician assistant's program, always retaining her great interest in 19th century history of the theater.

Mary Salem of Havelock, N. C., is a sociology major interested in working with the blind. She is now doing some work in that area through several courses this semester, and will design a tour of Old Salem for the blind and visually handicapped as her January program. As a sophomore, Mary was a member of the Y cabinet and a Leg. Board representative. Her junior year she was secretary to the Judicial Board, and as a senior is a member of IRS and Sights and Insights.

Another senior from Atlanta, Leigh Wood is a math major and winner of the President's Prize in Mathematics in both 1970 and in 1971. She was a marshal her junior year, a member of the Bicentennial Conference Committee, Junior Class representative to, and treasurer of, IRS, senior class treasurer, and vice president of Biting. Leigh plans to go to graduate school in math in order to teach at the college level.

Who's who at Salem College? That's who!!

New Group Formed

By Nancy Sandidge

On Monday, October 25, the newly formed Recorder Ensemble elected its officers. They are Chairman—Donna Byrd, Vice-chairman—Susan Heaton, Secretary — Nancy Sandidge, and Music librarian—Winky Vass.

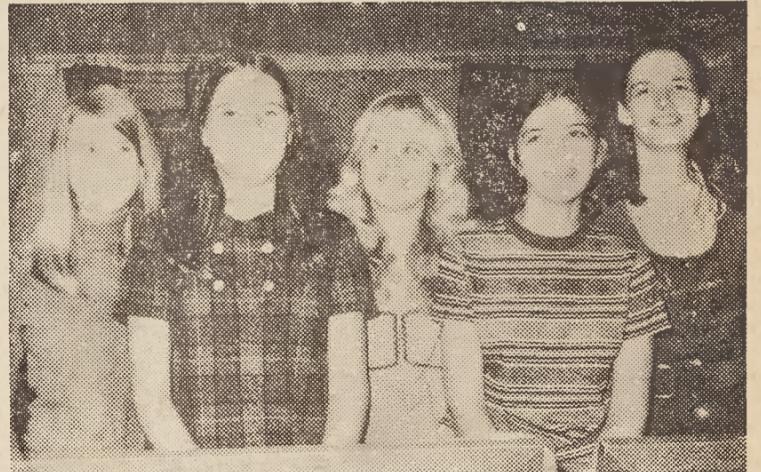

The Recorder Ensemble meets on Tuesdays at 5:00 p.m. and has another meeting at 6:30 p.m. They are offering instruction to those who have never played as well as an opportunity to play in an ensemble for those who can play. The instructors are Stieneke Poot and Donna Byrd. Anyone who is interested is invited to come. The plans now are to learn as much music as possible and hopefully to perform for the school.

ON THE INSIDE

Joanna Feathers'one should not be missed! Page 3

Three exciting new columns. Pages 2, 3 and 4

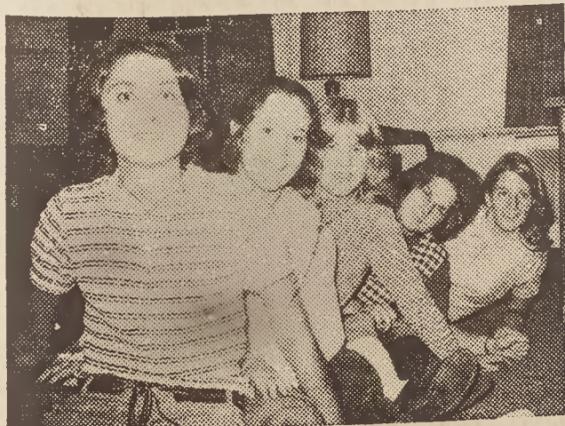

Pierrettes prepare for opening. Page 2

Mary Pat Lennon, Laura Crumpler, Beth Bencini, Mary Salem and Susan Hendrick are new members of Who's Who.

Coming Events

- Nov. 1-30 Mini zoo
Friendly wild and domestic animals to see and touch
Nature Science Museum
Reynolda Village
Mon.-Sat. 9-5 725-0591
- Nov. 1-27 Art exhibit
Salem College — FAC
Faculty Show—Virginia Western Community College
Myron Brody—Sculpture
Richard Hough—Photography
- Nov. 1-14 Drawings from Dante—The Divine Comedy
Leonard Baskin
DeTamble Gallery
Tribble Gallery—WFU
- Nov. 5-6 Piedmont Craftsmen's Fair
10 a.m.-9 p.m.
Coliseum
- Nov. 5-8 The Little Foxes by Lillian Hellman
10-13 Drama Theatre
NCSA
8:15 p.m.
- Nov. 8 Not Without Laughter
Black Literature
Joanna Feathers'one
Salem College—Hanes
8 p.m.
- Nov. 8 Camille
WFU film series
8:15 p.m.
- Nov. 9 Chamber Concert
American Guild of Organists
Bethabara Moravian Church
7:30 p.m.
- Nov. 9 Marcel Marceau
Pantomimist
WFU series
8:15 Wait Chapel
- Nov. 10 Nosferatu
WFU film series
8 p.m.
- Nov. 12 NCSA Orchestra
Nicholas Harscuyi
Main Auditorium
8:15 p.m.
- Nov. 12 My Fair Lady
7:00, 9:30
WFU film series

Leigh Wood, Eleanie Harrell, Sandy McGlinn, Mary Davis, and Susan Lundeen have joined the ranks of Who's Who.