Students Polish Exam Cram Art

The Salemite wishes to give the student body some helpful hints for studying for examinations. We hope everybody has a productive time and that all grades are great.

* * * * *

1. Be sure to study in areas that are well-lighted, which may exclude dormitory rooms. This is to be able to read all the fine print in the footnotes of those books, rather than to protect your eyes.

2. Try to start studying one subject at a time, and by all means do not attempt to study several topics. This is so you can throw away finished notes and forget the material of one subject before studying for another.

3. Get plenty of rest, preferably regularly. This is necessary for escaping your surroundings whenever the work becomes too much to bear. Such as every afternoon, after dinner, 10 hours at night . . .

4. Eat regular meals. We don't want anyone becoming exhausted by hard study and test-taking. Who cares if some statistics show that people think better when they are slightly hungry; eating is part of an oral fixation in which we can acquire security from putting something into our mouths.

5. Read a couple of dirty books, the December Cosmopolitan and other mags. Suggestions for books are Harold Robbins' The Betsy, The Sensuous Couple. This is to get the mind off of campus hangups ?

6. Turn to meditation of the desired sort: a.) Zen Buddhism b.) Bible study and prayer c.) transcendentalism d.) reading the Wisdom of Confucius. This is to alleviate mental and spiritual tensions and to make points with the Big One of your choice.

7. If all else fails (ha, ha), pack up your bags and leave. GOOD LUCK TO ALL!

Christmas Creativity

EMBROIDERY, CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS, WOOD MATERIALS, HOME CRAFTS -

This week the Senior Class is sponsoring a Christmas Bazaar. All items sold at the Bazaar are made by members of the Senior Class and have been priced reasonably for pinched pocketbooks. This is a project for the class to raise money for various necessities, and the Senior Class hopes that everyone will want to come and see how talented the girls can be. The Christmas Bazaar will be held in Biting Dormitory early this week (probably Tuesday, December 5). Check your bulletin boards for the exact date and times, and SUPPORT THE SENIOR CLASS!!
