

arts and entertainment

Restaurants

By Marilyn Mycoff

Mama's Coming! Mama's Coming! This is how the newspaper advertisements read before the opening of Winston-Salem's newest restaurant. Now Mama's here. Mama's Kitchen began serving about a month ago at their location on Stratford Road near Thruway Shopping Center.

Mr. Ray Goad Sr., who has been in the restaurant business for 20 years, started Mama's Kitchen with a different idea for serving the public. It's a combination of a cafeteria-fast food service restaurant offering from hot dogs to shrimp dinners with barbecue, salads and homemade pies in between. Mama's is also open for breakfast starting at 6:30 a.m. and serving pancakes, eggs, homemade biscuits and country ham and sausage.

Mr. Goad said they have tried to make Mama's Kitchen a fun place to go that caters to all ages and types of people. He feels as if business is good with hundreds of people repeating their visits. They have made an attempt at atmosphere with a player piano playing popular tunes in the background and a popcorn machine and penny candy as you check out.

Mama's Kitchen is open until 10:00 p.m. during the week and midnight on the weekends.

WINES

The latest trend on college campuses is to sip and study the wines of California.

More than 200 wine appreciation courses are now offered in connection with colleges and universities, and there are probably 600 campuses where wine studies go on, according to Wine Institute, the association of California wine growers.

On many campuses, wine has become a standard part of the curriculum in home economics, chemistry, botany, biology, geography, and sociology.

Wine Institute cites several contributing causes for the wine studies boom. First, college instructors and administrators want to make their courses more appealing to students. And, since there's plenty of history, science and technology involved in the story of wine, it's easy to relate to other college studies.

As for college students, Wine Institute speculates that they are flocking to wine courses because:

— Wine is an important part of cultures and traditions that students admire.

— California wines offer more diversity and appeal than ever before, providing something to suit everyone's taste.

— Wine is a gift of nature, increasingly viewed as a natural, healthful, moderate beverage. College students are interested in natural foods and beverages.

Wine Institute reports hundreds of requests from educators for information on teaching about wine. To fill the need, a Wine on Campus Packet has been designed to assist in implementing or continuing any wine-related activity in an educational setting. The packet includes helpful hints for getting a wine course going, a discussion of teaching techniques to encourage the proper use of wine, and an outline and syllabus for an introductory course. Also in the packet are suggestions for starting a wine and food program, and for fitting wine into existing college curricula.

Single copies are available free to educators from Wine Institute at 165 Post Street, San Francisco, California 94108.

BOOKS

By Sarah Fox

If you are looking for cheap books or a good novel the place to go is the Goodwill Bookstore which has recently opened in Winston-Salem. The store has a vast number of used books in good condition and from many categories. There are excellent American History volumes with beautiful paintings, a full table of Reader's Digest condensations, many literature anthologies, an entire wall of various sets of encyclopedias, text books of all subjects, and many children's books. You can also find books dealing with medicine, economics, science, math, languages, education, biography and psychology. The novel selections are of a long range from classics, romances, histories, mysteries to best sellers. There is a wide range of paperbacks and magazines.

The prices on all books are low. Paperbacks are thirty-five, fifty, and seventy-five cents while hardbacks range from seventy-five cents to five dollars.

The store is located at the Goodwill Industrial Complex next to Groves Stadium in the lower level. The store hours are from 9:30 to 5:00 weekdays. So if you are looking for a bargain in books check it out!

CRAFT SHOP

By Sarah Jane Parsons

The North Carolina League of Creative Arts and Crafts, Inc. is located in a brown brick building with black shutters in what is known as the GastHaus parking lot on the corner of Brookstown Ave. and Old Salem Rd. Mrs. Wilson Place is responsible for the planning and birth of the Arts League which she says "involved a lot of details and dead end streets," she added that she has worked for a month and a half, 24 hours per day. Mr. Place worked at Salem as the business manager until a few years ago when he left to work at Guilford College.

The North Carolina League of Creative Arts and Crafts Inc. consists of 13 types of artists including potters, weavers, painters, and photographers. Between 60 and 70 artists will have spaces in the building where they will work, instruct, and sell their finished product. There is a minister who does leaded glass and a doctor who is a photographer. Salem alumna Mary Dashtiehl has a space for her pottery and Mr. Shewmake's work is also displayed at the League.

Many of the people, including

EXHIBITS

By Debbi Waldron

To some students, members of the faculty are only professors who pass the knowledge they learned in college on to students. However, many students don't realize that professors are still attending school, studying, and developing their own talents. One example of a professor involved in outside interests is Mr. Bill Mangum.

Mr. Mangum is an art professor here at Salem. Not only does he share his talents with his students, but during the month of October, he will also be sharing them with the public. From October 1 to the 31st Mr. Mangum will be showing his art work at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington. His show will feature drawings, paintings, and sculptures.

The paintings being shown are mainly landscapes. Mr. Mangum said that the landscapes are mostly imagined. This means that he paints them from ideas rather than actual settings.

The two types of sculptures that will be shown are wood carvings and plaster-cast. When Mr. Mangum begins a wood sculpture, he has no idea what the finished product will be like. He studies the original shape of the wood and begins carving. He tries to follow the natural curves as closely as he can. The finished product is thus a more artistic interpretation of the piece of wood.

Mr. Mangum's plaster sculptures are made from ideas thought out beforehand. Some of the sculptures are taken from previous drawings done by him.

This drawing is among the works exhibited by Bill Mangum in Wilmington.

Photo by L. Day

OCTOBER EVENTS

- 17-11/2 "Funny Girl" presented by the Little Theatre Inc. 8:15 p.m. (Sundays 3:15) Arts Council Theatre — Hanes Community Center, 610 Coliseum Drive. Call 725-4001 or 723-1666.
- 17 Concert by North Carolina School of the Arts Orchestra, Hanes Auditorium, Salem College Fine Arts Center, 8:15 p.m. Call 784-7843 or 723-1666.
- 19-30 One Man Show by Jesse Goslen, sponsored by Art Gallery Originals, 120 Reynolda Village, opening reception 10/19: 2-5 p.m. Regular gallery hours: Mon. - Sat.: 10-5; Sun.: 2-5. Call 723-9075.
- 20 Writer's Club — for persons exploring their potential as writers, sponsored by Forsyth Public Library, Main Auditorium, 660 West 5th Street, 7:30.
- 21 Film Series — "O'Henry's Full House." Marilyn Monroe, Fred Allen and many more stars in an anthology of O'Henry short stories, sponsored by the Forsyth County Public Library.
- 21 & 28 Lecture: "Chinese Influence on the Decorative Arts" by Dorothy Welker. Museum of Early Southern Decorative Arts, Old Salem, 8:00 p.m. Call 722-6148.
- 23 "Presidency Re-examined" with Dr. David Olson, Chairman of the Political Science Department at UNC-G and Dr. Cleveland Williams, Professor of Political Science at Winston-Salem State University. This program is sponsored by the League of Women Voters and will be presented on October 23rd at 3:30. Call Gail Fisher at 722-0732.
- 26-11/9 New Exhibiting Member Invitational — sponsored by Associated Artists of Winston-Salem, Arts Council Gallery, Hanes Community Center, opening reception 10/26: 1-3 p.m. Regular gallery hours: Mon.-Fri.: 9-5 p.m. Call 723-9075.
- 28 Bach Aria Group — Sam Barron, flute; Robert Bloom, oboe; Norman Farrow, bass-baritone; Bernard Greenhouse, cello; Lorna Haywood, soprano; Seth McCoy, tenor; Louis Marshall, alto; Charles Treyer, violin; Yehudi Wyner, piano and organ, Wake Forest University Artists Series, Wait Chapel, 8:15 p.m. Call 725-9711 ext. 410.
- 28 "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari" and "The Phantom of the Opera" with Lon Chaney. Two of the greatest silent horror films. Main Library auditorium. 7:30 p.m.
- 30-11/2 "Caucasian Chalk Circle" — major drama production by North Carolina School of the Arts, de Mille Theatre, 8:15 p.m. Tickets on sale at Arts Council Box Office. Call 723-1666.
- 30 Wake Forest Chamber Music Society Concert — featuring Paula Robison flutist, Reynolda House, Reynolda Village, 8:15. Call 748-2482.

If home cookin' suits your taste,
at
CLOVERDALE KITCHEN
no money you'll waste.

CLOVERDALE SHOPPING CENTER