

Psychology Club

By Lynn Knox

The psychology club is a relatively new club on campus which was formed and began last year. The club is open to all students, according to club president, Anna Rice, and it meets every other Thursday in room 322 in the Fine Arts Center.

The club's activities include speakers, field trips, and providing relevant information to those students interested in pursuing a career in psychology. At present they are looking into the student chapter on personnel administration at Wake Forest since some psychology majors may want to go into this type of work.

Other future activities of the club include forming study groups for GRE's and possibly attending various seminars in the psychology field at Wake Forest University.

Last year the club sponsored a field trip to Mandala—a private psychiatric hospital here in Winston-Salem and heard a speaker on transcendental meditation. Possible field trips and speakers have not been set yet but are in the planning stages. Possible speakers include Dr. Don Everhart, a part-time professor at Salem this semester who will speak on industrial psychology.

Attendance has been picking up and we really hope to get things going. It sounds like a lot of interesting experiences and information are in store (especially for you psych. majors!) this year, so we hope to see you there.

Scandinavian Seminar Applications Available

Scandinavian Seminar is now accepting applications for its study abroad program in Denmark, Finland, Norway, or Sweden for the academic year 1976-77. This living-and-learning experience is designed for college students, graduates and other adults who want to become part of another culture while acquiring a second language.

An initial 3 weeks language course, followed by a family stay whenever possible, will give the student opportunity to practice the language on a daily basis and to share in the life of the community. For the major part of the year he is separated from his fellow American students, living and studying among Scandinavians at a "People's College" (residential school for continuing adult education) or some other specialized institution.

All Seminar students participate in the Introductory, Midyear and Final Sessions, where matters related to their studies, experiences and individual progress are reviewed and discussed. The focus of the Scandinavian Seminar program is an Independent Study Project in the student's own field of interest. An increasing number of American colleges and universities are giving full or partial credit for the Seminar year.

The fee, covering tuition, room, board, one-way group transportation from New York and all course-connected travels in Scandinavia is $3,800. A limited number of scholarship loans are available.

Salem Co-op Aids Faculty

By Mary Denson Abbitt

Through the cooperation of Epicure Incorporated and Jim Robinson with the faculty and staff of Salem College, a food service known as the Salem Co-Op has been established. The purpose of the Salem Co-Op is simple: to provide interested faculty and staff members with food at the same low bulk rate which is provided the college.

It was established that the Salem Co-Op originated at the request of a faculty member who had been familiar with a previous unsuccessful attempt to establish a food service. After an agreement earlier this year with Mr. Robinson to provide food purchased at the bulk rate with no profit for himself or Epicure, interested faculty members organized the ordering and distributing procedure. Weekly now, order blanks are given to the faculty and staff with a food and price list. These orders are turned in to Mr. Robinson who includes these orders in the regular Salem order. Each week when the food comes in, one participating faculty or staff member is designated as grocer. The duty of the grocer is to distribute and bag the food so that it may be picked up with little trouble in the Club Dining Room on the designated day.

At the present time only meats, breads, and eggs are available for purchase; however, with the continuing success of the Salem Co-Op, more variety and other food stuffs may be included. Currently, with the fifteen to twenty per cent weekly savings, the future of the Salem Co-Op is bright.

Danforth Fellowship

By Kim Nelson

Two Salem students, Heather Hayes and Mandy Lyerly, have been named nominees for the Danforth Fellowship.

The Danforth Graduate Fellowship Program is a fellowship awarded to 65 seniors who are nominated from various colleges and universities in the U.S. and Canada. Its basic purpose is to encourage outstanding seniors who wish to become teachers and to strengthen secondary and higher education by assisting persons who are interested in leadership positions in colleges and universities.

Students who are chosen for the fellowships are judged on intellectual ability, promise of scholarly contributions, academic and social responsibility, and personal characteristics and intellectual curiosity. Dr. Hill, Salem's officer for the fellowship, is in charge of interviewing prospective nominees and notifying the nominees when they have been selected. The two girls chosen must send in applications, letters of recommendation, and Graduate Record Examination scores. The nominees are chosen as finalists and they will be notified in January and participate in group interviews. The winners are announced in February or March.

The fellowship is good for a year and is renewable for a maximum of four years of study in graduate school. It is quite an honor to be nominated for the Danforth Fellowship, and Heather and Mandy represent our school well as outstanding seniors. Heather is a classics major, and Mandy will major in both English and classics.
