BODYCRAFT GALERIES 409 West End Boulevard Winston Salem 722-4396

The 14th annual Piedmont Crafts Fair will be held this year on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, Nov. 4-6 at Memorial Coliseum in Winston-Salem.

Crafts Fair

Set For Nov.

The work of some 150 master craftsmen covering a wide range of contemporary crafts will be on exhibit and sale from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday and from 1-6 p.m. on Sunday.

Only crafts of the highest quality are on exhibit and sale since a craftsman can participate only if he or she is an exhibiting member of Piedmont Craftsmen, Inc. To become an exhibiting member a craftsman must have his work accepted by the ninemember Standards Committee of PCI. Crafts on sale at the Fair are further reviewed by the Standards Committee to insure their continued excellence. Excellence of craftsmanship and creativity of design are the principal ingredients sought by the committee.

In all instances the booths are manned by the craftsmen themselves, so spectators and buyers can discuss the crafts with their designers and creators.

Some 50 different crafts will be represented. These include pottery, weaving, glass, wood, jewelry, photographs, prints, macrame, batik, iron work, leather, stitchery, book binding, quilting, enameling, and baskets.

In addition to the craftsmen's exhibits, there will be live entertainment, a sidewalk cafe, demonstrations by master craftsmen, and educational exhibits.

By Rebecca Dunbar

Homecrafts is different. Located next to Aquarius 2000 in Stratford Center, the store was started about five years ago by several people including the present owner, poet Maria Ingram. The atmosphere at Homecrafts is unique. The walls of the main room are lined with glass jars containing a large selection of herbs and spices. Where else can one find frankincense and myrrh or tanka beans, which smell like vanilla and are carried in South America as good-luck charms? On the center table are more glass jars — these filled with dried fruits, including pineapple. Baskets on the floor contain interesting snack foods — mixtures of dried fruit and nuts including dried bana chips. (Both the pineapple and the banana chips have been served at certain private parties at Salem with great success).

The entire shop is permeated with the smell of roasting coffee. When Homecrafts opened, it was the only store in the Southeast which roasted its own coffee, and it is the coffee, probably more than any other product, which has attracted people to Homecrafts. One can find Brazilian, Columbian, Mexican, Scandinavian, and Costa Rican blends, as well as many others. There is also a decaffinated blend.

From the coffee room, one enters the cheese room where the large wheels are kept refrigerated. Cheese is important to Homecrafts. The store was origianlly started for cheese-making when it was discovered that there was no place in the country to buy cheese-making supplies. But, according to Ms. Ingram, "Time has redefined us." The store has expanded and become more diversified, and the cheese is now made by a family in Wisconsin and shipped to Homecrafts. Homecrafts also sells wines, all of which are approved by a wine-tasting board composed of three gentlemen in town.
