

To The Editor...

Dear Editor,

On the Sunday we returned from Fall Break I made a careless move and later suffered the consequences of it. I drove up to the Post Office to pick up my mail. I got out of my car, ran inside, picked up my mail, ran back to my car, and drove off. It was not until an hour or so later that I realized my purse was missing. I knew immediately what had happened: someone had been lurking in the darkness around the area, waiting for a careless student. When I left my car momentarily, this person grabbed my purse and ran.

It was my fault for not thinking about my action beforehand. I hope this letter serves to warn other students so they won't make the same mistake.

SAB Discusses Plans For January Term

SAB held its regularly scheduled meeting this Wednesday at the Back Door. A large attendance almost matched the breadth of the discussions.

Caroline Wannamker, SAB chairman, is working on strengthening the clubs on campus by having them set goals and work together to achieve them. Management workshops for organization members are in the planning stage.

Jean Fleming reported on the progress of the student center. Administration is planning to join with students in making it an integral part of Salem life. Plans for a beer license, snack bar, television and refurnishing are under way. Everyone has been encouraged by a growing student response to the project.

The main topic of discussion at the meeting concerned plans for January term. SAB is encouraging all clubs to offer various activities during the month. Lectures, concerts, ski weekends, outings to restaurants and places of interest are being suggested as possible club sponsored events. A calendar of the month's activities will be published prior to the beginning of the term.

If you have any suggestions concerning January events, please contact Caroline Wannamaker.

Film Festival More Than Nostalgic

Lecture Assembly featured on Wednesday the 8th the first of the "Nostalgic" film festival programs. John McElwee a law student at Wake Forest and American film expert is presenting the film series at Salem.

After a humorous discourse on films: past and present, Mr. McElwee showed several vintage cartoons and a reel of Clark Gable movie rushes. Though the audience was small, response to the presentation was very enthusiastic.

Mr. McElwee plans to continue the film series with more lectures and films such as; Gone With the Wind, Casablanca, Old Yeller, The Maltese Falcon and two Alfred Hitchcock thriller.

Lecture Assembly would like to encourage more students and faculty to attend the presentations and take advantage of this rare opportunity to enjoy and learn about the best of American films.
