Volleyball

Salem's volleyball team is also starting its 1982 season with a new coach, Ms. Sarah Scranton. Ms. Scranton is a new part-time instructor in Physical Education. Besides the volleyball team, she will also coach Salem's tennis team. Ms. Scranton is optimistic about the team. She hopes that in a few years, it will be one of the top teams in the Division III, A.I.A.W. League.

Members of the team are: Seniors: Nina Anderson, Amanda Mays, Kelly Corpening, Sharon Hartzog;

Gym and pool

Renovation of the old gym has been moved in and all minor maintenance details taken care of.

In the future, outdoor furniture and planters will be placed on the walkway between the Academy and College.

Renovation of the old gym is tentatively planned to begin in the next 1½ to 2 years. Its renovation will provide better facilities for various club meetings and new recreational areas and lounges to be made available also.

Juniors: Shawn Dunagan, Catherine Ghoneim, Valerie Riebel, Kelly Carpenter; Sophomores: Alice Griffin, Kathy Humphries, Shearin Mlsna, and Freshmen: Nancy Allen and Julie Harrower.

Coach Scranton describes the team as very hard-working, enthusiastic, with a willingness to learn, and to give 100 percent. The team practices 1½ hours five days a week.

Lecture-Assembly

"The Best of Times, the Worst of Times"

Lecture-Assembly Committee has adopted "The Best of Times, the Worst of Times" from Charles Dickens' classic, A Tale of Two Cities as the theme for the Fall, 1982 series. Topics scheduled for discussion this fall will range from the arts to the sciences.

Dr. Jerry Pubantz, associate professor of Political Science opened the series on Thursday, Sept. 9 with a lecture entitled "The Boiling Cauldron: Update on the Middle East." As attendance for this first lecture was encouragingly high, the Lecture-Assembly Committee is excited and optimistic for the rest of the series.

The Rev. Bill Gramley, son of Dr. Dale Gramley, president emeritus and father of freshman, Lois Gramley, discussed "Nuclear Disarmament" at the second lecture yesterday.

The next scheduled lecture is a discussion of Central America by a representative of the State Department on Sept. 23, 1 p.m. in the Library Assembly Room.

In cooperation with Salem

College, the Winston-Salem

Junior League is sponsoring a fall celebrity Lecture Series. Lecturers will feature: George Gallup, Jr., president of the Gallup Polls; Vincent Bugliosi, prosecutor of Charles Manson; John Dancy, NBC News White House correspondent; and author, George Plimpton.

Two hundred Salem students will be able to attend the lectures - fifty students per lecture. The students will be randomly selected from the sign-up sheets by a computer.

New Library Procedures

As a result of a student body questionnaire taken last fall, Gramley Library has instituted new procedures.

The questionnaire was developed by both Gramley Library administration and Honor Council to recognize problems that students had concerning the library and its procedures. The increasing problem of "missing" books and periodicals was the impetus behind the questionnaire.

Dr. Rose Simon, Director of Gramley Library explained that there was not so much a problem with "absolute theft," but more a problem of a book not being there when it was needed by another student.

Dr. Simon wants to give the Honor Code a chance to work and is therefore reluctant to have guards on duty or a checking system installed. Because Gramley is one of the few college libraries without guards, Simon hopes student negligence will not have to result in stricter enforcement.

To discourage further negligence, the library has adopted new procedures. Overdue book fines have been reduced from ten cents a day to five cents a day.

Another change is the reduced fee for the Xerox machine from ten cents a copy to five cents a copy. Dr. Simon hopes the reduced fee will be incentive for students to copy periodicals instead of taking them from the library.

When a book is missing from the stacks, the librarians have no way of knowing that the book is "missing" without students' help. Dr. Simon would like to encourage students to ask about missing books. If a book has not been checked out and is not in the stacks, students will be asked to fill out a missing book card at the front desk.

Dr. Simon has faith in the Honor Code system in the library, "the reasons for the system make things workable for all people we serve." The system will not fail if students are less negligent and more considerate of library materials.

Fall Fest

Fall Fest 1982 is just around the corner. On Monday, Sept. 27, we will celebrate "that Salem Spirit" with a day of games, songs, laughter, and maybe even a few tears.

Fall Fest, which began as a Founder's Day celebration, provides opportunities for freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors to express their feelings about, and loyalty to Salem. The overall theme this year is "Salem spirit throughout the year," and each class will be representing Salem Spirit during a specific season.

Judging is based on decorations, costumes, games, and skits. Students are asked to please observe drinking regulations.

Leigh Flippin, chairman of Fall Fest, has arranged the following schedule for the day:

Early A.M. - Seniors awaken underclassmen.

8:45 a.m. - Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors go to breakfast.

10:30 a.m. - Entrance, in-FAC parking lot.

12:00 noon - Lunch in Salem Square

2:00 p.m. - Games, on the Archery Field, and at the pool, if possible.

5:30 p.m. - Dinner in the Refectory.

7:00 p.m. - Class skits in Hanes
