Salem Students Need to Think of Others Rather Than Themselves

I, Susie Salem, do not understand some of the student body.

On Tuesday, October 30, little boys and girls were seen dressed up in costumes roaming around Salem. They were going from dorm to dorm trick-or-treating. However, when they entered some dorms there were only one or two people who had signed up to distribute candy to them.

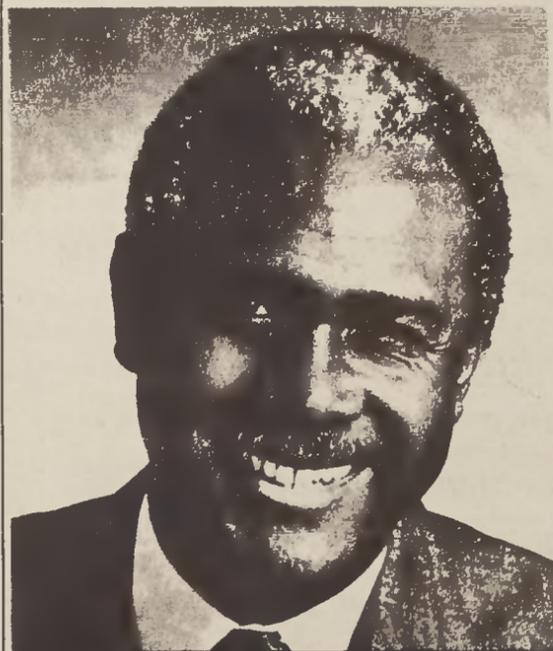

People at Salem put a lot of time and energy into setting up these events for students and the little kids.

Most people had excuses that they were too busy. Yes, too busy getting ahead. Well, it's great to get ahead, but you must think of the kids who might not even have an opportunity to get ahead. Unfortunately, they were born into this world less fortunate than you. They are starting at the bottom and trying to move up. You at least have the advantage of starting in the middle. These kids look up to us, but what do we show them? We show them that we are uncaring and too caught up in ourselves. We are not the role models we should be.

We all need to take a little time to stop and think. There are other things more important than ourselves and our frivolous issues. Service to the community is important. Once in a while, we should think of others before we think of ourselves.
