

JUNIORS GIVE BANQUET AT CHERRY HOTEL

Seniors were guests of the juniors at the annual junior-senior banquet held in the Cherry Hotel, April 14.

Toastmaster Willis Manning introduced the theme of the program, "The Message of the Candles." Messengers were Sallie Lou Perry, Margaret Brown, Lucille Finch, Jewel Bisette, Jaxie Royce Pace, Ramonia Lamm, and Florence Joyner. Decorations of candles added to the theme portrayed. Toasts were given by Dan Johnson, Philip Stone, and Principal M.W. Weaver.

SPECIAL MUSIC

Instrumental music was rendered by Jessie Haskins and Jack Farmer, and the singing by Easter Pearl Bailey, Susie Gay Boykin, and James Haskins.

Special guests were grademothers and high school faculty.

M. Brown Merits Award

After reading the BUGLE every month, an aunt of Margaret Brown's sent her a letter containing a ten-dollar check and these remarks: "I like your school paper, Margaret, and note with pride that you have made the honor roll every month. This small check is to show my appreciation for something you should be proud of."

Bugle Wins First Place For Third Straight Year

Among mimeograph papers of its classification throughout the nation, the Bailey Bugle again rated first place in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association newspaper contest.

Bailey entered its paper in the contest for the first time in 1942 and has won first place every year since.

In order to win a first place rating, it is necessary to get at least 850 points out of a possible 1000.

Last year nine hundred and two points were made, but the exact rating this year has not yet been received.

Seniors Making B- To Be Exempted

At the last meeting of the high school faculty it was decided that all seniors averaging a B- will be exempted from examinations.

Those not meeting the requirements will take their examinations on May 3 and 4.

Special senior privileges permit class members not to attend school after examinations except the appointed time for practicing the class day exercises.

Commencement exercises will begin Sunday morning, May 7, at eleven o'clock with the baccalaureate sermon by Dr. Cecil A. Jarman of the Christian church, Wilson, followed by class day exercises Monday evening at eight-thirty, and the commencement address by Mr. Fred W. Greene, secretary of N.C.E.A., Tuesday night at eight-thirty o'clock.

CLASS EXERCISES

Mrs. James Murray will have charge of the special music on Sunday morning.

Class day exercises portray "The Valiant Heart" of the American people, emphasizing the growth of its virtues and qualities, and presenting the history in tableau of The Military Order of the Purple Heart.

Marshals will be Florence Joyner, chief, Margaret Brown, Sallie Lou Perry, and Dan Johnson.
