

Classrooms Become Work Shops

Woodburning, erecting frontier scenes, building bird houses, making rag and paper dolls, constructing church windows, and making "get well cards" and P. T. A. posters are a few of the projects being carried out by the elementary grades.

Mrs. R. G. I. Edwards's eighth grade has been making wall plaques out of old apple boxes. Each member of the class drew a design on a plaque and then burned it into the wood. Designs used were a motif of North Carolina, the state bird, and the state flower.

By using geometric figures, Mrs. Edwards's class also designed church windows.

A miniature frontier scene has been constructed by Mrs. Doris Parker's sixth and seventh grade. The scene includes a log cabin, several Indian tents, and a covered wagon.

Mrs. Floribelle Bynum's first graders are making bird houses and studying the habits of birds. The class has also planted beans, corn, and carrots in ine cream cups and are watching the young plants grow.

Rag dolls are being fashioned by Miss Myrtle Sessoms's third grade, while Mrs. Rudolph Glover's second and third grade constructed dolls out of colored paper.

Mrs. Glover's class is also making "get well cards" to send to sick members of the class.

Posters announcing March Open House were drawn by Mrs. M. W. Weaver's fourth graders.

Trees Bud, Cars Race In Class Work

To give variety to class-work Mrs. Doris Parker's sixth and seventh spelling class is holding a spelling race, while Mrs. Catherine Brigman's reading class supplies the leaves for a tree.

If a student in Mrs. Parker's class makes a hundred on spelling form a week, his car goes forward a block on the graft; if he misses as many as three words, his car is moved backward one block.

The tree in Mrs. Brigman's room gains a leaf every time a student reads aloud with out missing a word.

The last Friday of each month is party day in Mrs. Brigman's room. On this day a party is given for the students having birthdays during the month.

"The less one has to do, the less time one finds to do it in."

COMING TO THE BAILEY THEATER

MY FAVORITE SPY
Sun.-Mon., March 30-31

CAPT. HORATIO HORNBLOWER
Wed.-Thur., April 2-3

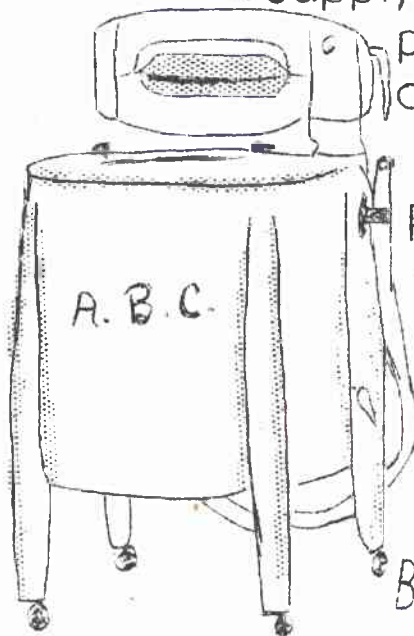

PAINTING THE CLOUDS
WITH SUNSHINE
Sun.-Mon., April 6-7

NO HIGHWAY IN THE SKY
Tues., April 8

FORCE OF ARMS
Wed.-Thur., April 9-10
Week Shows Will

Begin At 7:30
After April 1st.

FREE Delivery
Supply of TIDE washing powder with purchase of A.B.C. washing machine

Philco appliances:
Refrigerators
Radios
Freezers
Television sets
at

Bailey Furniture Co.