

Fashions and Fads... VIVIAN GLOVER

I am very happy to have the opportunity again this year to pass along to you fashion news and ideas.

STOLES

Stoles, handed down from our grandmothers' generation, are now the height of fashion. They are to be treasured both for their decorative qualities and their practicability. Stoles give to the most basic sheath an air of feminine sophistication. MISS OGLESBY and LOUISE WELLS have brought this trend to Bailey High. Stoles may be worn to the "swankiest" formal or the "toughest" football game, depending upon their style.

NEW MATERIALS

Many synthetic fibers are now being produced in our chemical laboratories. These fibers, woven into beautiful orlon, nylon, acetate, and decron materials, are much more wearable.

Some fine qualities of these materials are that

Queens Will Compete In Harvest Festival

Judy Lamm, junior, and Mrs. J. M. Burgess, Miss and Mrs. Bailey, will compete in the Nash County Harvest Festival at Nashville, October 6, for the title of Miss and Mrs. Harvest Festival Queens.

Runner-ups for these honors were Vivian Glover, senior, and Mrs. Eugene Finch.

Five members of the Lions Club served as judges in the Bailey competitive-queen contest.

The Bailey nominees will be entered with many other contestants seeking the Harvest title.

they wash beautifully, dry quickly, shed wrinkles, and wear like a dream. School clothes for boys and girls will be just perfect made from these materials.
