

Hi, Sports Fans:

I'm sure all of you have met our new coach and would like to know more about him.

Woodrow Hillis Westall comes from Black Mountain, North Carolina. He is the only boy in his family of seven girls.

After graduating from high school, he decided to attend the University of North Carolina to further his education and become a physical education teacher. At the present time he is working for his Master's Degree at the University and hopes to get this degree by completing his last six weeks of school the first part of next summer.

This makes his fourth year of teaching.

Venturing over to Red Springs, North Carolina; he courted Susan Duncan, and in December of 1937 they were married. They now have an eightmonth old son, Woodrow Hillis Westall, Jr., called Hillis.

ADDED TEACHER POSSIBILITY

The present high school enrollment would entitle the high school to an additional teacher next year if students would remain in school regularly, declares the principal.

New Coach Divulges Future Plans

Coming from Columbia, North Carolina, where he taught physical education, the new coach, W. H. Westall, reveals his future plans for the students' wishing to try for the basketball squad.

"Since I don't know any of these students or anything about them, the way they come to practice and the way they shoot, dribble, and pass will in a large measure affect my decision as to the players for the varsity team," states the coach.

He further adds that if it's all right he plans girls' practice in the afternoon and the boys' at night, as it has been in the past.

TOURNAMENTS

The coach is hoping to play the class tournaments the first week of October. The following week he would like to start his regular practice for the squad.

"In order to keep the players in good shape and interested in winning, practice may be every day," says the coach.

Ambition Becomes Fact

When asked her purpose for taking bookkeeping, Mrs. Luther Batts, a special student of the bookkeeping class, replied, "I have no purpose, only an interest in it."

She further stated that it had long been her desire to learn bookkeeping, but when she was attending school it wasn't offered. Mrs. Batts took typing and shorthand during the 1951-'53 school year.

Girls Lead In H.S. Enrollment

"It's tit for tat", says the senior sponsor, "as to the comparison of the enrollment between the boys and girls of this class. There are 17 girls and 16 boys."

The ninth grade, section A, has practically a duplicate record of the seniors, as there are 19 girls and 17 boys.

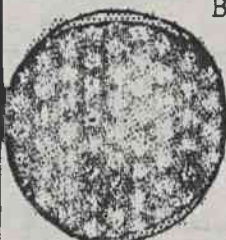

In the entire high school the girls have an edge on the boys by 13.
