

Elementary Grades Busy With Varied Project

Activities centering around projects are keeping students in the elementary grades busy this reporter discovered as she visited each room.

Farm animals are becoming the recognized "friends" of Mrs. Florabelle Bynum's first graders this month. Various farm animals have been colored, cut out, and them pasted on a large piece of cardboard.

DOLL SHOW SCHEDULED

Costumes of pioneer days will again become in vogue when the girls in Miss Clea Eatmon's class have their doll show. Each doll will be dressed in some costume representing the clothing of early Americans. The boys of this room are making bird houses to be kept on display.

A STUDY OF TEETH

Besides decorating the room for Thanksgiving, the students of Mrs. Sarah S. May's class have had a unit on teeth. In addition to making drawings of the teeth, the unit included the care of the teeth and the structure of the teeth.

PIONEER DAYS RELIVED

Indian projects take Mrs. Olivia P. Barnes' class back to the days of Indians with their wigwams, deerskin clothing, and arrowhead weapons. To help in their study, students have co-operated by making wigwams, dressing dolls in Indian clothes, and bringing arrowheads to school.

LIZARD FINDS HOME

Mrs. Rudolph Glover's class has given a tiny tree lizard a home. When one of the boys brought him to school, the class made him a home in a jar and since then has made a study of its habits.

CLUB NAMED

Mary High, a student in Mrs. Harvey Evans' room, won a box of candy when the class had a contest to name its club. Each student suggested a name to be voted on. Mary's name, Junior B, won the vote, thereby making Mary the winner.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Miss Rachel Bissette's seventh grade elected officers this month. They are as follows:

President- Craven Gay
V. Pres.- William Stott
Secretary- Robert Brown
Treas.- James Ray Lamm
Reporter- Kay Wiggs

They decided to call their room "The Golden Eagles" and to hold their meetings once every two weeks.

GRADES CLEAN GROUNDS

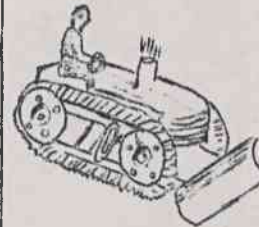

Volunteering to keep the school grounds clean for a week at a time are Mrs.

Edwards' eighth graders Mrs. Underwood's sixth graders, Mrs. May's third and fourth graders, Mrs. Paschall's fourth graders, Miss Eatmon's third graders, and Miss Bissette's seventh graders.
