

And I Was Playing . . .

O, gosh, I missed that one and I'm getting all fumbuzzled—

Yes, you guessed it. I'm having the best time in the world—at least in GHS—playing hopscotch in the hall upstairs. But it's after school so if I hear anybody coming I'll have time to get myself rearranged and assume an air of alma mater-ial dignification. (How's that for yankin' 'em out o' the dictionary?)

But, wait, who's that woman running around like a nincompoop? (No, it's not my wife!)

Wonderingly I stop to look at this female who, with a rather flushed look, throws up her hands in disgust.

She sees me now and trots it toward me.

Frankly, I don't know whether to hit out and run or just let nature take its course.

By the time my poor brain thinks out this horrible problem she is dealing her woe off her tongue at me.

"Little girl" (my style being cramped greatly by this), "how in the world do you get out of this institution? I've been going into every door and I'm LOST!"

Well, somethin's phoney when 400 students get out at either lunch period in 12.7 seconds flat leaving the drained building looking more deserted than a freshman's cranium, and this Judy (thank you, Mr. Runyon) can't exit herself in two-bits of an hour. But that's neither here nor there, and when I spy a chance to be of service to this cruel world and lose nothing in the bargain, I'm not missing it.

"Why, lady, it's very simple" and with a superior feeling at actually knowing something, I lead the way out of our monstrous "institution."

Looking at The Woman as She scoots out of the last door I somehow wish I'd taken her to the lost and found department 'cause she interrupted my delightful game of hopscotch.

O, well, it's closed, anyhow!

E. J., '39.

Library Sponsors Contest

In an effort to encourage and stimulate student interest in building up personal libraries during their high school years, Miss Collier, GHS librarian, is sponsoring a student library contest, April 25-29.

A prize will be offered in each of the following divisions: (1) best general collection; (2) best special collection; and (3) best list of books for a personal library.

In the book division ten is the maximum number of books that may be entered and the books must be the property of the students who are displaying them and must be so marked. Textbooks are excluded.

The subject of the book list division is to be "My Books." The list is to include author and title together with brief notes explaining why each one has been chosen.

SHOP WITH CONFIDENCE

at LEDER BROTHERS and WEAR WITH PRIDE

Junior Class Council

Pictured above is the Junior Council, which is composed of the Junior officers, the Junior home-room presidents, one elected representative from each home room and the sponsor. Reading from left to right: first row—Dorothy Creech (president—Langston); Marjorie Stenhouse (representative—White); Frances Yelverton (representative—Freeman); Berta Parks (class cheer leader).

Second row—Glenn Johnson (representative—Helms); Charles Liles (president—Barrett); Carolyn Langston (class vice president); Frances O'Steen (representative—Davis).

Third row—Evelyn Colie (representative—Barrett); Hartwell Graham (representative—Langston); Mrs. W. J. White (sponsor); Olivia Ferguson (class treasurer and president—Freeman).

Fourth row—Jack Smith (president—Davis); Randy Middleton (president—White); Sidney Gordon (class president); Lorraine Taylor (class secretary); and Addison Hawley (president—Helms).

PLANS UNDERWAY FOR ANNUAL JUNIOR-SENIOR

(Continued from page one)

Manly, Frances Styron, and Tommy Daniels with Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Yelverton as advisers.

Invitation: Randolph Middleton, chairman; Hartwell Graham, Marjorie Stenhouse, Rae Johnson with Mrs. White as adviser.

Cloak: Jack Smith and Thelma Crumpler.

GHS Girl Enters Sorority

Anne MacMillan, '36, who is attending the Woman's College at Duke, has recently been pledged to membership in Alpha Phi, a national social sorority.

NEWS BRIEFS

The ten pictures of the Snapshot Contest are now with the judges: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Belk and Mr. Henry Moore. Winners will be announced in the May issue of the HI NEWS.

Approximately $6.00 was cleared by the Junior Class on "Wunsa a Yeer Stuf," part of which was used to pay for the Junior Council picture appearing in this issue.

Bobbie Anne Sanborn, Helen

(Please turn to page eight)

USE OUR SERVICE for YOUR SHOPPING

PHONE 1218 SAVAGE TAXI

Have Your Last Year's Spring Shoes Fixed As Good As New at JINNETT'S SHOE SHOP

THOMAS O'BERRY

INSURANCE Any Kind Anywhere

114 East Walnut GOLDSBORO, N. C.

ON MOTHERS' DAY

Show Your Love For Her By Giving Her Candy

Our Stock Is Complete

BROWN'S DRUG "The Family Drug Store"

And So, He Didn't Bite Us

Having secured a couple of girls to help me interview Mr. Campbell, our agriculture teacher, I ventured there with trembling knees. My prey I found standing looking out the window.

"Ah, Mr. Campbell," I began, "May I ask you a few questions for the HI NEWS?" . . . "Certainly," he replied. . . . "Well, Mr. Campbell, from where did you graduate?" . . . "I graduated from State College the 13th of March." . . . "Are you in favor of the farm bill or what was your opinion?" . . . "I am very much in favor of it." . . . "Would you like to go to war? If war was declared what would you do?" . . . "I wouldn't go!" (He and Mr. Barrett will lead the line to the Dismal Swamp.) . . . "Was your college life exciting?" . . . "Just ordinary. I was President of the Agriculture Club. I didn't go out much for athletics, but I like basketball best of sports."

Mr. James Hall Campbell has three brothers and three sisters, who live on a farm near Taylorville, his home town.

Although some here think GHS has school hours too long, Mr. Campbell says, "I think the hours of GHS are very good."

We close our little conversation feeling friendship towards Mr. Campbell, as we had found he wouldn't bite after all.

M. F. B., '39.

ACTIVITY NOTES

Recently the Home Nursing Club took an exam for Junior Red Cross diplomas.

Centering their work around airplane models, the Woodcraft Activity has one group building solid models, while some are drawing plans.

The members of the Radio Activity are making small radio sets, while studying and discussing radio theory.

In preparation for the Greensboro contests, the Glee Club has been singing different songs; such as: folk, party, ballad, spiritual, popular, and stunt.

The Taxidermy Activity cleared $18.85 on their production of "The Womanless Wedding." They plan to buy cabinets, in which they will place mounted animals in their natural surroundings.

The Bachelors are now becoming accomplished cooks.

"Stage Struck" has one group working on the play, "On Dixon's Back Porch," which will be given in chapel in May, while the other group is working on make-up with class demonstrations.

So far, the "Scribblers' Scoop" has cleared $5.50.

FURNITURE HEILIG and MYERS

BOYS We have everything you need in Wearing Apparel for the Junior-Senior Banquet LOUIS SHERMAN

MIGHTY SEQUEL To "BIG HOUSE" and "LAST MILE"

Above is seen John Howard and Walter Connolly who are featured with Jean Parker in the most sensational film of the year. "PENITENTIARY" CAROLINA Monday Tuesday

BANK WITH THE BANK OF WAYNE

BUY IT BY THE CARTON!

Bottled with Pure Deep Well Water BARNES-HARRELL-RAWLINGS CO.