

Home Nursing Students In Charge of Health Room

Students of the home nursing class have taken over the health room and plan to stress the importance of the health room as a first aid room rather than a dispensary for medicine or a place for socializing this year.

The students of the home nursing class, with the assistance of Mrs. Rosa Combs, serve as nurses, and Miss Helen Player is the adviser.

20 Industries Represented In Diversified Occupations

Twenty-eight GHS diversified occupations students are enrolled under Mr. R. M. D. Freeman so far this year.

Under Mr. Freeman's supervision these students are doing part time work in twenty different occupations: restaurant management, meat cutting, theater management, printing, clerking in grocery store, typewriter repairing, auto mechanics, electrician, general store management, photo engraving, ice cream manufacturing, fuel yard management, clerking in department stores, operating linotype, auto servicing, pattern maker, furniture manufacturing, nursery workers, office practice, dry cleaning.

These students come to school for morning classes and then report to their jobs at 12:25.

Style***

***Parade

Stop! That's not a stoplight; it's another red skirt. Dorothy Dix says the best way to win your man is to wear a touch of red; but, alas, all the girls read it too, so now I'm still not getting anywhere.

These touches of red are mostly worn in the way of corduroy jackets, coats, and skirts.

Speaking of coats, reversibles are just the things this year in either corduroy or wool, and they are available in any color.

Another secret to make him stop, look, and follow is to perch one of those cute little skull caps with a huge feather scraping the clouds atop your head.

"The apparel oft proclaims the man," so they say. What must we men in GHS wear so that we may step in style? Tweeds are always OK, but Harris tweeds with the new accentuated shoulder cut are gaining popularity for the dresser-upper.

For every day school wear things seem to be ragged and shabby. Take for instance those mannish loafer coats, and the new windbreaker jackets. V-neck sweaters seem to be making a bid for popularity. Also in the rough and ready style are gaberdine pants with upturned cuffs to keep in the 'short' style.

If it's sox-appeal you seek, give that argyle pattern a try. To add additional glamour to your feet, those two-toned shoes seem the best in foot fashion.

Well, they're the latest wrinkles where clothes are concerned.

Radio Broadcasting Group Sponsors Weekly Programs

Miss Fowler Spencer's radio broadcasting class has taken the responsibility of having a radio program which originates in GHS and is presented over WGBR every Wednesday and Friday morning throughout this school year.

The class is using four possibilities to arrange the programs: (1) the class to plan and present the programs; (2) another student or class to plan and present the program; (3) the class to plan but to have another student to present the program; and (4) a script or plan of someone else's to be presented by the class.

Eight programs have been broadcast this year. The programs and their dates were Coach Jeffrey's opinion of the '40 football team, September 27; an interview with the SA president, David Andrews, October 2; a concert by the GHS band under the direction of Mr. Saddler, October 4; a round table discussion on the national presidential elections with a member of each of the four classes participating, October 9; a history of Goldsboro by Miss Bonham's North Carolina history class, October 11; songs by Susan Mooring, October 16; a biology program by Miss Sanborn's fifth period class, October 18; and "Safety First" with Charles York in charge, October 23.

Scheduled through November 1 are Mr. Holt's glee club October 25; ballads by Mrs. White's Senior English and sociology class, October 30; and a program on Charles B. Aycock in commemoration of his birthday, November 1.

Billy Haire, a member of the class, and Billy Brown are the engineers, and are planning to acquaint the other boys in the class with their work.

The Fifth Column

Roses are red,
There are pink ones too,
This column is written
By Juby and Goo.
(And a couple of others.)

What did one Lessie say to another? I dunno, what did one Lessie says to another? "I think Brodgen is the cutest town."

Lessie thinks Brodgen is cute, but Alma and "Pug" are worried about other things in it.

A bright Junior just said: "Has Helen Bisette really developed a headache? She seems to have taken B. C." (Get it? You ought to. He has).

Something else—who were those adorable girls climbing lightpoles the night of the Goldsboro-Greenville game?

Another cute p' om—
In biology of the second year Harry W. found a new deer.
No longer will he be a stag
For Sprot has him in the bag.

We wonder why Frances plus Francis just didn't work out? Gee, we wonder?? We've got more curiosity!!

Roses are red!
My face is, too,
(I used rouge and lipstick this morning.)
Brack! Brack! Brack!

We've been watching romance bud down Jones and Rogers way.
Nice going—

Mr. Davis: What did the Phoenixians leave to civilization?
Steve S: Blinds!

Oh, dear, I guess I just never was one to understand the younger generation, but I think I do understand the latest freshman case. Whadda ya mean who? You shouldn't have so much curiosity, but if you'll promise not to tell, it's freshie Dot, and Senior Tommy.

Gee, only 29 more weeks of school.
