

What You Don't Know About Your Class Officers

HART SUTTON BELK FAISON PARKER EDWARDS POWELL ROSE HART LOFTIN JEFFREYS BLAND COBB LILES BLALOCK

After two weeks of political activities—campaigning, smiling, speaking, and voting, you have picked your class officers.

Do you know their hobbies, pastimes, ambitions, weaknesses, and everything that is important? If not, why not read this page? Inquiring reporters gleaned this information for your enlightenment:

• What's your opinion of women's hats? The Senior president, Kirby Thompson Hart, thinks they're pretty awful. He thinks that part of the opposite sex is swell, but the other part—well we won't go into that. Since his favorite sport is tennis, we can understand his hearty appetite.

• Ever heard of Suttontown in Sampson County? Neither have I, but that's where Norris Sutton, Senior vice president was born. He just loves to talk things over with his pals, but hates fast music. He thinks some girls are all right, so we can see why his hobby is photography.

• Isn't it strange that Marie Lucile Belk plans to keep minutes while acting as Secretary of the Senior Class? I've never heard of such a thing, but you understand how some people are. We all know that her weakness is clothes, as she has such a lovely wardrobe.

• Collecting Petty Girls seems to be the hobby of John Howard Faison, treasurer of the Seniors, and to be principal of the school would suit him fine. And of course he likes to dance, as it brings him closer to the opposite sex.

• "I think some boys are very amusing," states the Junior president, Fanny Lou Parker. Sissy boys seem to be her pet hate. Of course, her weakness is sweets, but who's isn't?

• Oysters, flirts, and slouchy clothes are three things that Barbara Edwards, Junior vice president, just can't stand. Why she doesn't even like to eat sometimes. She surely is different from me. As most girls, she loves anything red.

• Eating appears to be the pastime of the Junior secretary, Virginia Jernigan. She seems to have trouble (as I), as her weakness is blushing. She would love to be recording secretary of the SA, and we all know she would be swell.

• What do you think of scouting and photography? The Junior treasurer, Bob Powell, thinks they are grand, as they are his hobby and pastime. His weakness is women, and he simply cannot bear conceited people.

• Just think! The President of the Sophomores, Conway Rose, chose as his pet hate, girls. He doesn't even like blonds or brunettes. Could he like red heads? Who knows? But anyhow, he is just wild about being a doctor like his dad, and the only person he would like to meet is a doctor in another state.

• Ned Hart (what, another Hart?), vice president of the Sophomore Class, hates stuck-up girls, and his opinion of girls in general is not so hot. His weakness is money, and he enjoys going to movies very much. Like his brother, Ned is wild about tennis, and plays it all of his spare time.

• Fourteen years ago Dorothy Loftin, present secretary of the Sophomores, was born at the Spicer Sanatorium. Now, the girl wants to be a great actress, and hates homework like the rest of us. She loves to read, as she can see what she reads; it's just like seeing a play to her, she says.

• Clark Gable is the ideal of Barbara Jeffreys, the Sophomore treasurer. She is always collecting his pictures, and her weakness is Gable. If she could meet one person, it would be Gable. Her pastime is going to shows, and I bet the shows star Clark, too.

• It seems that the Freshman president, Ralph Bland, is taking Latin. He says that his weakness is the feminine gender—females if you don't understand, either. Still his pet hates are certain kinds of girls, and having nothing to do. There will be another ambitious doctor in our midst when Ralph gets a little older.

• What do you think of Hedy Lamarr? Jack Cobb, vice president of the Freshmen, thinks she's swell and has lots of oomph. As we all know, his pastime is riding his horse. He really enjoys dancing with the right person, but the others—. His weakness is the opposite sex.

• Do you know a girl in GHS that will have nothing to do with boys? Well, there is one, and it's Meredith Liles, secretary of the Freshman Class. She just doesn't seem to enjoy them; she hates boys who flirt and we know of no boy who doesn't. Like her sisters, Meredith is crazy about basketball, and she plans to do things on the court.

• We have finally found another girl with the same weakness as ours, day-dreaming in class. Strange as it may seem, it's Hilda Blalock, Freshman treasurer. She wants to travel lots, but doesn't want to eat spinach while going. She enjoys reading, dancing, and bicycling, along with eating and sleeping.

"Indispensable"

Born in a log cabin in the wilderness of New York state was a man destined to lead American humanity. Mamma labored day and night to keep her son from monopolizing public offices before he reached the age of 12. It was only through his pacifist nature (inherited from his Cousin Teddy) that she was able to keep him at home. But when at last he broke the ties of domesticity, our hero was immediately drafted into the service of humanity. Draft followed draft. In fact he nearly blew away. Surely such a gigantic, dynamic personality is indispensable to the welfare of the nation.

Not only our hero, but also his wife has served our nation. Where would the coal mines be now if she had not visited them? And the square dancers? And the innumerable strawberry, raspberry, dewberry festivals?

Our hero does not want to dominate the pages of history. His noble spirit will not let him. He feels that his country calls. So above his personal desires, he consented to be drafted at the Chicago convention for four more unhappy years in the White House. In deciding the question at the polls we, the American people, must act for the good of our country in a chaotic world. We must disregard personalities and past records. Therefore draft Gracie Allen!

"Savior of U.S."

Born in a palatial mansion on the banks of the Wabash, many years ago, with a silver spoon upon his tongue, was a man destined to make history in the United States. His mother and father were both lawyers and they started early in his life to load his mind with political secrets. For they foresaw that he was to save his beloved country from that naughty, naughty boy, the third term candidate.

His youth was spent in toil to fill the family bread box. What with the family always on the move between the summer home in the mountains and the winter camp in Florida, he learned to toughen himself to all manner of labor and suffering.

And so he grew (at least in body) until he obtained a little apartment at 1010 Fifth Avenue.

At last came that eventful day in old Philadelphia. The GOP was looking desperately for some one, no matter who, to run against that monster to be put up in Chicago. All of a sudden, out of thin air, the whole gallery bellowed forth the name of our hero. (You've no idea how many relatives he has!)

And so, here we are, faced on one side with a horrible bogeyman, the third term candidate, and on the other the savior of our country. Which shall we elect? Gracie Allen!
