

Eleven Teachers Added to Faculty

Eleven teachers have been added to the Goldsboro High School faculty this year.

Miss Sarah Newland Alexander, the assistant dramatics teacher, is from Clinton, and a graduate of Greensboro College. This is her first year of teaching.

A graduate of the Pennsylvania State Teachers College, Mr. Anthony Blyssack is from Manticoke, Pennsylvania. He formerly taught in New Hope. Mr. Blyssack teaches science and is also assistant coach.

Miss Mary Billie Bryan, typing and shorthand teacher, taught in Oxford last year. She is a graduate of E. C. T. C. and is from La Grange.

La Grange is also the home of Miss Emma Britt Davis, a graduate of Greensboro College, who is teaching her first year in Goldsboro. Miss Davis teaches English and French.

Miss Carolyn Langston, English, sociology, and social science teacher, is a former graduate of Goldsboro High School. She graduated from Brenau College in Gainesville, Ga. She taught in Washington, N. C., and did graduate work at the George Washington University in Washington, D. C., prior to coming here to teach. Miss Langston's home is Goldsboro.

Teaching for her first time is Miss Catherine Mills, a graduate of Flora McDonald. Her home is in Durham. Bible, French, social science, and Latin are subjects taught by Miss Mills.

Miss Ina Irene Mills, math and world history teacher, is a graduate of Guilford College. Her home is Goldsboro and last year she taught at William Street School.

A graduate of E.C.T.C., Miss Dorothy Reade is teaching for her first year. Her home is Burgaw. Miss Reade is teaching shorthand I, typing I, and Business English.

For the past five years Miss Ruby C. Rosser has done accounting work in Washington for the Navy Department. She is a graduate of Womans College in Greensboro and comes from Jonesboro. Miss Rosser is teaching English here.

Mr. Roy L. Russell, music and band teacher, is from Charlotte. He attended Wingate Junior College and Wake Forest.

Miss Ruby Lee Spencer, teaching for the first time, is a graduate of Meredith College. Her home is in Ayden, N. C. Miss Spencer is teaching home economics.

First row, left to right, Miss Spencer, Miss Mills, Miss Shine, Miss Bryan, Miss Alexander, Miss Davis. Top row, Miss Langston, Mr. Russell, Miss Rosser, Miss Reade.

Teachers' Summer Activities Listed

Goldsboro's "old" teachers did various and interesting things this summer.

Mr. Woodrow Barden built a house, and Mr. E. L. Roberts spent the summer in charge of maintenance of all Goldsboro school buildings both white and colored.

Miss Elizabeth Grant stayed in Goldsboro a while, then visited at home and went to the beach. She acquired a very nice suntan.

Miss Geraldine Jones spent the summer in Western North Carolina and Morehead City.

Miss Nancy Hinson acted as county librarian of Harnett County and did Bookmobile Service. She also enjoyed a trip to the Rockefeller Estate.

Miss Eliza Cox acted the typical housekeeper. She kept house, loafed, visited, and gadded about.

Mr. Norris Jeffrey taught a veteran class and directed the summer program of the Wayne Recreation Council.

Miss Hyacinth Willis probably traveled the furthest. She spent seven weeks in Mexico, a week in Atlanta, Georgia, and "a heavenly week at Virginia Beach."

Mr. C. W. Twiford worked with the U. S. Department of Agriculture spraying D.D.T. to kill mosquitoes.

Miss Janie Ipock spent a week in Elizabethtown, a week in Dunn, and a week at the beach.

Mr. Clifton Britton worked out at high school most of the summer and also put on a couple of radio programs. In the latter part of the summer he spent two weeks in New York.

Miss Frances Bayne left June eighth for the Woman's College at Greensboro where she attended summer school, covering a half year's work in two weeks. Then she flew to Missouri. Miss Bayne is quoted as saying, "I certainly didn't get a thrill out of it. I couldn't even tell I was flying. Just give me a good old streamlined train." Then she visited Des Moines, Iowa, where she just ate, slept, rode horseback, and fished. On August 11, she came back to Greensboro and attended a two weeks D.E. workshop at the Woman's College. Again we quote her, "It's well named because it sure did work me." She returned to Goldsboro on August 24th where she made a survey of the business organizations to see what jobs were open to D.E. students, and how many students were needed. She also went around to see how her former students were getting along. In all she had a very busy summer.

Ever hear of a lizard in school? That's what we had down in Mrs. J. E. Britt's Home Economics class a week or two ago. Evidently at sometime during the summer, the poor little lizard found his way into the school and decided to stay and get an education.

During the first weeks of school he could be seen lying neath the windows, giving his full attention to the discussion going on (which is better than some of us do). Finally, the time came when the girls got tired of shrieking when they saw the creature and they determined to rid themselves of their unwelcome visitor. How did they do it? Mrs. Britt left class one day, quite ignorant of the plans being made by one of her Home Ec students. As soon as she was out of the room, this female Watson was on her feet to track down "that dillberry of a lizard", as she so effectively disliked him. Soon the hunted lizard was discovered and was forced out into the open space to face his fate.

What was his fate? A poor unfortunate damsel named — Ah, well, what does it matter who she is? — and, about the lizard. He was squashed beautifully by the young lady's shoe.

Spelling, neatness, and completeness are equally important in writing.

Spelling, neatness, and completeness are equally important in writing. were made at GHS during the summer of 1945, making the need for repairs very slight this year.

NEW TEACHERS

Sharp Styles In GHS

(by Gerald Massengill and William Smith)

All these mellow fellows are getting groovy in G'boro High. Just take a gander at all those terrible heads of hair some of the boys are growing and they take notice of the sharp clothes also 're sporting.

Three blonds, Carl Casey, Gerald Massengill and Bill Edwards, all believe in letting their wool grow long. Maybe we should collect a special fund for the price of three haircuts. "Clip" Noble was also a member of this "hair-cut club" but reformed and got a "G. I."

Speaking of haircuts, the girls seem to go for the "Cleopatra" haircuts which feature bangs. Josephine J., Polly E., Erlene G. and Martha R. are examples of this type.

As for clothes, everybody's seen that flashy red shirt Archie sports around. Travis' maroon shirt is really a honey. "Pegs" are still the most popular style of pants in GHS. Dan (that's the way Ozzie likes it) Bernstein still keeps his wardrobe full of "drapes." Durwood's black shirt shows up those "sun-bleached" curls. Chubby seems to have an adequate supply of "plaid" shirts and sharp socks. "Knotty" sets the pace on off campus dress with drapes, a variety of coats, socks of all colors, and a terrible head.

Come on, boys, let's get on the ball and look "sporty."

Mr. Butler Visits English Dept.

(by Bett McLawhon)

Mr. James W. Butler, secretary of the Goldsboro Chamber of Commerce, spoke to the senior class of Business English on what he believed to be the needs of Business English.

Mr. Butler took up first the use of words. Words are used either oral or written. They are the means of conveying thought when speaking or writing.

In speaking, words should be used and pronounced correctly, spoken clearly, and with a pleasant manner. In writing, words should have (1) attentiveness, (2) interest, (3) desire and persuasiveness, (4) conviction, and (5) action.

Mr. Butler spoke as a result of a survey being carried on by the Business English class to learn what the business men of Goldsboro feel students should know after graduation.

Lynch's Restaurant

Excellent Food and Service
114 E. Mulberry Street

SPEARS The Tailor

SPECIALIZES IN ALTERING AND DARNING

Moving Is Ordeal

(by Marilyn Tolochko)

When I came home from school and Mother announced that we at last had a house to move into, I was both glad and sorry. I was glad because it eased the tension of worrying about a place in which to live, but I was sorry because two and a half years back wasn't such a long time that I couldn't remember what an ordeal the last moving had been.

It wasn't that we weren't satisfied with the place we were in. We were—quite. But we had no alternative but to move since our house had been sold. Then, too, having just three days' notice in which to move wasn't much help, but strangely enough, we managed to get by that time.

I admit our house had always been somewhat crowded, but I had never before realized how much junk (and I do mean junk) we had until we started packing and moving everything. I found clothes that I never before even realized I had. I found papers and books I'd been saving since the first grade. I found clippings and souvenirs I'd accumulated from every place I'd ever visited. True, all these things had been held quite sacred by me, but by the time I finished moving everything, most of them no longer held my affection, only my disgust, and I was practically ready to throw them all out.

When everything was finally transferred from one house to another, we still lived out of cartons for a few days until things were put in their proper places. Removing three cartons to get to the one on the bottom which I was sure held the family silver and dishes, you can imagine my chagrin when I found it to contain linens instead. Then, too, rummaging through another carton one morning before school to find a certain hair ribbon, it was very annoying when I came across old scrapbooks in place of the ribbons.

You know, it's really surprising that I was able to write this article, for although we are now fairly well established in our new home, the sight of a paper carton or the mention of the word "moving" causes me to have nervous prostration.

Librarian Plans For Improvements

Miss Nancy Hinson, librarian, has many plans for improving the Goldsboro High School library this year, and for making it a more enjoyable place in which to study and read.

During the year the library will be painted and new furniture will be obtained for the browsing corner. Fifty new magazines have been added to the already long list of periodicals.

For the growing number of books, two new bookshelves will be installed.

Six new film cabinets have already been obtained with a capacity for 150 films.

Flowers For All Occasions

Spence - Williams
FLORIST

IDEAL BARBER SHOP

116 N. John Street

Chambers Shoe Shop

Quality — Service —
Workmanship
118 E. Mulberry Street

Creech - Fields Co.

Fine Furniture — Bedding
Floor Covering
209-211 W. Walnut St.
Goldsboro, North Carolina

600 Students Get Lockers

Lockers were issued the third day of school to about 600 students.

Due to the increase in the number of students in Goldsboro High School this year, each locker is shared by two students. Lockers were issued by homerooms with the rooms at the west end of the building receiving lockers at that end and the rooms at the east end receiving the lockers at that end.

Leonard Fulghum and Shirley White, co-chairmen of the Building and Grounds Committee, urge that the students take good care of their lockers, as there is no money with which to repair them.

20 Outsiders Enroll at GHS This Year

Twenty new transfer students are enrolled in Goldsboro High School this year.

There are three seniors, six juniors, two sophomores, and nine freshmen.

The seniors are: Judson K. Rea, from Warsaw; Ruth Rosser, New Hope; and Jane Shaver, Statesville.

Juniors are: Joe Basemore, Wilson; J. W. Brock, New Hope; Mary Emma Hardy, Brogden; Martha Neely, Kittrell; Evelyn Ormond, Princeton; and Barbara Sawyer, Sacred Heart Academy.

The two sophomores are: David Johnson, Rosewood; and Rose Marie Smith, Martinsville, Indiana.

Karl Albert, Florence, South Carolina; Gene Blackman, New Hope; Jane E. Bostic, Beulaville; Carlie Hinnant, Pikeville; Anne Hood, Belfast; Charles Johnson, Berwyn Heights, Maryland; Serena Kea, Staten Island, New York; and Bobby Tyndall, Scotland Neck, are the freshmen.

Dr. Zeno B. Spence

OPTOMETRIST

Back to School—To Work
Back to Crown for Values

Crown Store Co.

129-131 E. Walnut St.

REMEMBER—

CANDY KITCHEN

for best
ICE CREAM and CANDIES

Six Acres Wide, Paved Road
Frontage, One-Half Wooded.
Ideal Home site. Veteran's Opportunity. —Goldsboro, Box 536
G. H. Edwards.

PARAMOUNT

Matinee 25c — Night 35c
plus tax

SUNDAY—MONDAY

"THREE WISE FOOLS"

with
MARGARET O'BRIEN
LIONEL BARRYMORE
also

Latest News and Short Subjects

Tennis Makes Comeback

Tennis has made a comeback in Goldsboro High School during the past season. Trophies were given to Billy Winslow, winner, and "Cotton" Klutz, runner-up, in the "high school boys' singles event."

A boys team defeated both Rocky Mount and Wilson twice for a record of four wins and no defeats to win the Eastern Carolina Tennis Association championship. Members of the team were as follows: Tommy Beamon, Wendell Edgerton, Junior Hallow, Louis Hallow, "Cotton" Klutz, Otis Pate, Joe Rosenthal, and Billy Winslow. An all star team was selected among the teams in the conference and Wendell Edgerton was placed first, Billy Winslow third, while "Cotton" Klutz and Joe Rosenthal received honorable mention.

A novice tournament was held under the sponsorship of the Goldsboro Tennis Association. Louis Hallow won the boys event by beating his brother, Junior. Martha Winslow won the girls finals after defeating Ruth Shaver in the finals. The winners of both the boys and girls events were presented trophies.

Another tournament was held in August with a large number of boys entering. Wendell Edgerton proved to be the winner after defeating Billy Winslow in the finals. Joe Rosenthal was in third place and Bud Wallace fourth. The winner and runner-up were given trophies and the third and fourth were given ribbons.

A desire has been expressed by some high school students that a tennis team be formed to play other high schools next season.

CAROLINA

SUNDAY—MONDAY
Brian Donlevy—Ray Milland
in

"I WANTED WINGS"

TUESDAY
Brenda Joyce in

"DANGER WOMAN"

WEDNESDAY—THURSDAY

George Raft in

"WHISTLE STOP"

FRIDAY—SATURDAY

Sunset Carson in

"EL PASO KID"

THEO DAVIS SONS

Hi News Printers — Zebulon, North Carolina

We Now Have New and Used Aircraft
For Immediate Delivery

DAVIS AVIATION

BARRIE S. DAVIS — FERD L. DAVIS

Piper Cub
OUTSELLS ALL OTHER LIGHT PLANES COMBINED

TELEPHONE 2561 — ZEBULON

Bldg. Undergoes Repairs

The Goldsboro High School building underwent a few minor repairs and improvements during the summer vacation period.

The repairs and improvements made were: the painting of both boys' toilets, and the replacing of broken windows. During the summer a number of repairs were made to the grammar grades and primary grades buildings. A great deal of improvements