

Jaycees Present Follies

The Junior Chamber of Commerce presented the first play of the season on September 26, 27, and 28.

Running three nights, this play is the first of its kind to ever come to Goldsboro.

"The Jaycees Follies" was based on the play "The Arrival of Kitty", by Norman Swarouth, and was directed by Mr. Clifton Britton, dramatic art teacher.

Members of the cast included: Sidney Brumberg, Frances Fulghum, Susan Griffin, Ruth Hinson, Herbert Hulse, Charlie McCarthy, Janet Nufer, Robert Reaves, and John Redmond.

A male chorus, featured in the follies, was led by Mr. Roy Russell, band and glee club director. The chorus was composed of Bushnell Andrews, Elsie Brodsher, Leonard Edwards, Frank Farfour, Hal Grant, Jimmy Kannon, Bill

Mintz, Paul Stanley, and Henry Williams.

Modeling in scenes "A Pretty Girl is Like a Melody" and "Neil Joseph's Fashion Show" were Misses Jackie Barfield, Ruth Edgerton, Susan Griffin, Janet Nufer, Carlotta Stanley, La Verne Tew, Virginia Taylor, Becky Thomas, Eloise Walker, Barbara Yelverton, and Mrs. W. B. Griffin, Mrs. Herbert Hulse, and Mrs. Charlie McCarthy.

Goldmasquers Miller Eason and Kenneth Waters operated the special lighting effects, and Virginia Keen and Elwood Reeves were in charge of make up.

For several months the Jaycees have nourished the idea that there is much hidden talent in Goldsboro. In presenting this play, the members have "discovered" much of this talent, created a closer union between the Goldmasquers and Jaycees, and promoted the Jaycees in the citizens' minds.

Back row: Ann Vinson, Mary James Best, La Vern Tew, Mary Louise Thompson, Elizabeth Thompson, Ruth Edgerton, Becky Thomas, Virginia Taylor, and Mrs. W. B. Griffin.

New Car Is Popular

(by Oscar Bagley)

"Jack, I'm not doing anything tonight."

This has become a popular note around GHS since Monday morning. Yep, since Saturday night Jack Hauser has become quite the ladies' man, due to the presence of his new "47" Studebaker. Not insinuating, by any means, that he hasn't been in the limelight of the girls before, but my, how his telephone is ringing these days.

And, unless I miss my guess, Jack is taking full advantage of his $1.00 Studebaker, which he won in a Legion contest.

More women to you, Jack.

School Time Troubles

(by Susan Smith)

Is that mother calling me already... Why, what time is it? Only half past seven! Now let me see, why do I have to get up so early this morning? I don't have to mow the lawn; I did that last week. Today is Monday so I don't have to go to Sunday School and — School! I should have remembered. Today is Monday but it is also the ninth of September. It appears that three months have passed since that joyous day of the sixth of June. Gee, how time flies. Why it seems like yesterday we were just getting out for the summer vacation!

Well, no time for memories now. Got to get up and get ready to begin all over again. Guess I'll brush my teeth and wash my face, then I can eat breakfast in peace. I went to class with a headache! I'd get a five for the class period. Suddenly what do you think? What's that, mother? Right I'll wash behind my ears. Nothing to do now but wait for

Nance and Sally to come by for me. What time is it? Twenty minutes past eight? They should be here soon. I'll just read the paper. Gosh, but that paper's full of news! What time is it? Twenty-five minutes to nine! Goodness, they should have been here long ago. I'll wait a few more minutes but I do wish they would hurry. I'm getting tired of standing up. What's that, Mother, you know this dress has pleats in it and if I sit down, they'll get wrinkled. What time it is now? Fifteen minutes to nine! Gosh, I can't wait any longer. See you this afternoon. Gee, I just know I'm going to be late. Oh me, everybody has already gone in. What! Where have you been? Oh! the bus driver wouldn't let you get off the bus. I'm going to write my Congressman! Oh, we're going to sing the school song, which has started again.
