Freshman Week Is Observed For The New GHS Students

Freshman Week for the class of 1951 was held September 29 through October 3.

The Week was started by a program on the stage sponsored by the sophomore class and put on by Miss Sarah Alexander's dramatic class. The nomination of the class officers was announced Monday also, and the petitions were taken out on Monday and Tuesday. On Wednesday the campaign speeches were given in the auditorium, and on Thursday votes were cast.

The week officially ended Friday with a social held for the benefit of the Freshmen and new students. The Freshmen were welcomed at this social by a receiving line consisting of the Student Association officers and the Sophomore president. Refreshments consisting of punch, cookies, and candy were served by the social committee. After the introduction and refreshments, the students danced and the results of the election were announced.

GHS Freshmen Are Initiated Into The High School Routine

Freshman Week, which was held September 29-October 3, opened with an initiation program given by Miss Sarah Alexander's second period dramatics class.

Albert Pate, dressed as the devil, was master of ceremonies. He was assisted by Doris Page, Jimmy Ellis, Walter Culbreth, and Julia Manly. The assistants went into the audience and brought certain freshmen to the stage, where Albert told them what they were expected to do.

Ann Anderson and L. B. Starling were taken below the stage at the beginning of the program. K. D. Pyatt and Betty Gainey were next brought to the stage. K. D. poured milk in a saucer, tied Betty's hands behind her back, rubbed her head and said "poor kitty" as she licked the milk.

Jean Klutz was made to paint Glenn Garraway's toenails while she was blindfolded. Audrey Boykin and Irving Ennis were told to waltz around the stage singing "Temptation." Hilda Lane sat on Samuel Johnson's lap as he rocked and sang "Rock-a-bye Baby." Joyce Cooper and Richard Denise ate crackers for two minutes as fast as possible, then whistled.

Episcopal Minister Conducts First SA Devotional Of Year

"Brotherhood" was the topic of the talk given by Rev. John C. Grainger, of St. Stevens Episcopal Church, at the first SA devotional of the year, held on October 2.

The glee club, under the direction of Mr. John Thompson, opened the devotional by singing "God Ever Glorious." The speaker was then introduced.

Mr. Grainger said that people of all denominations believe in brotherhood. It is his belief that that is the key to the problems of today, and is the one answer to the world situation.

He asked the question, "What makes you a brother or a sister?" What makes two people able to live together in harmony? His answer was that it is not those who have the same interests, ages, and personalities, but those who have respect, understanding, tolerance and patience with each other. He said that there will be brotherhood only when people learn to live together in peace.

Mr. Grainger closed his talk with a prayer. Florence Bowden, chairman of the devotional committee, presided over the meeting.

The Junior Class Is Staging Annual Magazine Drive

The annual Junior Class magazine drive started Monday, October 13, and is to last for two weeks. Mr. Robert C. Geiselman, a representative of the Curtis Publishing Company, met with the Junior Class to discuss plans for the drive. He talked about the different magazines which will be offered in this sale and also gave some helpful hints on the best ways to sell these magazines.

There will be several prizes offered to the person having the largest sale. Among the prizes the winner has his choice of a radio or a watch of the same value.

FIRST PLACE

Last year the Hi News was rated "First Place" by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. That's a fine record that the staff of the paper is proud of; but the staff is not willing to stop there. They this year to secure an honor rating.

To do this they will need the help of every student in school; and every student can help. It takes money to operate the paper. Most of this comes from advertisers; but a goodly share of it must come through subscriptions too, if the paper is to be what the staff wants it to be.

If every student will subscribe for the paper, this will help in achieving the goal the staff is working for.

Make it 100 percent!

Marilyn Tolochko has been named Editor of the Hi News for the year 47-48.

Those serving with her are Ed Strickland and Gene Roberts, Jr., sports editors; Henry Edwards and Lou York, feature editors; Dana James Gully and Betty Barbee, exchange editors; Bill Taylor and Virginia Kean, alumni editors; May Ann Ward and Barbara Russell, Hi Lights Editors; Albert Pate, photographer; Gene Anderson, James Rountree, Graham Best, Paye Parnell, Doris Page, reporters.

The business staff is composed of: John Thompson, business manager; Ruth Forehand and Elton Warrick, circulation managers; Billy Winslow, advertising manager; Howard Caudill and Christine Byrd, assistant advertising managers; Ed Strickland, manager Hi News shop.

Murals Acquired By School Library

Miss Nancy Hinson has acquired two murals for the library on the subject of the Civil War. One is a picture of the "Battle of Bentonville," the last major battle of the War and the bloodiest ever fought on North Carolina soil. The battle was fought in March, 1865, and the generals were Sherman and Johnston.

The other is "Neuse River Bridge," a painting of the burning of the R. R. Bridge in December, 1862.

The library will receive a series of paintings, by noted American artists, from the Standard Oil Company of New York. The purpose of the paintings is to familiarize students with the creative talents of American artists. The paintings are reproductions of the originals. The artists represented are Robert Benny, Thomas Benton, Adolph Dehn, Ernest Flene, Frank Mechau, and George Schreiber.

Listed below are a few of the new selections of books in the library. The girls should enjoy "White Caps," a story of the nursing profession by Victor Robinson, and "Three Came Home," an adventure story about the Far East, by Agnes Newton Keith. For the boys there is "Home Country" by Ernie Pyle, "The Modern Wonder Book of Ships" by Carlisle and Nelson, and "Famous American Athletes of Today" by Gordon Campbell. Boys or girls equally will enjoy "Your Manners are Showing" the handbook of teen-age know-how, by Betty Betz, "Experience in Journalism" by Lyons E. Carnahan.

Goldmasquers Plan For Wayne County Slate Note Program

The Goldmasquers, the largest organization in GHS, again takes the lead in radio work by organizing a county-wide school news broadcast known as "Wayne County Slate Notes."

Last year this program included only the Goldsboro schools but this year it will include news from Mount Olive, New Hope, Brodgen, Belfast, Grantham, Eureka, Fremont, Pikeville, Seven Springs, Rosewood, and also the Goldsboro schools.

During the year's broadcast guest reporters from these schools will appear with the Goldmasquers Radio Workshop, thus bringing a closer unity between the Goldsboro and all the rural schools.

With this organization of Wayne County schools, Goldsboro high school again takes the lead in the educational radio program in North Carolina.

G. H. S. students participating in the pageant had various duties, both backstage and on-stage. The makeup committee, headed by Miss Sarah Alexander, was composed of Elwood Reaves, Co-chairman, Louise York, Virginia

Keene, Gaynelle Sauls, Lillian Pate, Mamie Ruth Savage, Mary Olive Grady, and Betty Denmark. The trumpeters were Ann Houser, Barbara Russell, Julia Manly, Jerry Worrell, Dorothy Crawford, and Libby Lou Stuart.

Boy Scouts, Ashton Griffon, Paul Pittman, Jimmy Purser, Lewis Bryan, Victor Herring, Bill Elliot.

American Jackies, Lois Basden, Hattie Redick, Christine Carter, Dorothy Worrell, Joyce Gardner, Viola Carr, Alice Wiggins, Zelda Potter, Joyce Britt, Lois Johnson, Marjorie Blackman, Florence Bowden, Veryl Trueblood, Mitzie Edmundson, Peggy Ann West, Dorothy Wall, Betsy Outland, Carolyn Lancaster, Libby Best.

Flag Girls: Betty Lou Cole, Alice King, Hilda Potter, Frances Myers, Lucille Williams, Shirley Hayes, Frances Potter, Bobby Jean Thompson, Elizabeth Carlisle, Margaret Bissette, Nancy Hamill.

Three Delegates To Attend Meeting Of NCSG Next Week

Donald Pike and Anna Frank Strosnider have been elected as two of the three official delegates to attend the Twenty-first North Carolina Student Congress in Elizabeth City, held on October 20, 21, and 22.

Registration will be held on Monday, October 20. The first general session will be held on that day. Social activities of the Congress will consist of a wiener roast on Monday night along the banks of the Pasquotank River and a semi-formal banquet and dance in the Virginia Dare Hotel Ballroom on Tuesday night.

Miss Elizabeth Grant will accompany the group.

New Improvements Are Made During The Summer Months

Several new improvements have been made in GHS during summer, and work is still going on with additional improvements.

In back of the school, work is being done on a new school auto mechanics shop. It's nearly complete now, and when the finishing touches have been added this garage will have a new course in auto mechanics.

In the lunch room are new plates, knives, forks, spoons, chairs and a new refrigerator and stove.

In the Home Economics classrooms the student has a new refrigerator and a new water heater. These improvements mean that they get the fifth year.

There are also some new World history, general science, and chemistry books, a new projector and films, a mimeograph machine, football uniforms, and numerous new library books.

Local High School Sophomores Sold Centennial Tickets

The sophomore class of Goldsboro High School sold tickets to the Pageant "A Century on Review," which was held during the week of October 6-11.

Prizes were given to the students who sold the most tickets and to the homeroom who sold the most tickets.

"Pot" Smith sold the most tickets with $54 worth. He received as a prize $15. Julian Hill received second prize of $10, for selling $28. worth of tickets. Worth Potter received third prize of $5, for selling $26. worth of tickets.

Miss Mixon's homeroom sold the most tickets and each one received a ticket to the pageant.

The sophomore class made a profit of $47.66, which was turned in to the treasury.

New Band Leader Is Busy With Group

The Goldsboro high school band has been organized under Mr. John Thompson, the new band teacher. They plan to play for all home football games and near-by out-of-town games.

Mr. Thompson is a native of New York. He attended Appalachian State Teachers College and then taught in Roxboro for one year and three months. He served for three and a half years in the U. S. Army. After being discharged by the Army, he returned and taught another year in Roxboro and then came to Goldsboro.

Officers of the second period Mixed Chorus have been elected. They are: Harold Caudill, president; Bo Kannan, vice president; John Kleinert, secretary; Ann McClenny Johnson, librarian.
