

Physical Ed. Has Its Variety For The Boys In Class

By Bill Taylor

On any sunny day if you happen to look out on the athletic field beside the school, you will see a lot of strange things. At fifth period a group of boys are always running around. One day I looked out and saw them "getting drunk". Well, I don't mean getting drunk with "fine wines and liquors". These boys were playing a game.

There were two teams playing this strange game. All the boys on a team were lined up one behind another. The line up one behind the line would take a stick, run to a designated spot on the ground, stick the end of the stick in the ground and then run around and around the stick. When the boys tried to run back to his starting point he had quite a hard time. First he would stumble, then stagger from one side to the other, finally after a few falls get back, and another boy would try to do the same thing all over again.

After one team won they started another game. The same two teams would line up on the track facing opposite directions. The person at the head of each line would start running around the track in different directions. Some of the boys ran fast, while some ran slow. Finally I grew so tired that I had to quit watching.

One day when you aren't doing anything fifth period, go out and watch the boys for yourself. Better still, try to take part in the games yourself.

Weatherly Speaks To French Club

Mr. Dick Weatherly was the guest speaker at the first meeting this year of the French Club.

Mr. Weatherly told the club about his work in French. Last summer he and some other men recorded the songs and fables of a little village near New Orleans in which the inhabitants speak Old French. He suggested that the club adopt a French family as one of their projects.

He is going to study at the University of Paris as an exchange student for a year.

Cheerleaders Put In Hard Work For A Long Time

By Lou York

"A suzie one, a suzie two." No doubt if you have to any of the football games, bonfires, or to the pep meetings you have heard and seen the cheering squad.

The squad first started practicing on August 4. It was very hot weather, and sometimes they could hardly stand it. But Herman Vinson, the head cheerleader, was determined they would practice from 7:30 to 9:00 every Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday. They have rules and regulations just as other organizations do.

Members say they have a lot of fun practicing. Sometimes Herman gets so mad with the members that he almost resigns.

With each practice they realize they achieve more coordination, and they really don't mind the work.

After all, practice makes perfect!
