

Health Room Is Provided

The living room of the Home Economics Department is now equipped to serve as a health room, also any student who is in the need of first aid or is not feeling well enough to stay in the classroom may receive attention there.

The room has beds from the old health room converted into a studio couch and the furniture that was formerly in the lobby.

The room has three purposes: to serve as a health room, a meeting place for any small committee during or after school, and the living room for the Home Economics Department.

Freshmen Hear A Story Told

A recent Freshman devotional featured a story about Luther, who was looking for the God that had made his hands.

Preceding the story the class sang, "Fairest Lord Jesus." This was followed by a passage from the Bible, read by Gurney Collins. Mela Royal sang "I Want To Walk Closer To Jesus," accompanied by Rita Wood at the piano.

In closing the devotional, everybody stood for a silent prayer, and afterwards prayed the Lord's Prayer.

Disc Hits

By Sara Thompson

The subject for today is songs, ballads, novelties, jumpers, sweepers — songs of all kinds.

Are the songs of today on a par with the songs of a decade, or two or three decades ago?

A lot of disc jockeys yapping into hot Mikes are complaining that the "ditties" deal out in these frantic forties are strictly fluff — sad, uninspired and trasky.

Of all the songs you're hearing today — so runs the general complaint — where is a "Star Dust" or a "More Than You Know" or a "Sweet Lorraine" or "Body and Soul?" (Remember any of those?). Mix the recent buttons and bows, woodpeckers, pussycats, little birdies that tell you, boats headed for the Orient, red roses for blue ladies and faces powdered with sunshine and stuff, and you've got a sure recipe for "mass suicide."

A Hit Parade Topper in 1949 is good for only three months at the most. In 1929 a song hit lasted a full year and it sold five times as many copies of sheet music.

And so we hear dozens and hundreds of inferior songs these days. To get one hit many must be written and performed. Actually, there are many songs of high quality available right now some of which are as good as "Body and Soul" and all the other great songs. For example, listen carefully next Saturday night to the Hit Parade and pay particular attention to the lyrics and melodies of . . . Well, there must be one somewhere! You find it!

To get down to the popular songs around our high school —

If you've been out to the Seymour Johnson Recreation Center (bowling alley division) you've (no doubt about it) heard "Go Home" by Divieaires. That's the one that everybody likes to shag by. You first heard "Run Rabbit Run" by Alan Foster out there too. They're all right.

The Deacons Hop by the Blue Jays and "Corn Bread" by the Singer (Hae) are new fast pieces too.

The ditty that takes top honors this issue in our column is that slow sentimental ballad, called "So Tired". The best recording of it, so far, is by Kay

Two Student Teachers Gone

Miss Marjorie Pollard and Mrs. Dean Harrington who have been doing student teaching in Home Economics under Mrs. Clarinda Britt since December 3, have completed their work and are going back to Eastern Carolina Teacher's College Friday, February 25.

The students have enjoyed having them here.

you haven't heard by now it won't be long.

Starr. Give this song time and for all we know, it may be number one on the Hit Parade. By the way, I want to dedicate this song to the Gohisca Staff. Seems to be a joke going around too about "So Tired". Have you heard it? If you haven't get Joyce Bagley to tell you.

Art Mooney has made a brilliant come back for '49. Have you heard his latest? "Those Beautiful Eyes" which is the '49 version of the '47 "Four Leaf Clover," and "Do eDe Do On An Old Tazoo", and "Oh Mama!" If (Continued on Page Seven)
