State Student Congress Meets Here Oct. 24-26

Goldsboro High School will be host to the North Carolina State Student Council Congress on October 24, 25 and 26.

Around ninety schools are expected to be represented with about 280 delegates and advisors attending.

Ashton Griffin, state president of the N.C.S.C.C., will preside over the meeting. Ashton is a senior in Goldsboro High School. Also on the state executive board is Jimmy Ellis, who as G.H.S. Student Association president automatically became state treasurer. Bobby Bradshaw from Wilson serves as vice-president and Elinor Wren from Greensboro as secretary.

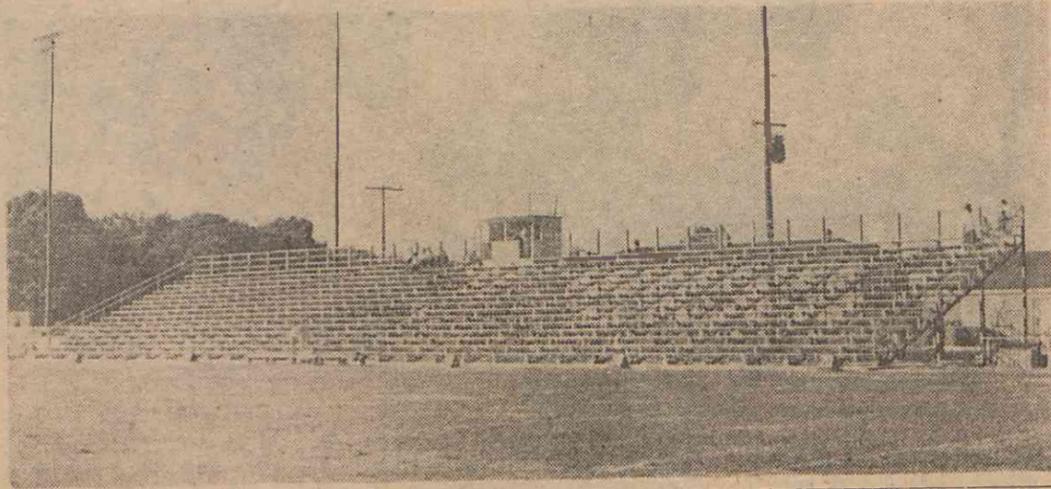

A Journal which will supply information concerning the convention was edited by a G.H.S. student, Florence Bowden. Eddie Mitchell will lead a discussion group.

The convention will continue through three days. Aside from meetings and panel groups, an outdoor supper and a banquet which will be semiformal are planned for those attending.

Billy Adams Heads DE Club

Billy Adams is President of the Distributive Education Club for this year.

Elected to serve with him are Bobby Bell, Vice-president; Mary Lou Raper, Recording Secretary, Evaline Brown, Corresponding Secretary; Keith Boykin, Treasurer; and James Raper, Editor-in-chief.

Chest Drive Gets Underway

Goldsboro's Community Chest Drive among the students of G.H.S. got underway last week when Attorney Powell Bland, of the local bar, spoke to the students on the need of the chest for money to operate its program.

Mr. Bland grouped his remarks about an acrostic built on the word "give." The words he used were "Good," "Institution-Individual," "Voluntarily," and "Everybody."

He stated that everybody must volunteer as individuals and institutions to do good for the community through the Community Chest.

Greathouse Presents To School This Fine Plant

Goldsboro high school's new football stadium, built at a cost of approximately $15,000 which was raised by members of the local Touchdown Club, was presented to the high school students by Frank L. Greathouse, president of the club at ceremonies which were held between the halves of the Rocky Mount-GHS football game.

The stadium, accepted in behalf of the student body by Jimmy Ellis, president of the SA, was built largely through the personal efforts of the members of the club and is the first such field that the school has had in its 23 years on the present site.

Representative Graham A. Barden made the main address of the evening and commented that just such as the Touchdown Club is now doing in Goldsboro is what makes America what it is. Representative Barden was introduced by Faison Thomson, Goldsboro attorney.

Brigadier General B. J. Whaling, the commanding officer of Camp Lejeune was present for the ceremonies along with his staff and the Marine Band from Camp Lejeune. The Marine Band helped to furnish the music for the occasion which featured the bands of Goldsboro and Rocky Mount high schools plus the leathrneck musicians.

The stadium runs in an East-West direction and work on it was started last spring.

D.E. Class Has Enrollment Of 47 For Term

A total of 47 students is enrolled in the Distributive Education Class this year. There are 29 students taking second year D.E. and 18 taking first year. Those D.E. students have jobs in about 30 different business organizations.

The D.E. Class held its first meeting on Tuesday night of October 4, at which they elected officers and made plans for the Eastern District Meeting which will be held in Goldsboro on November 4 for all D.E. Clubs in North Carolina.

On October 6 at 11 a. m. in the auditorium the D. E. class sponsored for all high school girls, Miss Alice Hickey, Representative of the Charles Ritz Cosmetic Co. of New York City.

Miss Frances Bayne is looking forward to the National D.E. Meeting that will be held in Asheville, N. C. early in April.

Homemakers Plan Rally

The District Rally of the Future Homemakers of America is to be held at Jacksonville on October 15. District two includes eleven counties, Wayne among them. Any member can attend.

Transportation will be provided by the school bus and as many cars as needed.

Three members from Wayne county are on the program to give an account of the regional rally which was held last June in Memphis, Tennessee. The girls are Janice Whaley and Peggy Ann Britt from Goldsboro, and Margaret Stevens from Grantham.

the only opportunity to meet these young Carolinians who will represent all the major high school in the state.

Gives Tavern Race

"Ramshackle Inn" has been predicted, by those who have will give the Goldsboro citizens been permitted to attend rehearsal, to give "The Tavern," which was acclaimed the biggest hit of last season, a very close race for its entertainment value.

The cast will include Karl Albert in the role of Patton who was seen last season in such productions as "The Willow and I," "The Shepherd's Song," "Out of This World" and "The Swan." Lucille Williams who will be remembered for her role of Bessie in "The Willow and I" will play the role of Joyce Rogers, the snooping reporter. Peggy Anne Britt, who made her debut last season in "The Willow and I" will return to play Mame Phillips, the owner of "Ramshackle Inn." Samuel Johnson who was discovered last season as an outstanding comedienne in the network radio production "I Killed Twenty Thousand Men" will make his first stage appearance in the role of Constable Small. Anne Lee, who is being considered the discovery of the year will appear in the role of Belinda Pryde. She will be to "Ramshackle Inn" what Jerry Sandford was to "The Tavern."

The role of Commodore Lucius Towser will give Eddie Mitchell his second chance before the local footlights. Last season he appeared as the family doctor in "The Willow and I." Veryl Trueblood (See Goldmasquers on Page 8)
