

Senior Privileges

Do you want your Senior privileges when you become a Senior? Naturally you do. Everyone does. It seems to us that after you come to school twelve years you certainly deserve some privileges.

There are a few privileges granted us Seniors, and the least that the underclassmen can do is to abide by them.

We are referring to the matter of underclassmen breaking in the lunch line. Each class has a turn and it's nothing but right to let the Seniors go first.

So how about it? Why not let the Seniors have their privileges. After twelve years they deserve it. Your chance is coming some day.

Remember Unfortunates

We are all getting ready now for the Christmas holidays which we have looked forward to for such a long time. Most of us have gotten presents for our friends and families and know pretty well what we want, but how many of us have ever thought once about those who won't have any Christmas at all—and there are many who won't.

If this year we could all find the true meaning of Christmas and the yule tide spirit it would mean more to us. Everyone can do something to make Christmas happier for someone else no matter how small that something may be.

Fight T. B.

Recently in an assembly Mrs. Fred Harrell explained to the students of G.H.S. what we as students could do to stamp out tuberculosis in Wayne county. Although we are all students, we could put over the Christmas seal drive in our school she stated.

During the past years Goldsboro High School has done little to push the drive over. A few cents per student was all that was given. Today with the needs as great as ever we could push G.H.S. over its goal of $300.00.

We in our home rooms could give more than just a few cents, but dollars as well. We don't really know how great the need is until T.B. strikes in our homes and then it is too late to prevent having to stay in bed for weeks.

We Honor

Eddie Mitchell

Edward Lee Mitchell, our Christmas issue honoree, made his worldly debut September 26, 1932. The blessed event took place in Corning, New York, where "Eddie" lived until the age of six. He then moved to Elkland, Pennsylvania and remained until 1944 and then Goldsboro received a new citizen.

"Eddie," as he is better known, began his Freshman year by being a representative to S. A. council and also the Freshman council. In Eddie's Sophomore year, he began to receive honors. He became a member of the Latin Club. His class placed the responsibility of Parliamentarian upon his shoulders. Eddie again this year was a representative to S. A. council and to the sophomore council. He also took a part in the Easter program. Eddie's junior year was just a beginning of his outstanding work in G.H.S. He became a Marshall, was voted into the Varsity Club and tapped into the National Honor Society. He also started his first year as football manager.

The Goldmasquers discovered "Eddie's" talent when he appeared in the Junior class play "The Willow and I." He made good in French and made the French Club. His senior year is here and he has already started it off with a bang and with time left we are sure he will do more outstanding work.

Eddie opened his Senior year with "Ramshackle Inn." When the North Carolina Student Association Congress met in Goldsboro, Eddie lead a panel discussion group. The National Honor Society goes through this year with him as their president. Not only is he president of NHS, but he is first vice-president of the French Club. Officers seem to be down Eddie's line this year because he is also Varsity Club treasurer. He has taken an active part in the Goldmasquers throughout his High School career and this year he is their house manager. The Community Service has a very prominent co-chairman—yes you guessed it. None other than Eddie. I suppose everyone likes football and Eddie truly did. He ended his last year of being manager of the Varsity team.

Food is one of Eddie's favorite and he has a special dish he likes. He says, "Just give me steak and French fries to eat and I'm satisfied and while I'm doing that I could look at Lee J. Cobb and Lucille Ball, my favorite actor and actress."

When Eddie graduates, he plans to study medicine or theology at Davidson. With what Eddie has shown

Ruth Forehand

Combing the qualities of dependability, service, capability, perseverance, determination, and patience is our girl honoree for this issue. She is Ruth Forehand, born in Goldsboro on September 9, 1932. Ruth began her freshman year by serving on the community service committee and as a class council representative. She also joined the F. H. A. and in her junior year was elected as county reporter for the organization. During the next two years she was a member of the board of elections.

Ruth really began doing outstanding work as the third year of her high school career got underway. Appearing in the junior play, "The Willow and I," was a great experience for her. When the journalis mclass attended the Scholastic Press Association convention in New York City, Ruth was right there among the eager students.

Being very much interested in journalism, Ruth has served the Hi News in many capacities. As a sophomore and junior, she was co-circulation manager and co-advertising manager, respectively. This year she heads the staff as editor-in-chief. She is a member of the Quill and Scroll Organization.

Always a willing worker, Ruth was a big help in preparation for the Jr.-Sr. Dance.

Ruth is now serving the S. A. as corresponding secretary. She also holds the office of 2nd vice president in the French Club, and is assistant chief marshal.

Recently she was tapped into the local chapter of the National Honor Society.

As a spectator, Ruth enjoys all sports, though basketball ranks first.

Barbecued chicken, steak, and lemon pie are a "must" on her menu and Robert Mitchum is her favorite movie star.

Ruth is undecided as to whether she will attend college but she hopes to go to Wake Forest and take up journalism.

We're sure she will excel in anything she chooses to do and will make herself worthy of the many honors that are sure to be hers.

us he can do we are sure he will succeed in his future life. We're all behind you and just keep up the good work. Here's luck to you!

Don't Get Snooty!

Goldsboro has a high school that can equal any in the state. The band is good, the football team made a good showing, the dramatics department has won outstanding recognition, and there are various other organizations just as fine. Indeed, a student attending G.H.S. has something to be proud of, but let's not let this develop into a superior air. Perhaps we do have a lot on our minds and just overlook the fact that there are others going through school besides us and we ought to be more friendly toward them. It doesn't leave us feeling too well to have someone give us the "brushoff" does it? Of course no one intends to be stuck-up, but frequently we just forget. From now on let's all strive to be just a little more sociable towards each other. Our school is fine, but what about the atmosphere? Are you doing your part or are you a snob?

Back Class Teams

It will soon be time for the homerooms to start playing basketball.

It takes the cooperation of the whole room to have a winning homeroom team!

The members of a team that attend practice regularly are discouraged when a few stay home and it causes the team to have to scratch up substitutes or else forfeit the game. They stand a chance of losing their schedule for the rest of the year.

Then there are some that have to play each game because there aren't enough interested people in their room so they can have extras.

So, come on, all of you! It's really a lot of fun.

Don't Forget Unfortunate

Have you ever seen a small child with his nose pressed against a store window gazing at the beautiful sights that will never be his? This child perhaps has never experienced a real Christmas.

There are many children in our city who have never been visited by Santa. If we, who think we should have so much more, would only see that we are celebrating Christmas in the wrong way. At the beginning of December pe start thinking about and perhaps hinting towards what we want given to us. Most of us are selfish at the time and forget that the Bible says: "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Usually an organization takes a family and gives it gifts. This helps many children to experience a happy Christmas. The empty stocking fund was created for this purpose.

If we as individuals, would take one child and think of many things to make him happy we would probably find ourselves the happiest ones on Christmas morning because we gave towards someone's happiness. Just as the wise men took gifts to Christ in honor of his birth, we could celebrate this great day in such a spiritual way also.

Make Use Of Holidays

Are you behind in your school work? Or perhaps in your outside activities?

If so then golden days are ahead for you. When? In the very near future. School will be out two full weeks for Christmas holidays. Of course no one wants to lug home books and study over a holiday, but surely in two weeks time things will slow down enough once in awhile to allow a few minutes every now and then in which you have nothing in particular to do.

That's when opportunity is knocking at your door. Say maybe half an hour on three or four separate days spent reading will finish up that next book report that usually is haphazardly thrown together in the late hours of the night before the deadline, or going over some of those theorems or formulas or valences and such won't take long when you have plenty of time.

It's not like trying to cram everything from five classes into a brain all at once. Spare time can be useful time. Take a few minutes out during vacation time to catch up on back work or maybe even to get ahead with something you know is coming soon after holidays are over. It won't hurt you a mite! And who knows, it might turn out to be a life-saver for you when a rush-time rolls around.
