

Local Teacher Will Attend An Educational Meet

Miss Betty Holbrook will attend the mid-century conference of the American Education Fellowship to be held in Philadelphia February 17-19.

Miss Holbrook has been asked to be a resource person and participate on a panel discussion, the topic being, "Stable Curriculum Development". The curriculum is her field of graduate study.

She has been asked to speak especially on the curriculum of G.H.S. since it is one of the outstanding high schools in the state.

Miss Holbrook also plans to attend the national meeting of the American Association of Secondary School Administrators in Atlantic City, N. J.

Methodist Minister Speaks In Assembly

The Reverend Woody Caviness of the St. Luke's Methodist Church in Edgewood, was the speaker at the S.A. devotional February 9, at activity period.

Mr. Caviness is a new minister around Goldsboro and this was his first visit to speak to the high school students. His theme was, "Speak, Lord, thy servant heareth". He brought out the story of Samuel and Eli to illustrate this passage.

Sally Edgerton and Carolyn Malpass were in charge of the devotional. Pat Marshall accompanied Billy Gibson on the piano as he sang "The Lord's Prayer".

SA Representatives Get Farewell Party

First semester homeroom representatives were given a farewell party at S.A. Council January 30.

Do-nuts and Cokes were served. Representatives were commended on their work. Several drives were sponsored and the S.A. Council made every effort to contribute to the success of the drive.

The three most outstanding drives were for the Symphony Orchestra, Tuberculosis and Polio.

Paint And Polish Brightens HE Room

(By Pearlina Ennis)

As I stopped by the home economics room on January 30, I was caught in the midst of paint, soap, rags, polish, and suds.

Miss Emily Teague and her four classes were giving the department an early spring cleaning.

All of the cabinets and tables were washed and arranged, floors scrubbed, sinks cleaned, furniture polished, and the partitions painted.

During fourth period the girls were busy trying to get the place finished by 2:30. Janice Newsome was pulling a mop about twice her size, Bonnie Coley and Joyce Britt were painting when Helen Ingram whirled by and ended up with a yellow and blue skirt instead of blue. All of the other girls were really busy and as I left I thought maybe that's what all of the rooms need.

Loss Of Interest Results In Music

(By Dawson Thompson)

It's not every basketball team that's fortunate enough to have music with their games.

At a recent gathering in the William Street school gym, just as the game was at a tense moment, a sound of feeble little music notes came floating from the corner of the building.

A victrola, maybe?
I should say not.

We have our own piano players even if they aren't famous and learned in their field. You wanna know what I'm talking about? O.K., We have one or two little boys who have lost interest in the game. Put them and the old piano there together and—mystery music!

This & That

By Sara Thompson

I suppose everybody is just about to go mad about the square dance. And if you aren't you just haven't gotten into the swing of things around G.H.S.

Mr. Dick Stamey, student teacher here from the University of North Carolina, has taught a small group of students some of the more difficult steps, and these students have been showing off their talents in various places around Goldsboro.

On Friday night, February 2, the group danced out at the American Legion Hut for a benefit dance that the American Legion was sponsoring. They were well received there. The people were really having a time. There were about three hundred people dancing (square dancing, that is) and they were having trouble calling figures and having people abide by them.

Guess we should tell you who is in the "square dancers group". Let's see . . . Mr. Stamey, Jewell Carr; Mr. Noah Wilson, Jo Ann Williams; "Red" Lewis, Betty Gainey; Bryan Rhodes, Mary Lou Roberts; Brooks Marriner, Rheta Bess Wood; Guy Roberts, Nancy Bridgers; James Carter, Sara Markham; Jimmy Longest, Ann McKenzie; Morris "Pin-Head" Holt, and yours truly.

This group also danced last Friday night at the square dance sponsored by the D.E. Club. By the way, was certainly glad this dance went over so well. Maybe George Blackman will have plenty of money with which to make the trip to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Remember, he's a national delegate to the National Convention of D.E. Clubs in America.

Pretty fancy social we had Saturday night, wasn't it? I think a good time was had by all. We want more. . . .

There'll certainly be plenty of candy around this week. We hope so, anyhow. Valentine Day coming up tomorrow and all these girls expecting candy, so let's don't disappoint them! You know how it is fellows! See 'ya.

Sociology Class Visits Hospital

Miss Betty Holbrook's third period sociology class visited the State Hospital Thursday, January 25.

Mr. B. C. Moss, psychologist at the hospital, conducted the group around the grounds.

They were shown patients suffering from various types of mental illnesses, including paranoid-schizophrenes, epileptics, the lowest form of feeble-mindedness. Practically every type of mental illness was shown to the class.

The group was impressed with the care given to the patients and the self-suffering of the hospital, and the courtesy shown them by the staff.

Seven Springs Has Fashion Show Here

The Seven Springs home economics students gave a fashion revue at G.H.S. on Tuesday, January 30, for the F.H.A. and home economics girls.

There were three groups which included the first, second and third year girls taking home economics.

The first year students modeled cotton skirts and blouses. The second group showed corduroy skirts while the third group modeled suits.

After the show the girls were entertained in the "Porthole" by F.H.A. officers. Cokes were served.
