

BOBBY MARTIN

Bobby Martin, GHS senior and vice president of the Student Association, has been awarded an Angier Duke scholarship to Duke University, according to announcement received here this week. Mela Royall placed as an alternate.

Martin is the third Goldsboro high school pupil to receive an Angier Duke scholarship in the three consecutive years.

Two years ago Ashton Griffin won one of the scholarships, while last year Harold Kadis won the scholarship.

Martin was one of 12 to enter the competition from this district this year. Of this number 11 went to the semi-finals and three to the finals. Jimmy Cavanaugh and Mela Royall were the other two students reaching the finals, and Mela was appointed an alternate in case some person drops out before entering the university.

From the whole state a total of nine people won from the various districts of the state—six boys and three girls.

Bobby, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Martin, in addition to being SA president, has been very active throughout his high school career. He was president of his class during his sophomore year, has played two years of varsity football, is a member of the Varsity club and an officer this year.

He has been active in the Gold-masquers appearing in a great number of plays and last year was awarded the "Best Actor" award of the North Carolina drama festival. He will be remembered for his portrayal of Mr. Manningham in Patrick Hamilton's "Angel Street".

He is also a member of the National Honor society and French club, chairman of the Assembly committee, and served on the Gohisca staff this year.

Seniors Debate Gift To Leave For The School

A water-cooler, a piano, and a public address system for the gym are among the suggestions offered for a senior gift to the school. These along with a plea for other ideas were presented to the senior class at its latest meeting but no definite action was taken.

It was announced that a five dollar fee for caps, gowns and diplomas had to be paid by each senior by March 14 and that one dollar had to be paid for the annual by the 21st.

Ann Marlow presented a short devotion at the beginning of the meeting. William Ginn, president, presided.

Boys See Movies On Armed Forces

At recent assemblies the boys of GHS saw movies on the armed forces.

It was not the purpose of these movies to try to get anyone interested in any one branch of the armed services, but to try to acquaint the boys with the problems that they will be faced with when they go into the service.

Some of the problems discussed in the series of 14 movies were "Getting Ready Morally," "Getting Ready Physically," and "Getting Ready Emotionally." The boys saw only eight of this series.

SA President Extends Thanks

By Billy Gibson

To the many fine people who helped make our Career Day possible, the executive board and I wish to express our many thanks for the great co-operation you gave us. Had you not followed the schedule and done as you were told, our Career Day would have been a failure and possibly our privilege of having such a day would have been deprived for later years.

We sincerely hope that everyone gained something from the college and vocational classes and will be able to benefit from them at some time or another.

Again I would like to express my gratitude to all those who helped make what we believe was a "Successful Career Day."

First Time Paper Receives Highest Rating Awarded

For the first time in its twenty-five years of publication, the Goldsboro Hi News last week was given the Medalist rating by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association in its 28th annual session at Columbia University in New York City.

This is the highest rating that a school publication can receive.

All American Too

Last spring the Hi News received an "All American" rating from the National Scholastic Press Association, which is sponsored by the University of Minnesota. This was the first "All American" the paper had ever received.

Eugene L. Roberts, teacher of journalism in GHS, and fourteen students representing the staffs of the Hi News and the yearbook, the Gohisca, were in New York and thus got the announcement before it was released to the press.

15 Make Trip

Students making the trip, from which they returned Sunday after having been in New York since Wednesday of last week, were: Sybil Batson, Emily Warrick, Faye Daniels, Nell Scott, Susan McLamb, Ann Marlowe, Rheta Bess Wood, Bud Ellis, Morris Conekin, Bobby Kadis, Morris Holt, Robert Bedford, Al Ward and D. C. Daughtry.

Instructor Roberts stated that he and the journalism students are naturally happy over the high rating which the paper received and they appreciate the efforts of all who helped to make this ranking possible. They especially wish to thank Mr. Henry Belk, editor of the Goldsboro News-Argus, and Mrs. Eleanor Powell, who carried on the work while Mr. Roberts underwent a major operation last fall, and Mr. Elmer Brock of the Mount Olive Tribune who has co-operated to the fullest extent in the printing of the paper so as to enable the staff to meet the requirements of the press associations.

Many Papers Rated

About 1,300 newspapers and 800 yearbooks published by elementary, junior high and senior high schools and junior and teachers colleges were entered in the contest. Competition was group according to the method of publication, type of publication, type of school and size of school.

The ratings given were: Medalist, highest, first place, second place, third place and fourth place.

Students Are Urged Carry Paper Home

When the Hi News is delivered to you what do you do with it?

Do you take one look at it to see if your name is in it anywhere and then throw it away or do you take it home, read it thoroughly, and let your parents read it also?

There is a lot of work put on the Hi News and a large amount of money spent to publish it for you. A few students throw their papers away, they dispose of them by throwing them down in the halls or on the nearest table or chair. Most students, however, read the paper and then take it home for their parents to read or to keep. What do you do?

Parents enjoy reading the Hi News just as much as the students. They like to know what goes on at the school. The assemblies we attend, the games played and thoughts expressed by students, give them an idea of how we feel about our activities.

After you receive your Hi News don't throw it away. Read it thoroughly, then take it home, see if your parents don't enjoy reading it too.
