

Hanger Unlocks Car Door

Keys In Car; Boys At Fair

Fair week! That meant plenty of excitement for one week. There are very few people who don't like the noise and crowd of the carnival or circus. To every fair-goer something will happen to cause that night to stick in his mind. So it was for three Rocky Mount high school boys.

It all began when the decision of Fred "Tilt" Lee, Donald Bryan, and Sonny Hallford to take in the fair on a Tuesday night. After parking near Kitty Friar's house, they were on their way. Out there were plenty of their friends who were also trying to have some fun.

When the wind started blowing harder, flashes of lightning appeared and the drizzling rain started falling, they decided it was time to head back to the car. Upon reaching the gate, Donald put his hand in his pocket for the key. To Donald's amazement there was no key in the pocket and as a matter of fact, no key could be found. Where was that car key? Of course, just where it should be—in the car! But the trouble was they were on the outside and the key was on the inside.

Advice Doesn't Work

The rain started coming down harder until it was a regular down pour. They were getting wetter and wetter. They started running for the car, hoping that maybe Donald had left a door unlocked. No such luck! So they had to take refuge with other "wet snails" on Kitty's porch. Betty Lou Davis, Ann Page, Peggy Deitzel, Thelma Lancaster, Worth Hobbs, and Tommy Avert were all giving advice. None of it worked! ! !

Coat Hanger Does the Trick

It began to look as if they were going to have to spend the night standing out in the rain. By this time they were drenched to the skin. Fred's white bucks had been splashed with mud when Sonny stepped in a mud puddle. Then came Bobby Wilkins to the rescue. Finally by "brute force" they got the windows on each side down a little. They got a coat hanger from Kitty's mother and tried to pull up the handle. Wilkins had to leave, so it was up to the three boys. Donald went back to the fair grounds to see if he could find someone to help. Fred took the coat hanger in hand and tried his luck. He couldn't get the handle to come up either. Then upon trying to get the door knob up, luck was with him for up popped the knob. Fred and Sonny hopped in the car and took off—ready to leave Donald where he was, but upon circling the block they met Donald and in he got, wet but greatly relieved.

Back To The Fair

How could anyone be so stupid as to leave his keys locked in the car, they thought now, that they were back in the car. With those wet clothes on they began to get colder, for it had turned chilly after the storm. But would they give up? No! They rode around and later got something to eat at the Dairy Bar. When they got through eating, where did they go? Of course, it was back to the fair for them, for wasn't the night still young? But were they ! ! ! !

modern English Bible. During the next five months, he read the New Testament with the aid of a Bulgarian-English dictionary. Every time he came upon a word he did not know he wrote it down. At the end of the five months he had five hundred pages of notes and had completely mastered the English language.

Rev. Litov says, "When a person dreams in a foreign language, he knows it perfectly."

Open House To Be Held

Mr. W. P. James, assistant fire chief, spoke at assembly last Friday. He extended an invitation to the student body from the Fire department to attend the open house Wednesday and Thursday nights at the No. 1 station on Main street. A $25 war bond will be given to the person whose estimate comes closest to the fire loss of Rocky Mount in 1948, 1949 and 1950.

SO Gets Ready

The duty of the Lost and Found Committee is to take charge of lost articles and to attempt to return them to their owners.

Publicity Committee publicizes the work of the Student Organization locally and in any outside manner seemed possible and advisable.

The Junior Red Cross is a division of the American Red Cross and its purpose is to provide opportunities for boys and girls to serve others.

Elections By Secret Ballot

It is the duty of the Election Committee to handle by secret ballot all Student Organization elections held in the school. In case of homeroom or class elections the election committee may authorize homeroom or class members to tabulate votes.

BARBARA and BOBBITT

It seems that football is the main topic for most people these days! That score for the Goldsboro game was wonderful 12-7, although it took us a little while to warm up our boys they soon got in there and really worked hard. A big crowd was at Goldsboro for the game with practically all the Frosh really yelling. The loudest voices that we could hear were Ken Brinson, Billy Spencer, and Bobby Daughtridge, plus Dott Russell Margaret Diehl, and Mary Wilson Richardson led by Shelia Robbins, Betty Ann Powell and Mary Avera. May be it was all this crowd of school spirited students that helped the Birds go over 'the line' twice.

During the Goldsboro weekend Weaver Wrenn visited his mother in Reidsville.

George Newby was visited by Elva Griffin during the weekend of the twenty-first at the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond. Several of last year's graduates went to see George that weekend too.

Greenville has welcomed four of our students in the past few days. Mary Wilkinson, Elise Williams and Gordon Waters went to a church meeting October first and Emily Baker went with her mother for the Teacher's Meeting.

With the Wilmington Game over and the Fayetteville game coming up your two pals Barbara and Bobbitt will sign off until they gather some more news! ! !

(Come on, students, give us some news for this column—then we will not be accused of putting in the same names every time. How about it? ? ? ?)
