

Finding Fun In Work!

Right Picture — "My Fair Lady" is here in Rocky Mount! All one has to do to verify this is slip into the band room and he'll hear the strains of "Rain in Spain". Shown here are Mr. James Roberts, director, helping Gene Eason with a solo part in this contest entry.

Retiring Club Officers Assist Electees Get On 'Right Foot'

New club officers begin with slight confusion as the various organizations start the second semester; however, past officers help these beginners "of on the right foot" as other projects get under way.

"Romeo, Romeo, wherefore art thou?" rings out as Dramatics Club president Dale Stevens is called by vice president, Margaret Carmichael.

Money Makes Problems
"We are fifty cents short," breaks in treasurer Gale Koonce, "and all because Ann McCarver, our secretary, fails to pay her dues." Down the hall comes the swift sound of no one but poor little Mrs. Ada Hobbs, club adviser, running (well, almost running.) Have you ever known her to walk?

As I hurry down the hall I hear the voice of Stanley Vaughan, president of the Service Club.

"Nancy Coggins, you are vice-president; must you sit back there and talk to Celia Brake, corresponding secretary? When reading the minutes, (speaking to Regina Harles), one does not chew gum."

"As I said before, we have no money," comes from the middle of the group, from no other than David Williams as Sammy Meyer races fiercely to get the devotion.

Good Sports Seem Puzzled
Onward down the hall 'til I hear, "You as Good Sports members are responsible for selling these ribbons. Now Mrs. Cuthrell will kill us," comes from Sonya Hooker, the re-elected president says, who for once in history is paying attention.

Dig Those Crazy Pictures
"Parlez-vous francais?" asks Miss Dorothy Craighill hopefully. She will never learn that her club just doesn't "comprendre" French or even "dig those crazy pictures".

"Miss Craighill, I just don't understand," says president Vicki Taylor; "I just don't understand."

"That's all right," comes from vice-president Mac Hines, never fear, just say (ouey) and 'mercy

"You don't pronounce it (ouey)," corrects Miss Brains herself, secretary Bonnie Murchison, "It's ou (wee), isn't it Betsy?"

"Yep, yep. Whatever you say is absolutely right," gasps Betsy Alexander, treasurer, as she counts her $1.57 in the treasury to be sure she is right.

Monogram Club — Really!!
From down the hall comes "Kick that ball over the basket! Hot dog, a homerun!"

"But, Al, I told you in football you do not have homeruns," stated Mr. Bill Lundy in a quite manner to innocent looking Al Wordsworth, president of the Monogram Club.

A small giggle leaks from a corner of the room. They are at it again! Buzzy Tilley, vice president, and Alton Oakely, treasurer, appear to be getting a "large charge" out of seeing Larry Ward take minutes. Minutes! Minutes?

"Well, Miss, and what do you think you are doing?" comes from the person behind me. It was, yes, the chief president of all, Mr. C. M. Edson, principal.

I am now picking up paper on the school grounds each afternoon between the hours of 3:15 and 5:00. (This is really not true, but the new officers names are correct).

From Antiques

Band, Shop Students 'On Their Toes' Modern Music

Refinishing antiques in addition to regular work and preparing for special solo parts in a musical contest entry keep the vocational shop and band students on their toes.

Shop life is always busy with making and repairing furniture in the wood department and mending mechanical parts in the machine section. Recently the boys have been refinishing an antique bed belonging to Mr. Chris Carpenter and welding a television antenna, using information and skills learned in the course.

Not only do these boys work together but most of them have "pet" projects of their own, such as one boy's making a chest for his sister to put her toys in and another's refinishing a mahogany table.

Teacher Works Too
Mr. Neal Adkins, instructor, interested in everything the boys do, has his own little projects and works along with his students. Most any day you can go in the shop and see Charles Neville, Carlton Harlow and Buddy Moore at one of the machines.

This year has already been a busy one for the school band. During football season they played for every home game and also at the game in Wilson. They participated in parades at Greenville and Nashville as well as at home, and also appeared at the Harvest Festival and the East Carolina Homecoming activities.

Six Picked for All-State Band
Last week six students were chosen to play in the All-State Band in Greenville. They are Margaret Sutton, Gale Koonce, Milard Howard, Bobby Collins, Eddie Tyler and Katy Tyner.

Gene Eason, senior band member, received help from Mr. James Roberts, director, after school on the baritone part to "My Fair Lady," one of the band's contest numbers. Gene has been a valuable member of the band for several years.

RUMPUS ROOM FAR AWAY.
When it comes to getting a recreation center or "rumpus room" away from the drudgery of school life, we are in the same boat with the students of Central High in Charlotte. It appears that neither school is getting far or going too fast toward its goal.

MUSIC, MUSIC, MUSIC.
Greensboro Senior High has a new dance band group, "THE SOUTHERN GENTLEMEN", while Senior High has a new vocal group, "THE SENIORS." In the group are Tommy Whitley, Jeff Griffin, Bobby Fisher, Henry Hinson with Judy Brown as accompanist on piano and Henry Sanders on drums.

Judges, Rockets, Music Make Interesting Exchange Column

by Kay Beach

Beauty judges, rockets, school life, and music makers from Minneapolis to Hickory make this month's Exchange Column interesting and different.

DEEP DARK SECRET. Students of Hickory High have selected Pat Boone their favorite male movie personality and asked him to judge their beauty contest. As for the judge of our own beauty race, the journalism class is keeping it a deep, dark secret until they are sure the "mystery person" will accept the responsibility.

SUPERMAN. Guys at Central High, Minneapolis, as reported by THE CENTRAL HIGH NEWS, are really keeping up with the times, planning a rocket all their own. Well, not quite all their own since they are working with the American Rocket Society. We hear Rocky Mount High has a scientist (Eddie Wilhalf) working on a secret project too. (Eddie, let us know how it turns out before the launching.)
