John Daughtridge New Kiwanis Boy

As the chilly winds of March continue to blow, we find John H. Daughtridge selected as the Kiwanis Boy for the month of March.

John is not only studious and industrious, but has continued to be active in various activities during his school years at Senior High.

In his sophomore year, John was a representative of the Student Organization and held several offices in his homeroom. During his junior year he was elected vice-president of his class. To show his ability to help others and the school, John selected the S. O. S. Club. Along with these activities, John was a member of the Student Lounge Committee for the Student Organization. Also in his junior year, John was tapped into the National Honor Society and later became vice-president of the National Honor Society. Now as a senior he was selected one of the twelve outstanding seniors.

When John was asked about the solving of his problems he is concerned with at the present, he said, "No problem is too great for man. Through continual effort, sufficient time, and by the will of God, all problems may be solved."

TV Commercials Give Life For Ollidrid Pessenheimers

By Carlton Edwards

Mr. and Mrs. Ollidrid Pessenheimer have just awakened by the alarm clock in the bathroom we find Mr. Pessenheimer brushing three times; first with a toothpaste for people who can't brush after every meal, then with the paste for those who have dentures, and finally with the toothpaste that gives you a protective shield. He shaves twice; first with the razor with controlled shaving, then he shaves to get that hidden beard. Ollidrid is a two-dab man and he better watch out or all the girls will pursue him.

"Aw-Choo." Mrs. Pessenheimer reaches for the tissue that pops up every time. "Aw-choo." Now she reaches for the tissues that holds even when wet.

Breakfast is almost ready. On the table we find an instant breakfast drink and a glass of grade A pasteurized homogenized vitamin D milk.

Both are seated now and Ollidrid says, "Dear, pass me the jar with the stars on top."

"O. K., just as soon as I take this pill, you know 9 out of 10 doctors prescribe it for head colds and misery distress. Oh, by simuses, Ollidrid hand me my nasel-graph."

"Darling, how is it you still have high-school girl hands?"

"Well, Ollie, every morning I wash my hands with a 99 44-100 percent pure soap, then with a soap containing cold cream, then with a hand soap. After that I soak my hands in a cleaner that gets rid of dirt and grease and grime in just a minute. You know, its mildness you can see on your hands."

"Oh, Marcia, I'm so glad I married you. My father used to tell me, 'It's the ham that makes the difference.'" ried you. My father used to tell me, 'It's the ham that makes the difference.'"

Wearisome Effects Of Early Morning

Late in the morning, drag myself up,
Rush to the kitchen for coffee, about half a cup;
Quickly put on my pants,
As mom tells me my cans and can'ts.

Rush outdoors, oh! what a terrible day!

Like to go back in and hit the hay;
Hear the bell as I round the bend,
Oh, no, I'm late again!

Being in class gives me an ache in the head,

When test day rolls around,
To fail I'm bound.

Get home late,
You should see the cold 'tatos I ate;

Get to bed 'bout one,
You guess it, my homework ain't done.

Question And Answer

Q — Which genus of insects is the most numerous?

A — There are more beetles in the world than any other kind of insect. Over a quarter of a million beetle species have been described, and new ones are still coming to notice.

Q — Why do we say that some one cuts a caper if he does some peculiar act?

A — A caper is a corruption of the Italian word 'capra' for goat. "Caper" thus reflects a goat's awkward scampering and jumping.
