

Journalism Students Journey To Columbia Press Meeting

A group of nine journalism students and their advisor journeyed to New York for the annual meeting of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association held at Columbia University, March 15-17.

Thursday after checking into the Piccadilly Hotel the group spent the morning touring Rockefeller Center. In the afternoon they took a ferry boat around the Statue of Liberty. Friday they enjoyed a tour of the United Nations building and were privileged to hear Adlai Stevenson during a meeting of the Security Council. During the afternoon they attended several meetings on various topics of journalism at Columbia University.

Saturday morning was spent shopping. They all attended the luncheon and meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria where they received many tips on journalism from Mr. Edward R. Murrow. One of the highlights of the trip was when they learned that "The Blackbird" had received first place.

Sunday everyone attended the Marble Collegiate Church and gained much by hearing the Rev. Norman Vincent Peale. Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights the group saw the following plays: "Camelot," "The Gift of Time," and "Shot in the Dark."

Those taking the trip were Judi Felton, Dell Harris, Lee Cuthrell, Nancy Helms, Katrina Kobylarz, Stephanie Matthews, Marilyn Spencer, David Lamm, Jon Wiggs and Mrs. Williams.

Seniors To Write Will And Prophecy

Nancy Caddell and Brenda Ezzelle have been selected to write the "Last Will and Testament" and "Prophecy" for the Senior Class of '62.

They will choose their own committees to help them. In the "Last Will and Testament," Seniors give their last gifts to the school. Seniors often leave "old corridor passes" or "failing test grades" to their underclassmen.

Brenda Ezzelle, writing the prophecy will tell what the Seniors will become later in life.

Nancy and Brenda face a job of hard work. They will read the "Will" and "Prophecy" at the Senior Dinner. Mrs. Thelma Lundy said, "We are lucky to have two girls who will give their time and effort to make Senior Day a great success."

Seniors Restricted On "Senior Day" By Spring Exams

Due to the fact that the underclassmen will be taking Spring semester exams, the Seniors will not be allowed to come to Senior High and "teach school" or make underclassmen "wait on Seniors" as done in years before on "Senior Day."

Spring semester exams were not planned to fall on Senior Day but because of snow during the winter, and make-up days, the exams were moved back a week. Those Seniors who are in classes in which most members are juniors or sophomores will have to come to take exams on Senior Day.

However, a Senior Breakfast will be held and later Seniors will attend Vesper Services and a dance.

Local Student Wins Homemaker Test

Jeanne Bryant, former student of Williamston High School, has won "The Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Contest."

Because she was among some 20,000 district winners, who will soon compete for honors on a state level, Jeanne received a pin in recognition of her achievement.

Winners of the state contest will compete for the title of "American Homemaker of Tomorrow." The contest will be based on a $1,500.00 scholarship as first prize. Second and third prizes are also offered.

Jeanne has taken three years of home economics. This year her teacher was Miss Josephine Grant, who is head of the Home Economics Department.

Jeanne is also a member of the National Honor Society and was recently selected as a member of the Black Masquers. She has proved to be an outstanding student, and the school wishes her luck in her next contest.

Black Masquers Add Members; Also Plan Semester Projects

Eight Seniors have recently been selected to become members of the honorary dramatics society, the Black Masquers.

The Seniors are Jimmy Harper, David Chesson, Prudy Eatman, Jeanne Bryant and Rena Ruark, all who had leading roles in "Ask Any Girl." Others who have done outstanding work beyond the call of duty are Sylvia Hutto, Gene Joyner, and Olivier Hammel who is an honorary member and is playing the leading role in the upcoming play "Fair Exchange".

The Black Masquers now include thirty members. They have their meetings in the Green Room on every third Tuesday. They usually one in ~~two~~ projects a year; Christmas carols when they sell the Spring when they ~~another~~ in the selling candy.

Only present Seniors are eligible to be taken in during the year. Juniors will be taken at the end of the year. Anyone desiring to be a member should strive to work hard so as to be eligible when the time arrives.

In the past the Black Masquers have served in many ways to groups performing at Senior High. They have served as ushers and have given out programs, and also worked behind stage to see that the lighting and various other things are in working order.

Mrs. Ada Hobbs serves as advisor and director to the organization.

Teachers Journey To NCEA Meeting On March 15, 16, 17

Four Senior High School teachers attended the 78th Annual Convention of the North Carolina Education in Raleigh on March 15, 16, and 17.

Miss Louise Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Holton Harrison, and Mr. Charles Fountain were the teachers representing Senior High at the convention of the statewide organization.

All the activities were held on the campus of North Carolina State College and the general sessions were held in William Neal Reynolds Colosseum.

At the general sessions matters concerning all teachers were discussed, including reports about the work of the association during the past year.

Divisional meetings were held each day. Teachers went to the meetings of their choice where business was discussed and guests spoke to them. Incorporating every phase of school activity, divisional meetings were conducted for principals, future teachers, superintendents, audio-visual education, art, Bible, business education, English, several foreign languages, guidance services, home economics, recreation, industrial arts, music, mathematics, retired teacher, librarians, science and social studies.
